BIG VICTORY FOR STEEL.

Court Rules Capital May Combine.

Billion-dollar Corporation is Sustained in Sweeping Federal Decision.

Government's Dissolution Suit Falls Flat, but an Appeal will be Made.

News Comes as Stunning Blow to "Trust Busters" in Washington.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TRENTON (N. J.), June 3.—The United States District Court for New Jersey handed down today a unanimous decision refusing the petition of the Federal government to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation.

In against the government the court refused to dissolve the corporation, holding that in acquiring its foreign and home trade the concern did not violate the Anti-trust Act, and refused all the injunctions prayed for by the Department of Justice.

In against the Steel Corporation, the court held that the committee meetings participated in by 95 per cent. of the steel trade of the country, including the steel corporation, subsequent to the famous Gary dinners of eight or nine years ago, were unlawful combinations to control prices; but, as these meetings had stopped before the government filed its complaint in October, 1911, the judges held that there was no occasion for an injunction.

The opinion of the court suggests that such practices lie within the province of the new Federal Trade Commission, but adds that if their repetition is apprehended the court will, on motion of the government, retain jurisdiction of the case for that particular purpose.

KEYNOTE OF DECISION.

A synopsis of the decision of the senior judge, Joseph Buffington, prepared by direction of the court, states that the keynote of the entire opinion is that "this case, a proceeding under the Sherman anti-trust law, is largely one of business facts.

In another part of the opinion the court states that "the real test of monopoly is not the size of that which is acquired, but the trade power of that which is not acquired."

"If mere size were the test of monopoly and trade restraint," the court further on said, "we have not one, but half a dozen unlawful monopolies in the large department stores of a single city."

The court found nothing wrong in

WAR SERVICE FOR WOMEN.

Mrs. Pankhurst Would Make it Compulsory Through the United Kingdom.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 3.—There was adopted at a mass meeting held in London this afternoon under the chairmanship of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst a resolution reading: "That we men and women here assembled ask the government to establish obligatory war service for both men and women." Mrs. Pankhurst declared that at least half a million German women were engaged in making munitions of war, and she urged all British men and women to register themselves at government agencies for such service as they were fitted to perform.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

Talk of an early ending of the war in Europe has been revived as a result of the conference between President Wilson and the German Ambassador, But the war itself goes on. At the same time, however, the prospect of a break between the United States and Germany grows dimmer. The recapture of Przemysl by the Germanic allies is the outstanding feature of the war news. The Italians are doing little or nothing. The rain is interfering with their operations.

A Washington dispatch intimates that Mr. Wilson has picked a man for President of Mexico. He is Vasquez Tagle, and is said to be entitled to the office in succession of others who have gone before, by virtue of the Cabinet office he held under Madero.

CARRANZA DEFIANT.

But Villa May be Tractable!

Southern Chief Hopes for Recognition by American Authorities.

Grave Doubts that Northern Commander will Agree to Eliminate Himself.

War Department Co-operating with the Red Cross in Relief Work.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 3.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, in control of Vera Cruz, today defied the United States through his representative in Washington and announced that he intended to continue his independent campaign regardless of President Wilson's demand that the Mexican factions get together.

Following the announcement from the Carranza camp came the assertion from Villa that he was willing to do anything in his power to bring about peace in Mexico, but it is doubtful that he will admit his own elimination is necessary as part of the solution. From the standpoint of the administration here the next move must come from Mexico.

A reasonable time will be given the factional leaders to give heed to the President's demand that they get together or make way for a "man or group of men" capable of restoring peace and an orderly government. What may be the limit of the reasonable wait officials are not able to predict with any degree of accuracy. It is not thought, however, that the President will wait long.

Failing to obtain what he wants from the factional leaders, it is believed the President will promptly make the next move in his programme and accord at least informal recognition and "active moral aid" to a dark horse leader, or group of leaders, who will be expected, with the possible assistance of an embargo on arms shipments to any other faction, to restore order.

In view of what is regarded as the certainty that the President will have to look to men other than those now prominent in the civil strife it is believed that already he has in mind the "man, or group of men" who will save Mexico.

A tentative solution of the Mexican problem brought to the attention of President Wilson was that the Mexican factions should be urged to recognise the succession of Vasquez Tagle, Minister of Justice in Madero's Cabinet, as President of Mexico. This, the President has been told, is the only logical way to restore constructional order in Mexico and to proceed logically toward re-establishing the government, which has had no legal status since Madero's assassination.

The Mexican constitution provides for the accession of Cabinet Ministers on the death of a President. When Madero was assassinated Pedro Lascurain was Minister of Foreign Relations, Rafael Hernandez was Minister of the Interior, Ernesto Madero was Minister of Finance and Vasquez Tagle was Minister of Justice.

All these ministers resigned except Tagle. He went into retirement in Mexico City, and has since, the President was told, kept out of Mexican politics. Under the constitution Tagle rightfully succeeded to the Presidency when Madero and Vice-President Pino Suarez were killed and the three Cabinet ministers who outranked him resigned.

RELIEF WORK STARTED.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—While the government awaited today the effect of President Wilson's warning to contending factions of Mexico, the American Red Cross, aided by the State and War departments, carried comprehensive plans for relieving hungry noncombatants in the famine-stricken republic.

Orders were issued to consular officers along the border to co-operate in assembling and moving food supplies, and similar instructions will be given the frontier military posts. Brig.-Gen. Devol, general manager of the Red Cross, conferred with War Department officials preparatory to leaving for Texas in the next day or two to supervise the movement of supplies into Mexico.

Meanwhile Miss Mabel T. Boardman, chairman of the Relief Committee, undertook arrangements to organize special committees in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other cities to collect and forward supplies purchased or contributed. Tomorrow all of the plans will be placed before the Red Cross Executive Committee.

Secretary Bryan announced during the day that the Brazilian Minister at Mexico City was arranging for a train to carry 150 Americans to Vera Cruz, where they may embark for the United States.

The statement by the Villa agency here last night indicating Villa might be expected to co-operate in an effort to bring an agreement was followed today by one from the Carranza representative asserting that Carranza now controlled most of Mexico, would occupy the capital within a week and there set up a provisional civil admin-

FISKE BEARDS DANIELS; TELLS NEEDS OF NAVY.

Rear-Admiral Says if He Fears to Spoil His Individual Career by Telling the Truth He Would be Unworthy of His Uniform as Effectually as if He Deserted Flag in Time of War.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) June 3.—Rear-Admiral Fiske, who attracted widespread attention by his statements to the House Naval Committee on the lack of adequate naval equipment, and who later retired from the office of aide for operations in the Navy Department, spoke at length tonight at the Naval Academy alumni dinner of the needs of the navy and the necessity of making laymen realize them, and added:

"If we fear to do this, lest we incur displeasure and spoil our individual careers, we are unworthy of the uniform we wear, and we fail our country in her hour of need, just as effectually as if we deserted her flag in war."

Admiral Fiske frequently was interrupted by applause.

Secretary Daniels was the first speaker, responding to the toasts of "The President." He included President Wilson among three Presidents who stand highest in "the divine quality of patience, joined with firmness." The other two were Lincoln and McKinley.

"Confidence in our Commander-in-chief is nowhere given so fully and freely as by the men in the service, for we have tested his cordial and earnest sympathy and support every day since he entered the White House."

It was the first alumni banquet at which no liquors were served.

Secretary Daniels would make no comment on Admiral Fiske's address after the banquet.

Admiral Fiske spoke at length, in part as follows:

"With the example of the navy of the past to guide us, let us go where that example beckons; seeing with whatever clearness God may grant us the thing we ought to do; holding honor, patriotism and duty before us as the shining stars of our endeavor; loyal to the cause we live for, faithful to our trust, untempted by the lure of place or power; to the end that we may worthily carry our flag upon the sea, and securely guard our shores.

"Let us estimate the situation briefly, and consider first what kind of attack we should have to guard against. Evidently an attack by one of the great naval powers is the only kind we need consider. What would be the character of the attacking force? Clearly, the attacking force would be as great as the attacking power could spare, in order to insure its success and minimize its losses. This means that he attacking force would include battle cruisers, dreadnaughts, predreadnaughts, scouts, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, mine depot ships, mine layers, mine sweepers, airships and aeroplanes, all fully manned and all strategically directed by a general staff.

"What have we with which to oppose this force? A smaller number of dreadnaughts, predreadnaughts and destroyers than the enemy would bring; no battle cruisers, no effective scouts, one airship recently contracted for, only three good aeroplanes not yet ready, an embryonic aeronautical service; two mine depot ships, one mine layer and twelve mine sweepers; also about forty-five submarines, of all kinds and ages, distributed over the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, Panama, Hawaii and the Philippines, none of which has ever attempted feats like those so effectively performed in foreign navies now, and an inadequate merchant marine from which to get auxiliaries. To man even this insufficient material we have an enlisted personnel insufficient even in time of peace, and no trained reserves, and no general staff or similar agency to direct the whole.

"This means that, reasoning on the assumption that the United States desires the navy shall be able to guard our coast effectively against the only kind of attack that would be made, the navy must obtain several types of vessels and instruments that we do not now possess (or possess in only insufficient measure;) must learn to use them, both as units and as members of one great unit, with a skill at least equal to that with which foreign navies already use them; must enlist and efficiently train as large a force of enlisted men, active and reserve, as our probable enemy would send; and must develop a general staff or some similar agency, as skillful and experienced as theirs.

"We, as naval officers, realize all this; but this will accomplish nothing unless we make the laymen realize it too."

FAVORS KEEPING LAND NOW HELD.

AMSTERDAM (via London) June 3.—Resolutions adopted unanimously by a committee of members of the national Liberal party of Germany, at a meeting held in Berlin, as reported by the Cologne Gazette, state that of the territory Germany now holds in the west, she retain what is necessary to strengthen the security of the empire by land and sea.

This territory, the resolutions say, should be annexed, "politically, militarily and economically."

In the east, according to the resolutions, such territory should be held as would not only improve Germany's position strategically, but would offer new territory for colonization.

OVERTURES TO WILSON MADE BY BERNSTORFF.

Special Agent of the Ambassador Obtains a Safe Conduct from the Allies to Rush to Berlin with Personal Reports from the German Embassy — The President at Work on His Rejoinder to Kaiser's Reply.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 3.—Germany is endeavoring to use the Lusitania tragedy as a means to establish European peace.

This fact leaked out in high official and diplomatic circles today. There is reason to believe that it was suggested by Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, in his conference with the President at the White House yesterday.

It also was regarded as significant that Oscar Straus, former Secretary of Commerce, former Ambassador and member of The Hague Peace Tribunal, appeared in Washington today. He saw the German Ambassador and subsequently Secretary Bryan. With them he canvassed the situation and the possibility that something might be done to end the war without much further delay.

THE PROPOSALS.

The German proposals are:
Freedom of the seas.
Evacuation of Belgium and Northern France.
Creation of the Kingdom of Poland.
African and other colonies for Germany.

Those proposals have been put forward time and time again by the German government. They have met with a frigid reception in the capitals of the allies. They hardly would consider them at the present moment when Italy has entered the war and an agreement has been made by Rumania and Bulgaria whereby these two nations may also join the allied cause.

So it is difficult to see what basis there is even for the hope that from the Lusitania negotiations peace will come. Nevertheless, the facts are given because they make up a part of the history of the war.

If the Lusitania tragedy could be turned into a means for peace, the victims of that terrible event would not have died in vain. It is this aspect of the matter which has caused the administration to regard with some favor the suggestion of the German Ambassador to utilize the negotiations for the purpose of securing a settlement of the world war. In the meantime, however, the President will not relinquish his efforts to obtain satisfaction for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania and the adoption of measures by Germany to prevent a repetition of the outrage.

STAGE OF DISCUSSION.

It is becoming apparent, however, that the matter has drifted into the stage of discussion. The President denied himself to all callers today, while he was preparing the Answer to the German communication. This document will be considered by the Cabinet at the session to be held tomorrow.

The President will reveal then to his chief aids the character of the proposals made by Count von Bernstorff and it will be decided whether to send a note immediately, or await the reply of Berlin to the message sent by th eAmbassador as a result of the White House conference.

The administration is considering two aspects of this point. On the one hand it feels it must determine whether public opinion will require immediate response to the German note or if public opinion will wait upon the results of the conversation between the President and Count von Bernstorff.

SPECIAL AGENT.

Again it developed today that because of what he feels is lack of information in Berlin, the Ambassador deemed it necessary to send a special agent to Germany. It is believed here, based upon advices from New York, that he made such a suggestion to the President and that the latter thought it would be a good plan. This agent would be able to carry dispatches from the Ambassador. In addition he would be in a position to advise the German government of the tense state of public opinion over the Lusitania tragedy and the insistent pressure upon the President to require the acceptance of his demands, especially in relation to the cessation of submarine warfare against unarmed mercantile craft.

This agent will start immediately and should be in Berlin within two

PRZEMYSL RECAPTURED; RUSSIANS IN RETREAT.

Campaign of the German Allies North of the Stry is Progressing — Austrians Push on and Now Command the Railroad to Lemberg, Where the Next Great Battle is Expected to Occur.

VIENNA (via London) June 3.—The following official communication was issued today:

"In the Russian war theater the German troops last night stormed the last positions on the north front of Przemysl and entered the city at 3:30 o'clock this morning from the north.

"Our Tenth Corps entered the town from the west and south and reached the center of the town soon after 6 o'clock.

"The importance of this success cannot yet be estimated.

"The attack of the allied troops in the section north of Stry is progressing successfully.

"Italian war theater: The Italians have prosecuted an unsuccessful bombardment of our fortifications at several points on the Tyrolean and Carinthian frontiers."

THE LONDON REVIEW.

LONDON, June 3.—With the capture of Przemysl, which occurred at an early hour this morning, the Austro-German armies achieved the main object of the great thrust which they commenced against the Russian lines in Western Galicia just a month ago today.

They have yet to drive the Russians further back and establish themselves in easily defended positions which will enable them to detach forces for operations against Italy and the allies in the west.

Whether or not they accomplish this, the Teutonic allies have won a great victory, and with a suddenness which overshadowed all past operations of the war. It was only ten weeks ago that Przemysl fell to the Russians after a six months investment, which was interrupted for a short time in November by an Austrian advance.

With the surrender of the fortress there fell into the Russian hands, according to official reports, 120,000 Austrians and 600 guns and an immense amount of war material. Most of the forts, however, had been completely destroyed by the Austrians before they surrendered, and this is considered in military circles here to account for the fact that the fortress succumbed so quickly to the Austro-German attack.

When the Russians captured Przemysl, they were pressing the Austrians across the Carpathian passes. Then, on May 2, came the news of a great Austro-German thrust into Galicia. Advancing slowly but surely, and accompanied by 1000 guns, the Teutons compelled the Russians to fall back until the Russian line ran to the right bank of the River San. Crossing the river, the Austro-German forces progressed to the north and south of the fortress, and on Tuesday Berlin announced that three forts to the north had been stormed, while Vienna stated that the railway between Przemysl and Lemberg was commanded by Austrian guns.

There was still hope in the allied countries, however, that a Russian counter offensive would hold the invaders off, but this proved ill founded, and this morning the Russians had to give up the city, which earlier in the war had cost them so dearly to win.

Of what booty the Austro-Germans have captured with the fortress there is no estimate, but it is fairly certain that the Russians, having lots of time, got away as many men and as much material as possible, and destroyed the guns and ammunition that remained.

It is not expected here that the victors will be satisfied with their gain of Przemysl, but that they doubtless will endeavor to push on to Lemberg, and even further, and put the Russians in such a position that they will not be able to resume the offensive for many months.

The British government is urging workmen and employers to turn out shells in enormous quantities. David Lloyd George, the new Minister of Munitions, is touring the country with this object, and the expectation is that the new British armies, when they take the field, will be equipped as no other forces ever were.

Meanwhile, the French continue their operations north of Arras, where it is declared they are slowly moving the Germans out of strongly fortified positions. The British on their part, have become more active in the regions of Ypres and La Bassee, while the Italians continue to report the capture of important positions along their frontier. In this latter region, however, no news has yet been received of any big battle being fought.

Another British submarine has penetrated the Dardanelles and sunk a large German transport.

COALITIONISTS HESITATE TO ORDER CONSCRIPTION.

First Session of Parliament is Attended with Unprecedented Interest.

Recruits Said to be Pouring into the Army by Streams and so Compulsory Military Service for Time Being is not Considered Necessary—Undercurrent of Objection to New Cabinet is Reported.

BY EDWARD PRICE BELL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, June 3.—Unprecedented interest attaches to the session of Parliament which opened today, when the coalition government made its first public appearance. Every element of the population was alert and the questions uppermost were:

First—"Will the new Cabinet propose conscription?"

Second—"Will the Unionists follow a course threatening to estrange Ireland?"

MILITARY CURE-ALL.

Confirmed conscriptionists naturally demand the adoption of their military cure-all, and the Tory press, notably the Northcliffe newspapers, urge conscription vociferously. For a time the Liberal newspapers did little to check the crusade, but at last they are opening a heavy fire upon it.

UNIONS REBELLIOUS.

Apparently the labor-union people are unanimously against compulsory service. It reminds them too painfully of Prussianism, which they understand Britain has gone to war to defeat. Personally I should be surprised to see conscription adopted just now, as the need of it is by no means incontestible.

Recruits are pouring into the army in streams. It is true there are "slackers;" it is true there is a class of idle ruffians and debauchees, especially in the large cities, whom every decent person would like to see forced into the firing line. But will these slackers, ruffians and rogues make tolerable military material?

"If we want to kill these fellows," said a general to me, "let us mobilize them in some adequate open space and turn the machine guns on them. Let us not endanger our line with them."

This view seems to be generally held by the military men best acquainted with the facts of recruiting and the character of the recruits.

MAY BE SOON NEEDED.

It is realized that the time may come when the need of conscription will be irrefutable. Then one imagines that the two great parties and possibly the labor and Irish parties can agree upon it. Certainly it appears as if any effort to force the issue now would wreck the political truce beyond repair. However, it is probable that steps will be taken immediately to make a descriptive register of the manhood of the nation.

IRISH STATE OF MIND.

The state of mind of the Irish party at the moment is one of deep, suppressed resentment. In the first place, it regards the whole coalition scheme as fraught with danger to the Irish cause. It cannot rid itself of the suspicion that underneath the patriotic action of the Unionists lies the purpose, when the war is finished, of preventing the realization of Irish national aspirations. This accounted for the abstention of John E. Redmond from taking a place in the government, as he desired to keep a free hand with a view to eventualities. In the second place, the Irish Nationalists were profoundly astonished and angered by the appointment of Sir Edward Carson to the position of Attorney-General.

INELIGIBILITY REMOVED.

LONDON, June 3.—The new members of the Cabinet were unable to take their places on the ministerial benches in the House of Commons today when Parliament opened owing to the law which made them ineligible to sit until they were re-elected by their various constituencies.

This situation, however, was speedily remedied, for the House of Commons passed in all its stages a bill removing this disability for the period of the war. The House of Lords passed the first reading of the same bill and will take up its further stages tomorrow.

There were some mutterings in the lower house against the bill being rushed through at one sitting, thus preventing a general discussion of Premier Asquith's decision, calling upon the opposition to assist him in carrying on the war. This was silenced by Sir John M. Simon, the new Secretary of State for Home Affairs, who led the house in the absence of the Premier, promising to grant a day for the discussion of political changes.

ATTACK ON ASQUITH.

Laurence Ginnell, an Irish Nationalist, who follows the leadership of none of the Parliamentary parties, but is the leader and only member of his own party, was not to be denied, however, and, despite the censorship of the Speaker, succeeded in saying that the members of the house who formerly were "calling each other liars and political assassins" were now aspiring to give each other jobs and were afraid to face the electors. Mr. Ginnell was attacking Premier Asquith's political character when the Speaker ordered him to resume his seat.

After the passage of the suspensory bill the House of Commons passed the first reading of a bill establishing a ministry of munitions, of which David Lloyd George will have charge.

While it is expected that the new government will have the support of the whole of the House of Commons and the House of Lords, with the exception of a few irreconcilables such as Mr. Ginnell, there is to be an "unofficial opposition" in both houses. The leadership of that in the lower house has been assumed by the Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, Unionist, who today put the time-honored question to the leader of the opposition as to the course of business next week. By the courtesy extended to Privy Councilors, Mr. Chaplin took a seat on the front bench on the left of the Speaker, where he had as companions new and old Privy Councilors, all known supporters of the coalition.

RADICAL POSITION.

Behind them, however, was a little group of radicals, who will accept nothing but a Liberal government and who, as a token of their disapproval of the coalition, crossed the floor of the House to seats from which they face the ministers and will be in a better position to cross-examine them.

The Nationalists retained their seats "below the gangway" on the opposition side, where they are separated from all the other parties and can watch closely everything connected with Ireland. It is said they are prepared to raise a row if, as has been reported, the government purposes to appoint the Right Hon. James H. M. Campbell, Unionist member for Dublin University, as Lord Chancellor for Ireland.

The proceedings in the House of Lords were confined to the first reading of the bill relieving the new ministers from appealing for re-election and to a few remarks by the Marquis of Crewe and Lord Lansdowne on the entry of Italy into the war. These two members, heretofore leaders of the opposing parties, sat together on the government bench, the former as Lord President of the Council and the latter as Minister without portfolio. Facing them from the opposition bench sat Lord Salisbury.

Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster, the new Lord High Chancellor, occupied the woolsack for the first time, the fact that he has not yet received his peerage being no disqualification.

MEMBERS CHEERED.

Several junior members of the new government on taking the Cabinet seats were cheered, while members of the Privy Council and prominent Unionists outside the Cabinet occupied the front opposition seats.

The Home Secretary said he regretted the absence of Premier Asquith, who was on "urgent public business," and declared the Premier hoped to be in his place on Monday, when he would make a statement regarding the position of Italy and the war. The bill for the establishment of a ministry of munitions, he added, also would be introduced and it would go to the later stages on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Sir John Simon announced that a tribunal for dealing with alien enemies had been appointed. Sir Albert Spicer, Liberal member for the central division of Thackney, asked whether the government would protect banks against risks from aircraft or goods in warehouses pending settlement of some of the former insurance or idemnity. He said that the banks holding bills against goods in warehouses were demanding insurance policies or refunding amounts advanced while the merchants were unable to cover full risks even at prohibitive prices. The Home Secretary said the matter would be considered as soon as possible.

O'BRIEN'S QUESTION.

William O'Brien, Nationalist, asked Sir John Simon whether the House would have an opportunity of discussing "an event of vital importance to Ireland, namely the disappearance of a Home Rule Ministry which cannot be allowed to pass without some comment."

The Home Secretary suggested that Mr. O'Brien repeat this question on Monday.

"In introducing the suspensory bill the Home Secretary explained it was purely a temporary emergency measure and said he hoped it would be promptly passed through all its stages. The bill was seconded by Sir Robert B. Finlay, Unionist.

Richard R. Holt, Radical, inquired whether there would be an opportunity for the members to discuss the new Ministry. This drew cries of "No! No!" from the Unionists, but Mr. Holt continued and said if this opportunity were not given it would be necessary to discuss the bill.

COPENHAGEN JOB FOR DERNBURG.

WILD CONDUCT GERMAN PRESS BUREAU IN SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES.

LONDON, June 3.—A dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that, according to a Berlin telegram, Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, on returning to Europe from the United States, will be given charge of the press bureau organization for Scandivanian countries, with headquarters at Copenhagen.

A pro-German campaign in the Scandinavian press, the dispatch adds, will then be started with renewed energy.

The announcement made at Washington that the British government, in conjunction with the French and Russian governments, had assured the State Department it would give safe conduct to Dr. Dernburg when he leaves the United States was confirmed here today, with the additional statement that this arrangement had been made at Dr. Dernburg's wish. The intermediary through whom the request was made has not been disclosed.

URRUTI CRITICISES WILSON'S NOTE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 3.—The note issued by President Wilson yesterday demanding peace and order in Mexico was criticised today by Aureliano Urruti, former Minister of the Interior in Huerta's Cabinet, as a "tacit confession by Mr. Wilson of his self-appointment as the ruler of Mexico." Dr. Urruti blamed the United States for conditions in Mexico. "In the midst of our misfortune," Dr. Urruti continued, "we rejoice that the American government has thrown aside its mask at a time when, though profoundly sad and shameful for us, yet it is a very solemn moment for the man who will try to bear on his shoulders the sacred task of saving our country."

Where Austrians Oppose Italian Advance.

The Isonzo Valley.

The Isonzo is one of the most beautiful Alpine rivers. Bright green and unfathomably deep, it flows quietly between dazzling white, strangely formed, water worn rocks. The slopes of the narrow valley are nowhere intersected by deep cuttings, but it suddenly gives place to a level, open space, where rises the citadel of Gorz and the hill of Castagnavizza, at the foot of which lies the station of Gorz. It is in this region that repeated attempts have been made to dislodge the Italian troops who are holding an important ridge. The river is now said to be almost impassable on account of the rains in the mountain district.

NAVAL AND MILITARY ATTACK DISPERSES TURKS.

Heights Occupied by the Enemy are Seized After They had Fled and Several Heavy Charged Mines in the River Bed are Exploded. Turkish Steamer Sunk.

LONDON, June 3.—An account of recent fighting between British and Turkish forces in Mesopotamia was given out officially here today as follows:

"After hostile columns which recently threatened us on the shores of the Euphrates and Karun Rivers had been successfully dispersed, as described in previous communiques, a combined naval and military attack was organized on the morning of May 31 against the remaining hostile forces in the position a couple of miles north of Kurna.

"Starting at 1:30 a.m. our troops, partly by wading, partly by boats, skilfully executed a turning movement. The enemy's guns were soon silenced by our artillery. Excellent practice was made by naval guns and by a territorial battery which was especially conspicuous. The heights occupied by the Turks were seized by noon and the enemy fled, leaving three sixteen-pound guns, complete with ammunition, and nearly 250 prisoners in our hands.

"After harmlessly exploding several heavy charged mines discovered later in the river bed and on land, we continued to advance on June 1, but found that the enemy had hastily evacuated his camps at Barban and Ratta, leaving a number of tents standing. He was observed retreating in steamers and native boats which were speedily pursued by the naval flotilla.

"By evening, we reached a point five miles north of Esra's tomb, some thirty-three miles north of Kurna.

"The Turkish steamer Bulbul was overtaken and sunk. We also captured two large lighters. One contained three field guns, ammunitions, mines and about 800 prisoners. The pursuit was continued by moonlight.

"Our casualties have been trifling, about twenty in all."

INVADERS ON MOUNTAIN COMMAND FRIULI VALLEY.

Troops of King Victor Emmanuel Have Succeeded in Occupying an Important Position in Their Advance on Trieste—The Few Bridges Which Might Have Enabled Austrians to Stop Their Progress Swept Away.

UDINE (Italy,) June 3 (via Paris.)—Austrian troops have made repeated efforts to dislodge the Italian forces which have succeeded in establishing themselves on Montero ridge, across the Isonzo River, along the front north of the Gulf of Trieste. According to advices reaching Udine today, the Italians are still in possession of the ridge.

The advance of the Italians across the Isonzo has been accomplished in the face of unusual difficulties. In consequence of heavy rains, it was impossible to ford the Isonzo except for detachments of cavalry.

Once the troops had reached the further bank of the river, still greater difficulties were encountered. The rain had transformed the mountain paths into beds of swift running streams. Water pouring down the mountainsides uprooted trees and obstructed progress at every turn. The few mountain bridges left by the Austrians were carried away by the floods. Rest for the troops was impossible, as the rocky mountain sides were too exposed, while the valleys, knee deep in water, were unsuitable for camping places. Thick fog hung over the whole region, making it impossible to see for any distance.

Progress was slow, but the invaders made their way up the mountainside, taking with them heavy artillery, ammunition and transports with supplies. They occupied Drezenaca, Cosec Karfeit and other small villages below Monte Nero, and finally obtained possession of the ridge. Regular communication with the base on the right bank of the Isonzo has been maintained, including a telephone line, over which the commander at Caporetto has been immediately informed of each attack by the Austrians in their efforts to dislodge the Italians.

Monte Nero dominates the whole Friuli Valley. Possession of this ridge enables the Italians to menace Tolmino from the rear. This town, together with the batteries recently constructed on Santa Maria and Santa Lucia hills, presents one of the most formidable obstacles to an Italian advance across the Isonzo at that point.

COMMANDS THE VALLEYS.

Monte Nero also commands the valleys leading to the northeastern part of the Isonzo-Plezyco district, having on its north Predil Pass, which, strongly fortified, protects the road to Tarvis. The Italian occupation of this ridge is thus connected with the action which, from the Raccolana and Dogna valleys, threatens the Seebach Valley leading to Predil.

BRITISH ARE REPULSED AT VILLAGE OF HOOGE.

BERLIN (via London) June 3.—The army headquarters today gave out the following statement:

"Western theater of war: A battle developed in the village of Hooge, three kilometers east of Ypres, which had been strongly fortified by the British. The battle took a course favorable for us.

"Yesterday we found ourselves obliged to destroy the tower of the church of St. Martin in Ypres on which enemy artillery observation posts had been discovered.

In the district north of Arras fighting is again very lively. On the Souchez-Neuville front and to the south the French repeatedly began extensive attacks during the afternoon and night, leading in certain places to bitter hand-to-hand fighting. The French suffered heavy losses everywhere without obtaining any advantage. Fighting for possession of the sugar refinery at Souchez continues. The battles in the forest of Le Pretre have not yet come to a conclusion.

"In the Vosges our aviators dropped bombs on the provisioning center and railway junction at Remiermont and on the enemy's camp at Hohnes. Minor local fights developed during the night in the region of the Valley of the Fecht at Metzeral.

"Eastern theater: The situation is unchanged.

"Southeastern theater of war: The fortified town of Przemysl was taken by us early this morning after the fortifications on the north front which still held out had been stormed during the night. The amount of booty taken has not yet been ascertained.

"The army under Gen. Von Linsingen is penetrating the district of Zydaczow, northeast of Stry and fighting for the Dniester section east of Makolajow. The booty taken in the battle of Stry has been increased to sixty officers and 13,175 men."

GIVE US THE MUNITIONS, PLEA OF LLOYD GEORGE.

German Victory in Galicia Attributed to Overwhelming Supply.

Stirring Appeal is Made by Former Chancellor to Workmen and Employers of Manchester that the Only Hope of Driving Out Germans is by Concentrating Fire on Their Lines from Well-equipped Artillery.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

MANCHESTER (England) June 3.—Declaring that the German victory in Galicia was due to an overwhelming superiority in equipment and that if the allies in the west had been as well equipped, the Germans would long ago have been driven from France and Belgium, David Lloyd George, the new Minister of Munitions, made a stirring appeal tonight to employers and workmen to supply the British armies with the necessary munitions.

The speech was delivered before employers in the engineering trades and trade unionists. Mr. Lloyd George, who had previously lunched at the Clarendon Club, received a remarkable ovation from the people of Manchester, which was in striking contrast to the manner in which he had been received in this city on previous visits of a political nature, particularly when he appeared at the time of the Boer war as an opponent of that struggle.

DESCRIBES HIS ERRAND.

"I come," he said, "as an emissary of state to carry the most urgent message ever told to the ears of a Manchester audience. Our country is fighting for its life, for the liberties of Europe, and upon what it does, upon what it is prepared to sacrifice, depends the issue. It depends more upon the masters and men occupied in running workshops than upon any part of the community whether Great Britian will emerge from this colossal struggle beaten, humiliated, stripped of power, honor and influence, and a mere bond slave of cruel military tyranny, or whether it will come out triumphant, free and more powerful than ever for good in the affairs of men.

"I come here to tell you the truth. Unless you know it, you cannot be expected to make sacrifices. Our Russian allies have suffered a severe setback. The Germans have achieved a great success, not because of the superior valor of their soldiers or strategy of their generals. The German triumph is due entirely to superior equipment, and overwhelming superiority of shot and shell and munitions and equipment. It was a battle won by the use they made of their skilled industries, and especially by the superior organization of German workshops.

"Two hundred thousand shells were concentrated in a single hour on the heads of the gallant Russians. Had we been in a position to apply the same process to the Germans on our front, the Germans would have been turned out of France, and driven by the way across the devastated plain of Flanders. They would have been out of the country that had tortured and tormented with dastardly cruelty. More than that we should have actually penetrated into Germany.

"For the moment we have more than plenty of men for the equipment available. More men will come to the call, but we want the workmen to equip them with weapons. The state now needs the help of all and I am perfectly certain that British engineers can do what the French engineers have already done."

"In France private firms have given the state assistance in this crisis hour which is beyond compare. The last French victories were largely attributable to the private workshops of France.

"I am here to ask you to help us to equip our armies with the means of breaking through the German lines in front of our gallant troops, and I know you will do it."

The Minister said he was not there to "brandish his powers" under the defense-of-the-realm-act, but these were very great, and the commission appointed would find these powers very helpful in enabling them to act more quickly. Compulsion was not needed for the majority, but there were a few who just lagged behind.

"To what extent and in what direction the moral duty of each citizen to give his service to the state should be converted into a legal duty was a question, not of principle, but of necessity to be decided from time to time as an emergency arose during the period of the war.

"The government which alone knows the facts, must be trusted.

"I don't mind guillotining profiteers," said Mr. Lloyd George, "generals, if necessary. But until a man has reached the scaffold they ought to be obeyed and above all, do not undermine them by sniping them from behind."

Speaking of conscription he said:

"Conscription means the raising by compulsory methods of armies to help Great Britain's battles abroad. Only the necessity arose. I am certain that no man of any part would oppose it.

"We won our liberties in Great Britain on more than one occasion by a kind of compulsory service. France saved her liberty she won in the revolution by compulsory service. The great public to the west won its independence and saved its nationality once by compulsory service.

"It has been the greatest privilege in the hands of the democracy in all times for the winning and preservation of freedom. All the same it would be a great mistake to rely upon it unless it was absolutely necessary."

TOKIO RIOTS, POLICE ACTIVE.

ANTI-GOVERNMENT MEETINGS CAUSE DISORDERS.

Uproar in Parliament Follows Attempt to Express Lack of Confidence in Administration—Policy in Recent Negotiations with China is Scored.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

TOKIO, June 3.—The holding of an anti-government mass meeting in Tokio this evening resulted in a serious disturbances. The situation outside the building where the mass meeting was being held was the most serious. Many arrests were made and the manifestos issued by the organizers of the meeting were confiscated. Reinforcements of police were sent everywhere throughout the city.

The resolution introduced in the House of Representatives yesterday by the opposition expressing lack of confidence in the present administration was today rejected by a vote of 133 to 232.

Extreme disorder marked the session. All the members of the Cabinet were in their seats. While Premier Okuma and Foreign Minister Kato defended the recent negotiations with China, K. Hara, M. Inukai and H. Ogawa attacked them. The resolution as introduced yesterday charged the Cabinet with having failed in the negotiations with China from the beginning; with having aroused the suspicions of foreign powers and with having harmed the prestige of the empire. Hoots, jeers and wordy altercations punctured the speeches delivered today, but the ovations for Premier Okuma and Minister Kato smothered the cries of the opposition.

K. Hara advanced the claim that Japan's aggression in China during the war in Europe had aroused misunderstandings, destroyed the friendship of the powers and placed Japan in a position of isolation while H. Ogawa made the declaration that concessions had been granted the Hanyehping Company because China had been backed by the United States. Minister Kato denied that the powers had urged the abandonment of the fifth group of Japanese demands.

"We abandoned these in the interests of peace," he said. "No power compelled us to do so. I am convinced that the intellectual classes of the world will understand and commend the course of Japan."

Great interest was attached to the announcement of Premier Okuma and Minister of War Oka in the Diet that the army is to be increased by two divisions. This is the first step to the eventual creation of an army of twenty-five divisions.

BETTER TRADE IS THE RULE.

Improvement Reported by the Federal Reserve Agents.

East and West Lead Other Sections of Country.

Demand for War Supplies is Still on the Increase.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—General business and banking conditions throughout the country, as observed by the Federal reserve agents of the twelve regional banks, are set forth in the monthly bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board issued today. Improvement was reported by most of the agents, while others noted that the demand from Europe for war supplies was keeping many industries busy.

"There is a feeling of optimism in all lines of business in this district," said the Boston report, "and a slight improvement in most lines with the possible exception of the shoe and leather trade." The New York agent reported a reduction of unemployment, and said:

"Throughout New York State farmers, fruit growers and dairymen anticipate a good season. Factories producing goods for domestic use are busy and new orders come in daily. The manufacture of war supplies continues above capacity and is extending to plants normally otherwise engaged, thus partly offsetting the loss in domestic trade."

The Philadelphia agent reported that war orders and their influences were helping many industries.

"General trade," he said, "upon which we must in the long run depend for our prosperity, is still dull and much below normal."

"Improvement of conditions in district No. 4," said the Cleveland report, "as reported in April, is being maintained but no additional advance is noted. While our advices seem to indicate a recession in business, there is a slight pause, with fewer orders for new business."

The Richmond agent reported: "Little change in business conditions during May."

"As for the future," he added, "it has been increased by timely rains and the knowledge that the close of the planting season shows that there will be a material diversification, especially in sections heretofore almost entirely given over to cotton."

SOUTH IS BRIGHTER.

Atlanta reported conditions "generally good."

"The outlook is brighter than at any time since the European war began," said the agent. "Agricultural conditions appear exceedingly bright, despite a decreased cotton acreage."

Chicago also reported improvement in general conditions. "Trade developments in May has been favorable," said the agent. "Moderate improvement is noticed in the leading industries, especially iron and steel and the metal working branches and at more satisfactory prices."

"General business conditions in this district," reported the St. Louis agent, "especially in the larger cities and manufacturing centers, while still below normal, indicate a continued, though slow, improvement."

Satisfactory agricultural conditions in the Northwest were reported by the Minneapolis agent.

WEST SHOWS GAINS.

Favorable financial conditions in the Dallas district were reported as existing by the Kansas City agent. "Retail and wholesale trade is not up to normal," he said, "however collections are slightly better than normal except such slight bills based upon wages."

A better demand for money was reported by the Dallas (Tex.) agent. "There is little evidence of the pressure which existed last fall," he said. "Wheat and oats will soon be coming to the market and the agricultural promise is good. Higher prices for cotton and sales of cattle, horses and mules have brought large returns."

San Francisco reported a "general feeling of mild optimism." "Agricultural prospects throughout the Twelfth district are exceptionally good," said the agent. "Unusually heavy rains in California, while interfering to some extent with early crops, have been of great benefit and assure large crops. In general, a large increase in grain acreage has been stimulated by the exceptional prices. Cattle and sheep interests are prospering."

TAFT PRAISES WILSON POLICY.

PRO-JINGO IN WHITE HOUSE WOULD CAUSE WAR.

Former President Declares Chief Executive Realizes Turn of His Word Would Plunge this Country into the International Conflict. Favors World Peace.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—"If we had a jingo in the White House," former President Taft in an address at the commence of Bryn Mawr today, "this country would now be at war with Germany."

"Indeed," Mr. Taft said, "our chief executive is a man who appreciates responsibility and realizes that, regardless of the temper of the people, the use of his hand would plunge us into international conflict."

Taft's address outlining his plan to a permanent basis for international peace was largely the same that he delivered in Cleveland when he urged the establishment of a world's peace league with power to settle international differences by arbitration.

The conference will be held in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, on June 17, to consider the establishment of the proposed tribunal. Mr. Taft will preside at the meeting.

weeks. The administration will expect, however, that during the period no passenger liners shall be torpedoed. It has been impressed on Count von Bernstorff, and he has reported the fact to his government, that another Lusitania tragedy would precipitate a state of feeling which would be beyond the power of the administration to control.

WILSON'S NOTE.

The President's note, which he is carefully preparing, is along the lines already known to the public. It is a strong reiteration of the original demands of this government. The authorities regard as irrelevant the "facts" cited by the German government, holding they have no place in the negotiations. However, the President has consented to an investigation of the affidavits submitted to the State Department by the German Ambassador alleging that the Lusitania had guns aboard.

The Department of Justice is conducting the inquiry. Whatever it may report, however, will not affect the stand taken by the President. It is the belief of the administration that as a result of he visit paid by Count von Bernstorff to the President, the views of the former will have greater weight in Berlin than hitherto. In his original note on the Lusitania, the President condemned the German embassy and, of course, its chief, for issuing the advertisement warning Americans not to sail on the liner. The fact that the President received Count von Bernstorff will convince Berlin that he is in good standing with the administration and undoubtedly it will regard his recommendation with greater favor.

STUDENT CAMPS WILL BE HELD.

WAR DEPARTMENT FINDS A WAY TO KEEP EXPENDITURES WITHIN THE LAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Army plans for holding student military camps this summer are going ahead in spite of the recent decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury disallowing accounts for expenditures in connection with such a camp last year. It had been supposed that camps would have to be abandoned, but it now develops that a way has been found to keep all necessary expenditures within the law.

So far as the Eastern Department and the Presidio at San Francisco are concerned, there will be no difficulty, as the regular troops to participate in the camps already are on the reservations and will be at no expense for transportation. The students, who gather from colleges all ove rthe country, is all cases pay for their own transportation as well as subsistence.

NOGALES, Ariz., June 3.—Mrs. I. E. Bowers, wife of an American rancher at Noria, Sonora, who was attacked yesterday at her home by five bandits, was safe today, according to reports reaching the border. The bandits were frightened away by Villa scouts sent outfrom Nogales, Sonora.

The woman, however, remains barricaded in the ranch house, awaiting her husband, who, contrary to reports yesterday, was not with her at the time the attack was made. Mr. Bowers was at Agua Zanca, 12 miles south of Nogales, where his automobile broke down.

The bandits operating in the vicinity of Noria have destroyed several railroad bridges. Two hundred and fifty Villa troops have been sent in pursuit of them.

PHARMACY BOARD INQUIRY.

Investigation Begun in San Francisco may Reveal Irregularities, According to Report.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 3.—An investigation of the State Board of Pharmacy is being conducted by John F. Neylan of the State Board of Control, who was in San Francisco today seeking facts to present to the Governor.

Louis Zeh, the secretary of the Pharmacy Board, said tonight that he had been instructed to make no statement as to the progress of the investigation until it is complete. Neylan said that he had nothing to make public at the present time, although it is an open secret that disclosures of startling irregularities are hinted at in rumors flying around recently.

The State Board of Pharmacy receives no regular appropriation, but depends for its financial resources on fines which it collects. There has been some criticism of the character of the accountings made by the board in the past.

GENERAL STAFF OF ARMY IN MYSTERIOUS SESSION.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 3.—Secretary of War Garrison tonight staged one of the most mysterious sensations that Washington has seen since the days immediately preceding the Spanish-American war. At 7:30 o'clock Secretary Garrison called to his office several of the leading officers of the army, and, behind locked doors he held them in conference until long past midnight.

Secretary Garrison was surrounded by Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff of the army; Maj.-Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, Assistant Chief of Staff and Chief of the Continental Mobile Army; Gen. Enoch Crowder, judge advocate general of the army, and the Assistant Secretary of War, whose particular functions relate to militia affairs.

The brightly illuminated windows of the office of the Secretary and the General Staff tonight attracted the attention of theater crowds returning homewards. The usually sombre War Department tonight looked like a building electrified for some festive celebration.

At 11:30 a member of the conference said there was absolutely no significance in the meeting and there was behind it nothing in which the public could possibly be interested.

Notwithstanding this statement persons who are familiar with War Department routine appeared to be satisfied that Mr. Garrison had suddenly gathered about him his general officers for the purpose of bringing up to date the military plans of the General Staff which may be needed as a sequel to the Mexican statement or as an aftermath of the note which President Wilson tomorrow night is expected to send to the Kaiser.

EATING BETWEEN MEALS

Do you know that the stomach needs rest regularly and that eating between meals is a common cause of indigestion?

Do you know what happens when you eat more than you can digest? What relation biliousness has to overeating?

Do you know that when the blood gets thin the digestion becomes weak, that good digestion is impossible unless the blood is rich and red, such blood as comes from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?

These tonic pills and proper care in the diet will change dyspeptic, despondent, dragged-out people into energetic, hungry, cheerful men and women because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, making the stomach able to secrete the needed digestive fluids, and strengethen the nerves that control the delicate processes of digestion.

After you begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the first sign of returning health is usually an increased appetite. Then you find that what you eat causes no distress and if you exercise a reasonable amount of care in the selection of your food you will have no more trouble.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and a diet book called "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Practical Culinary Hints

Invaluable Suggestions to the Particular Housewife.

Today the busy housewife desires results in everything she does. Sometimes her cooking and baking is not what she would like it to be, notwithstanding the fact that she gives plenty of attention to that important part of household duties. The fault generally lies in the selection of poor ingredients. Use the very best articles and you will gain surprisingly better results. The critical housewife has found that in making cakes, delicate desserts, candy, preserved fruits or anything when considerable sugar is required she can always obtain good results by using Karo. Candies made with part Karo and part sugar are more creamy and will keep fresh longer than when sugar only is used. Karo does not have that cloying sweetness of ordinary sugar syrups, but it gives a delicate flavor which is well liked. Marion Harland highly recommends Karo, giving it preference above any other syrup. It is as clear and sweet as honey and is absolutely pure in every sense of the word.

Order a can from your grocer today and see how well and quickly your culinary ability will improve. There are dozens of ways Karo can be used—all of which are fully explained in a little book of recipes, which your grocer will give you on request. Ask for it today.

"Complexion Secrets Of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores I began using a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for a while soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

Eckman's Alterative has restored to health many sufferers from lung trouble. Read what it did in this case:—

Wilmington, Del.

"Gentlemen:—In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, a leading practitioner, said that it was lung trouble. I got very weak. C. A. Lippincott, of Lippincott's Department Store, Wilmington, Del., recommended Eckman's Alterative that had done great good. I began taking it at once. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I now have no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alterative saved my life." (Abbreviated.)

(Affidavit) JAS. SQUIRES.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size, $1; regular size, $2. Sold by leading druggists. Write for booklet of recoveries.

Defiance of Carranza.

istration "until he can wipe out the remnants of the reactionaries and convene the people to elections of officers of a constitutional government."

This was accepted in official circles as meaning that Carranza would make a supreme effort to place himself in a position to demand recognition before the next step of the United States is determined upon.

State Department reports confirmed claims of a victory for Villa over Obregon at Silao, but few details were given. Upon the ultimate outcome of this battle, which has been fought intermittently for weeks, depends supremacy in Central Mexico and possibly the success of a final effort to bring the contending factions together to establish a new government.

GEN. ITURBE QUITS CAMPAIGN.

CARRANZA COMMANDER RE- TO MAZATLAN.

Despite Warning by Col. O'Connor that no Attack be Made on Agua Prieta Preparations are Being Made to Invest the City with Large Force.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 3.—A dispatch received here tonight says that Gen. Iturbe, a Carranza commander, has abandoned his campaign of conquest in Southern Sonora and has retired to Mazatlan, leaving Gen. Angel Flores with an advance guard of 2000 troops at Navojoa, without hope of reinforcement.

Despite the warning issued today by Col. C. M. O'Connor, commander of the United States border patrol, to Villa commanders, Gens. Urbalejo and Trujillo, that no attack be made on Agua Prieta because of danger to American lives and property in Arizona, it is reported here tonight that Urbalejo with a force of Yaqui Indians has joined the Acosta troops in Anavacachi Pass, twelve miles west of Agua Prieta.

It is reported the combined troops will co-operate with Trujillo, who is advancing from the south with 1600 troops.

The Villa consulate announced that 2000 troops were en route from Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, to Sonora to aid in the investment of Agua Prieta.

GERMAN TRANSPORT SUNK BY BRITISH.

LONDON, June 3.—A British submarine opefating in the Sea of Marmora torpedoed a large German transport in Panderma Bay yesterday morning.

This announcement was given out officially in London today as having been received from the vice-admiral in command at the Dardanelles. It is said also that this submarine was one of several operating in these waters.

The large German transport officially reported sunk by a British submarine in Panderma Bay is believed to have been either the steamer General of 4500 tons, formerly of the German East Africa Company, or the Corcovada of 4900 tons, which was owned by the Hamburg-American steamship line.

INTERVENTION ONLY REMEDY.

Archbishop of Mexico Says it Must be Unarmed.

Favors Giving Moral Support to Banished Leaders.

Fears Worse Situation Under Present Conditions.

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—Unarmed intervention by the United States in giving its moral support to the able and responsible men of Mexico who have been banished from the country by the warring factions is the only plan for the relief of conditions in the southern republic, according to a statement of Archbishop Francisco Mendoza of Durango, Mex., who arrived here today. Archbishop Mendoza is one of the clergymen who was banished here from the country.

"I think it will be useless to tell these trouble-makers in Mexico, the leaders of the opposing factions, to settle their troubles among themselves in a peaceable manner," he said. "The only plan for actual aid to Mexico by the United States is intervention. Not by armed interference, but by giving the moral support of this country to those able and responsible men of high character who have been banished from Mexico by the warring factions.

"It is well established that the conflicting powers are absolutely incapable of maintaining anything resembling an orderly form of government," continued Archbishop Mendoza. "And unless placed in the right hands, things will go from bad to worse."

Ginger Meeting.

ADVANCE AGENT INSTILLS "PEP."

TELLS REALTY MEN THINGS ARE GETTING BETTER.

Optimism Replacing Pessimism in All Parts of the Country, He Says. High Compliment for this City. Preparations Nearly Completed for Coming Convention.

A snappy, optimistic talk by Thomas Ingersoll of Minneapolis, secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, and who is in Los Angeles as the advance agent of the large realty convention to be held in this city from June 21 to 25, inclusively, was the feature of an inspiring meeting held by the Los Angeles realty board at the Alexandria Hotel yesterday noon. Mr. Ingersoll is known among the realty brokers of the country as a man of exceptional ginger and a "live wire" and he fully justified his reputation.

The association secretary's manner of speaking is that of a vaudeville monologue artist, witty observations, sound advice, stories, business logic and pertinent comment flashing from him in a rattling fire. Mr. Ingersoll paid high tribute to Los Angeles and the Los Angeles spirit and predicted that the coming convention would be an event to stand forth in the memories of every delegate and visitor as long as he lives.

"I have been through the East and the South within the past few weeks," he said, "and I can say from knowledge that conditions are excellent everywhere in the country. Confidence is returning in regions where pessimism has had its inning an many cities and sections are forging rapidly ahead. I am glad to see the optimism that prevails in Los Angeles. Los Angeles has as much reason for it as any other place in the country. Los Angeles does wonderful things in a wonderful way, and its fame has spread to the corners of the earth. The thousands of realty men who will be here this month are coming here for inspiration and I am sure they will ge enough of it to fill them full of the spirit of living and doing."

Charles G. Andrews, a former president of the local realty board, presided over the meeting, which was opened by the installation of the newly-elected officers of the organization. Each as his name was read was given a rousing demonstration, especially President Mines, whose re-election was brought about as the result of a general demand upon the part of the board.

Both Mr. Mines and Secretary Wilson read comprehensive reports of the board's activities for the past twelve months. Harold S. Cook, the treasurer, gave a report on finances. The various statements given indicated among other things that the board's membership had grown by thirty during the year and that not only had all debts been wiped out, but that the organization now has a substantial balance.

Following the impromptu talk, by Mr. Ingersoll, the chairmen of the various committees in charge of the convention arrangements gave reports of their progress. These all tended to show that the local realty men will be prepared in every respect for the big task of entertaining the hosts of delegates and visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada.

PORTLAND (Or.) June 3.—Addresses by Dr. David Starr Jordan, Chancellor of Leland Stanford University, and Gov. Ernest Lister, of Washington, and a paper on "Those Marriages," by Dr. Lillian C. [illegible] of Seattle, were the outstanding features of a long programme covering the final day's business session of the National Council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, in session here since last Monday night.

"Legislation aimed to prevent the propagation of their kind by the unfit is helpful," said Dr. Irwin, "but comes under the head of 'negative genics.' Still greater good can be accomplished by positive eugenics, teaching young people the danger of marrying persons who are not fit, or who have inherited harmful or criminal traits of character.

"Our young folks must be taught to look for good health and moral traits in those of the opposite sex above all else. These things being equal, one you are to marry are much more important than any considerations of finance or property."

FEATHERS IN HATS.

Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman of Chicago created a stir among the delegates when she declared that as long as women of the Federation wore feathers on their hats, they could not be open to the charge of inconsistency.

Mrs. Sherman spoke on the work of the conservation department. "Killing of conservation of natural resources in the public schools is urged.

"We can deal a master stroke to bird preservation," said Mrs. Sherman, "by refusing to wear feathers. I wear an ostrich feather if you please, but let this be the only possible exception.

"Think of the inspiring sight if the women of America, if the 1,000,000 women of the General Federation refused to wear feathers."

TWO WOMEN HONORED.

"There is no greater educational force in the United States than that connected with the Department of Agriculture," said Mrs. Elizabeth Lowe Earl of Indiana who spoke on "Home Economics and the United States Department of Agriculture."

A flag bearing the words "Peace Among All Nations" occupied a conspicuous place on the platform.

Mrs. W. K. James of Missouri suggested placing the names of Julia Ward Howe and Miss Jane Addams on the list of founders of the Federation. Immediately $100 was raised by subscription to be added to the endowment fund in order that the name of Mrs. Howe and Miss Addams might be placed on the founders' roll.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—[illegible] F. Fowler, was appointed receiver for the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company and the Sacramento West Side Canal by United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet. His bonds were fixed at $48,000. The receivership, which is said to be friendly, was asked by the Equitable Trust Company, trustees for the companies.

The proceedings Mr. Fowler will serve were to protect the interests of the bondholders who took over the two companies April 1, 1914, when bond interest was defaulted, and to legalize that action.

Both are subsidiaries of the Sacramento-Idaho company, said to be controlled by the Kuhn interests of Pittsburg.

PORTLAND, June 3.—O. M. [illegible]kin of Sylvan, a suburb of Portland, began his prosaic duties today by opening a bran box to feed his horse. The lifted lid disclosed the unconscious figure of a man, bound, gagged and stark naked.

The police were called and, when he had been revived, the man gave his name as Jack Kling, and until recently first mate of the British ship Invergarry. Kling, who is an Austrian, quit the Invergarry in San Francisco, he said, because the vessel was going to Europe and he was afraid he would be interned there. Coming here by steamer from San Francisco, he spent his money like a sailor. On the street here yesterday he was hailed by a man in an automobile whom he had met on the steamer, and who gave the name of McArthur. McArthur invited the girl in the rear seat of his car to ride as his daughter, and persuaded Kling to take a ride.

As they drove along a woman whom Kling said, the girl suddenly drew something bitter into his face. When he resented this, McArthur held him up at the point of a revolver, while the girl bound and gagged him. Then, he said, they chloroformed him. Besides his clothes he lost $65. The police say that the evidence that Kling's story is true.

TRADE COMBINES ARE ADVOCATED.

Method to Increase Exports Suggested by Banker.

Proper Shipping Facilities are Prime Necessity.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Henry P. Davison, a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, said today, testifying before the Federal Trade Commission, that he believed the fundamental requirements for developing the export trade of the United States to be increased shipping facilities.

The commission began its hearings here today to learn from business men their opinions regarding among other things, the advisability of permitting combinations among American exporters for the extension of an export trade with foreign nations.

Mr. Davison said that with proper shipping facilities, other things such as financing and selling would follow in sequence.

MUST ORGANIZE UNITS.

Then he continued in part as follows:

"Some form of combination of our business units must be organized if we are to do much in the foreign markets, with their keen competition. Combination would make it possible to cut down costs and affect concentration. The removal of competition between the units in foreign countries would make possible prices for the benefit of American stockholders."

"Would it be possible to stop the firms from doing in the local field what they would do in the foreign field if they were organized?" asked Chairman Davies.

"Yes," replied the witness. "The field would be different; the purposes would be different. I do not think there would be any difficulty in financing these undertakings if such combinations in foreign trade were permitted."

BABSON'S OPINION

Roger Babson, statistician, gave it as his opinion that exporting combinations in this country would affect the domestic prices. The plan to divide the foreign territory for selling campaigns, as has been done by the Germans, Mr. Babson said he believed would tend to fix prices.

John D. Ryan, president of the National Foreign Trade Council and president of the Amalgamated Copper Company, urged the abolition of unnecessary competition in foreign markets.

"How much in dollars and cents would it mean to the American people if the copper producers of America were allowed to combine for the purpose of foreign trade?" Commissioner E. N. Hurley asked Mr. Ryan.

"About $6000 a year, on the basis of the price for the last ten years," the witness replied.

W. H. Heulings, Jr., vice-president of the J. & G. Brill Co. of Philadelphia, said that his firm would profit by a combination of concerns to meet the foreign trade conditions. He denied that such a combination would conflict in any way with domestic interests.

W. H. Field of the United Export Bureau advocated the establishment of low-price warehouses at important population centers in South America. He also suggested that a government department be organized to enable manufacturers to pool and dispose of their surplus products, and that the patent laws be changed to prevent the stealing of our trade-marks.

AID TO MANUFACTURERS

The commission announced in a statement that it is interested especially in ascertaining how small manufacturers may be assisted in developing foreign business by combinations. Gilbert H. Montagu presented a brief on behalf of the Merchants' Association of New York City, urging that the commercial attaches under the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce investigate methods of production and distribution which have contributed to the success of manufacturers in other countries.

Export associations and banking connections were discussed and it was recommended that provision be made for a lower rate of postage to foreign countries and for an extension of the parcel post system.

The necessity of carrying American goods in foreign bottoms was deplored in the brief. The maintenance of an adequate navy and a renewal of the treaty between the United States and Russia was urged.

PITTSBURGHER'S VIEW

E. M. Herr of Pittsburgh, president of the Westinghouse Co., urged better transportation facilities to aid banking and trade connections in South America. Calvert Townsley, assistant to the president of the Westinghouse Co., said it was common rumor and that he had been reliably informed that American invoices and bills of lading passing through the branches of German banks in South America were copied and the information contained in them forwarded to German competitors in the South American countries.

NORWAY DAY CELEBRATION AT SAN FRANCISCO HONOR TO LIEF ERICSON.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—A Viking ship, manned by fifty Norsemen clad in ancient, armored war garb, sailed into harbor at the Panama-Pacific Exposition today, her quaint sails aided by oarsmen, figuratively invading America for the celebration of Norway Day. An impersonator of Leif Ericson in the high prow sang Grieg's Landskjending, and was answered by a chorus of thousands of Norwegian singers ashore.

Delegations from twenty-five States participated in the celebration of Norway Day. The synod of the Norwegian Lutheran Evangelical church of America, which is holding a convention here, cancelled all sessions in order that the delegates might join in the celebration.

Anzheim Schultzberg has completed his work as commissioner of fine arts from Sweden to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and started for Sweden. He has represented his country at every great world's fair held during the last decade.

Victory for Steel.

the Steel Corporation acquiring the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company during the financial panic of 1907. On this point the court held that the output of Tennessee at the time was only 1½ per cent. of the country's total output; that up to that time it had not been a business success; that its principal product, rails, was made at a loss; that its ultimate success was doubtful and involved a further outlay of $25,000,000, and that the purchase of the Tennessee property, as well as that of several other steel concerns earlier in the history of the big corporation was made in fair business course and was "the honest exertion of one's right to contract for one's benefit, unaccompanied by a wrongful motive to injure others."

AS TO CARNEGIE.

With regard to Andrew Carnegie, whom the government charged was a party to the "unlawful combination," and "took the bonds of the corporation with all the infirmities attaching to such participation," the court found that there is no proof that he accepted any other relation in the formation of the Steel Corporation than that of seller of his stocks and bonds, and the court declared to be true Mr. Carnegie's statement that he disposed of his interests in a desire to retire from the hazards and responsibility of active business.

FOUR JUDGES SIT.

Four judges, Buffington, McPherson, Hunt and Woolley, sat in this case.

While the suit was filed in the District Court, it was heard on a writ of expedition by the judges of the third judicial circuit, who form the Court of Appeals. The next step in the case will be the filing of a formal decree, and the government will probably then take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Judge Buffington wrote the principal opinion, and Judge Woolley wrote a concurring opinion, in which Judge Hunt concurred. The court stated that "all the members of the court are in agreement as to the decree that will be entered," although they are not in complete accord concerning every step by which that result is reached.

The opinion of Judge Buffington covers 150 pages. It was filed here and abstracts were given out in Trenton and in the United States Court at Philadelphia, where the case was heard.

The suit was instituted by the Taft administration, and was prosecuted for the government by Jacob M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War, as chief counsel.

GROWTH IS DISCUSSED.

The opinion of Judge Buffington, apart from a brief summary of the law at its beginning, is a discussion of the business of the Steel Corporation covering the ten years of its existence up to the time the suit was filed, the acquisition of its home and foreign trade and the proofs as to whether it has restrained or suppressed competition or been guilty of acts as to warrant its dissolution. In discussing the law Judge Buffington says the construction of the Sherman law was settled by the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases. The opinion shows that in determining what are the unlawful restraints and monopolies against which the Sherman act protects trade, the Supreme Court summarized all its trust decisions by stating in a late case that "these cases may be taken to have established that only such combinations are within the act as by reason of intent or the inherent nature of the contemplated acts, prejudice the public interests by unduly restricting competition or unduly obstructing the course of trade."

FROM THE OPINION.

Taking this as the test of illegality, the opinion of the court handed down today states:

"Applying the foregoing definitions of the Supreme Court to the case in hand, the basic question for us to determine is one of fact, namely, whether the union of the several defendant companies in the United States Steel Corporation prejudices the public interests by unduly restricting competition or unduly obstructing the course of trade."

The court then states that the public interests thus prejudiced consists first, of competitors in trade; second, the purchasing public and third, the general public. The court states the facts to be determined in the present case are: "First, was the Steel Corporation when this bill was filed in 1911, prejudicing the public interests by unduly restricting competition or unduly obstructing the course of the steel and iron trade, between the States or within the foreign nations? If this question be answered yes, the law was then being violated and an injunction should issue to restrain present and future violations.

"Second, did the Steel Corporation, when it was formed in 1901, either by the intent of those forming it, or by the inherent nature of that company's contemplated acts, prejudice the public interests by unduly restricting competition, or unduly obstructing the course of the steel and iron trade, interstate or foreign? If this question be answered yes, then the law was violated and the Steel Corporation must be adjudged originally illegal. If illegal it must be dissolved, because only thus can its inherent nature be prevented from continuing to work further violations of the statute. On the other hand, if these questions are negatived, then the Steel Corporation should not be dissolved, but permitted to pursue that usual course of trade, which it was the purpose, as we have seen, of this statute to protect. It will thus be seen that this case is practically one of business facts."

Judge Buffington then discussed the American trade of the corporation and showed that 40 per cent. of the steel of this country is produced by the steel company's competitors, and that in the ten years since it was formed, while its business has increased 40 odd per cent., that of eight other great steel companies has increased much faster. They are the Lackawanna Steel, which increased 63 per cent.; Republic, 90; Colorado Fuel, 152 per cent.; Cambria, 155; Jones & Laughlin, 206; La Belle, 463; Indiana Steel, 1495, and Bethlehem increased 3779 per cent.

AS TO INDEPENDENTS.

In that regard the opinion says:

"Taking up these companies one by one, it will be seen that in location, facilities, capital and basic supplies, they show such past, present and prospective competition as affords just ground for concluding that the steel and iron business of this country is not being and indeed cannot be monopolized."

"For the real test of monopoly is not the size of that which is acquired, but the trade power of that which is not acquired."

After quoting the testimony both of the steel companies, competitors and of consumers using its product, the court holds:

"We have carefully and patiently studied the voluminous testimony bearing on the general course of all branches of the steel trade covering the whole time the Steel Corporation has been engaged in such trade. The testimony covers proofs by its manufacturing competitors in all branches and also the different classes of customers whose trade it and its fellow competitors seek. It is apparent that among this latter class, that is, the consumers of its products, we would naturally find evidence of any throttling of competition, or any undue restraint of the steel trade. No one can read the testimony and fail to be satisfied that this great body of business men scattered over all parts of the country, in keen competition with each other in their several lines, is alert in seeing that competitive conditions exist between the manufacturers of basic steel products from whom they buy. And the sworn testimony of these men, who are vitally interested in the maintenance of real competition between the Steel Corporation and its manufacturing competitors, that such real competition does exist and has existed during the past ten years, cannot but carry a conviction that such is the case. A study of the testimony of these men, who are close to and vitally interested observers of the prices of these products, shows that a single large concern by lowering the price of any substantial steel product it sells can depress the obtainable price. It further shows that the converse is not the case; that not a single concern by raising or even maintaining the price of any substantial steel product, can revise the obtainable price."

FOREIGN TRADE.

The court then discussed the foreign trade of the Steel Corporation and shows that it had been built up, not by restraining or taking away from the others, but by creating its own. It is shown in the opinion that when the Steel Corporation was formed, the American steel companies had no dependable foreign trade. Such foreign steel sales as were then made consisted in what was known as "dumping," that is, in unloading or dumping steel at low prices in foreign markets when the American market was oversupplied.

Of the corporation's $91,000,000 of trade, the opinion says $30,000,000 is done in conjunction with 158 other American concerns, which companies made articles the steel company did not make, but got their basic supplies for making them from the Steel Corporation. The difficulties of establishing such foreign trade are discussed at length. It is shown that the tariffs of Germany, Italy, Austria and Russia prevented the sale of steel in those countries and the trade acquired had to be built up in other parts of the world. The foreign trade branch of the case is summed up by the court as follows:

"With these facts, figures and results proved in this record, we are warranted in holding that the foreign trade of the Steel Corporation, its mode of building it up and its retention when built up, are not contrary to the Sherman law."

In discussing the question of domestic and foreign trade generally, the court says:

"In taking up this question, we dismiss once and for all the question of the mere volume or figures of business. The question before us is not how much business was done, or how large the company that did it; the vital question is how was the business, whether big or little, done—was it, in the test of the Supreme Court—done by prejudicing the public interests, by unduly restricting or unduly obstructing trade? The question is one of undue restriction or obstruction and not one of undue volume of trade."

Having shown that when the bill was filed in 1911 the Steel Corporation was not monopolizing or restraining home or foreign trade and that no injunction should issue, the opinion then takes up the question whether, when the Steel Corporation was formed in 1911, its inherent nature was such as to necessitate its dissolution. After discussing the evidence on this question, the court said:

"Recurring therefore to the particular question with which the particular part of this opinion deals, namely, whether we should now enter a decree dissolving the Steel Corporation on the ground of its original inherent, illegal character in 1901 and whether we should also dissolve the several constitutent companies which it acquired on the like ground of their original inherent, illegal character when they were formed, we think there is ground for our holding in view of the facts, proofs and views set forth, that we are not as a court of equity warranted in taking such a drastic course as to now decree the dissolution of the Steel Corporation or its constituent companies."

The subsequent acquisition by the Steel Corporation of several other properties, including the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company and the James J. Hill ore leases are discussed in the opinion. The testimony of Col. Roosevelt that he had not interfered with the purchase of the Tennessee plant as a means of averting the panic of 1907 was cited and the court further stated that the Hill ore leases were surrendered before the bill was filed.

THE GARY DINNERS.

As to the Gary dinners and the meetings of manufacturers subsequent thereto, the court says:

"Freedom of speech and freedom of individual action are justly prized in American society and no legislation forbids men to come together and speak freely to each other about every detail of their common business. And if each individual should choose to announce at such a meeting the price he intends to charge for his wares, we are aware of no law that forbids him to do so. But at this point we approach debatable ground, for an individual is permitted to do some things that are denied to an association of individuals.

"To our minds, the testimony taken as a whole makes the conclusion inevitable that the result of these meetings was an undertaking about prices that was equivalent to an agreement. We have no doubt that among those present some silently dissented and went away intending to do what they pleased, but many, probably most, of the participants understood and assented to the view that they were under some kind of obligation to adhere to the prices that had been announced or declared as the general sense of the meeting. We cannot doubt that such an arrangement or understanding, or moral obligation—whatever name may be the most appropriate—amounts to a combination or common action forbidden by law. It is only fair to add that in our opinion the participants in this movement did not intend to act illegally. No doubt they did intend to exercise their full legal rights, but of course such exercise could not be wrong and they believed they had succeeded in keeping within the proper limits. For the reasons given, we think they were mistaken, but we acquit them of trickiness or attempted evasion.

"But the period of co-operation passed away before the bill was filed and as far as we can see it is not likely to be repeated. We do not think the Gary movement would justify us in imposing so drastic a penalty as the dissolution of the corporation, but we will, if the government moves for such action, retain the bill for the purpose of restraining any similar movement by the defendants that might be contemplated hereafter. We may, perhaps, suggest that under recent legislation Congress may have provided a sufficiently inclusive remedy for any future action that might have for its object the adoption or the maintenance of an unreasonable price."

THE INDEPENDENTS.

With regard to the government charge that the Steel Corporation had monopolistic control of ore resources the court said that all the basic plants of the Steel Corporation are inland and dependent on Lake Superior ores, while the Atlantic steel companies—Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and Maryland—have unlimited supplies of Cuban and other ores at water freights. The court further says:

"The proofs further show that with the enlargement of the Erie Canal system, Lake Superior ore will be canal freighted from Buffalo to New York Harbor at 28 cents a ton less than the same ore is rail freighted from Lake Erie to points in the Pittsburgh district. With the enlargement of that canal, the proofs are that blast furnaces are now planned for location on seaboard waters in New York Harbor limits."

CONCURRING OPINION.

The concurring opinion of Judge Woolley, which is adopted by Judge Hunt, draws the distinction between the actual power of the Steel Corporation to monopolize and the intent of those who formed it to actually monopolize.

As to its power to monopolize, Judge Woolley finds that with respect to its control over raw materials the corporation is acquitted of monopoly and the bill dismissed against the defendants Rockefeller, who are charged to have combined with the corporation in restraining trade in iron ores. As to finished product, he holds the Steel Corporation does not dominate; that its size and power have not retarded the growth of competitors, and distinguishing its power from the intent of its formers, it is not in its inherent nature a monopoly, nor is its effect to unduly restrain trade.

QUESTION OF INTENT.

On the question of intent Judge Woolley holds the intent of those forming it was to monopolize and unduly restrain trade, but that when organized the corporation was confronted by forces beyond its control and was affected by trade laws and conditions which, in its organization, were either forgotten or ignored, and in its combat with its competitors it was unable to do what its organizers intended, that lacking the power in itself of monopoly it was forced to resort to pools to control progress.

As to the intent of the corporation shown after its formation, Judge Woolley holds that the only conduct of the corporation violative of the statute was its co-operating with its competitors from 1901 to 1904, when it was stopped; in pool agreements, dividing territory and fixing prices; in meetings with its competitors from 1904 to 1907, when understandings were reached by which prices are controlled, and from then on in the Gary dinners and meetings. In the opinion of Judges Woolley and Hunt the organizers of the corporation intended to monopolize and restrain trade, but the Steel Corporation itself neither attempted nor was it able to monopolize and a decree for its dissolution should not be awarded.

SURPRISE AT CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Distinct surprise was evident at the Department of Justice and in government circles generally today when news came that the Federal Circuit Court of Appeal at Trenton had dismissed the government's suit for dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation.

Atty.-Gen. Gregory, after a lengthy conference with G. C. Todd, his assistant in charge of trust prosecutions, declined to make a statement as to the next move of the government in the case. It was generally believed, however, that an effort would be made to carry the suit, regarded as probably the most important ever brought under the Sherman law, to the Supreme Court. The general practice of the government has been to pursue all such cases to a final judgment in the court of last resort.

At the Department of Justice and at the White House administration officials were taken aback by the breadth of the court's decision. They had looked for at least a partial support for the government's charges against the steel company.

As soon as press dispatches announcing the decision reached Washington, Atty.-Gen. Gregory called in Mr. Todd for a conference. It is expected that before the next steps to be taken by the department are determined, President Wilson will be consulted on aspects of the case apart from the purely legal questions involved.

The Day Wedding, Church, Promenade, Afternoon Call—all have their clothes conventions.

To the man of limited wardrobe who would dress as befits these occasions, the Cutaway Frock is essential.

But 1915 brings these changes. Materials should be Worsted Vicuna in Oxford Gray or Black. Coat and waistcoat are flat-braided and "body-fitting," military. Trousers of the same materials or of striped Worsted.

And, "Gordan-Made" on your clothes really does Mean Something.

with fresh fruits and green vegetables—a food that clears the cob-webs from the brain-box and gives muscular vim and energy that enable a man or woman to do things. All the body-building material in the whole wheat made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. Being ready-cooked and ready-to-serve, Shredded Wheat is a boon to the tired housekeeper in Summer. Get the "health habit" by eating it for breakfast with milk or cream. Then try it for supper with sliced bananas, berries or fresh fruits.

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ECZEMA IN PIMPLES ON FACE, NECK

And Head. Itched Terribly. Prevented Sleeping. Burned When Scratched. Hair Fell Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In One Month Freed From Eczema.

Laclede, Idaho.—"My trouble began on my face, neck and head with small red pimples. They told me it was eczema. It itched terribly throughout the day and prevented me from sleeping at night. It burned terribly when I scratched it. My hair fell out and was very thin and lifeless.

"I took treatments but with no good results. I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and thought I would try them. So I bought a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and began to use them immediately. After using them two weeks I was relieved from the itching and a month later I was entirely freed from the eczema." (Signed) Amedee Morin, June 5, 1914.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite.

Sample Each Free by Mail

FALLS UNDER WHEELS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

YUCAIPA, June 2.—John Dodson, a farmer living in the east end of the valley, was seriously injured last night when he fell under the wheels of a heavily-loaded wagon. He was rushed to the Redlands Hospital, where it was found that several ribs were broken and that he was internally injured. The doctors will take an X-ray to determine his injuries. Dodson was driving his team on a road with which he was not acquainted. The front wheels of the wagon sank into a chuck hole and Dodson lost his balance, falling under the wheels, which passed over his body, and he was dragged some distance.

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the stork arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or known of that splendid external help, "Mother's Friend." It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in and has a most pronounced effect as a lubricant. It soothes the network of nerves, enables the muscles to expand naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and thus sets at ease any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with perfect safety. Expectant mothers thus go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and a freedom from many other distresses.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 491 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. It contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules on diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

FALSE REPORT CIRCULATED.

YUMA PROJECT AID NOT TO BE OPENED AT ONCE.

Disposition of Irrigable Land South of Third Parallel in Imperial Valley on Which Many Squatters Have Located not Yet Determined, Says Official.

The report in circulation in the Imperial Valley to the effect that the Interior Department will throw open at once for settlement all government land subject to irrigation south of the third parallel, which is causing the local land officials much trouble, is not true, according to a statement made yesterday by Gratz Helm, chief of the field division of the Land Office.

The land was withdrawn from settlement some years ago, in aid of what is known as the Yuma irrigation project, and involves several hundred thousand acres of fine land. It has been known for a long time that with the collapse of the Yuma scheme to irrigate the land it was the intention to open it to settlement, but when that will be done, and what is to become of the hundreds of persons, who, defying the orders of the government, went on the land and squatted after the area had been withdrawn, is undetermined.

It is also known that Secretary Lane and Congressman Kettner are trying to assist the "squatters" by having the Interior Department give them a preference right to the land upon which they have settled, but the plain wording of the law providing for the withdrawal prohibits that. Scores of men have spent thousands of dollars making homes for themselves in the withdrawn land, and it has stumped the department officials of two administrations to know what to do with them.

Some time ago George W. Comerford, an attache of the field division, spent five months among the settlers in the Imperial Valley, who are on the land involved in the withdrawal orders, investigating the status of each individual.

There is no information at the local Land Office confirming the purported information from Washington being spread in the Imperial Valley, and Chief Helm says he has the best of reasons for knowing that it is untrue at this time. The land will be opened, and the rights of the settlers adjusted somehow, but the issues are no more nearly settled now than they were a year ago.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 3.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.79; at 5 p.m., 29.79. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 61 deg. and 67 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 92 per cent.; 5 p.m., 64 per cent. WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The pressure is steadily increasing over the eastern half of the country and the weather is fair, except in New York, Pennsylvania and in the District of Columbia, where moderately heavy rain occurred. Washington received 1.78 inches. The western trough of low pressure moved steadily eastward, and heavy rain resulted in Wyoming, and showers from the Dakotas southerly into Colorado and Oklahoma. This depression will give local cloudiness, but it is expected that the area of high pressure, which has drifted in a somewhat northeasterly direction, will clear the skies in Los Angeles and vicinity Friday, and cause slowly increasing temperature.

IN BANK ON TROUT.

Three Federal Judges Will Pass on the Constitutionality of the Fish Law.

United States Circuit Judge Bledsoe and United States District Judge Bledsoe and Trippet will sit as a bank in the Federal Building Saturday week to hear arguments on the constitutionality of a section of the California fish and game laws, which prohibits the importation into the state and sale of trout weighing less than one pound. The provisions of the State commerce law, relating to traffic between the States, will also be discussed and passed upon by the court in bank, under the provisions of a federal enactment that makes it necessary of a court of three judges to pass upon the legality of a State law.

The action at bar arose recently when Judge Trippet denied the petition of the H. N. Welch Company of Salt Lake, Utah, in a case brought against the California Fish and Game Commission temporarily restraining the commission from seizing shipments of mountain trout propagated by the complainant firm, weighing less than one pound each.

CYCLES OF HISTORY UNROLLED AGAIN UNDER CHILDISH HANDS.

Panorama of the Ages Wrought in Brilliant Pantomime by More than Six Thousand Boys and Girls of the Public Schools of Los Angeles.

HISTORY written in the universal language of costume and pantomime moved in mighty procession around the great oval of the stadium yesterday in the initial showing of the school children's pageant, "The March of Empire."

Pageants have been of all ages. This was the pageant of pageants. It was a series of all the figures in that great gallery of historical paintings at Versailles had come to life under a midday sun; as if one looked on the screen of a cinematograph, upon which the endless film figures of old days revisited once more the glories of the sun.

It may that 6500 children took part in the pageant; that it was a riot of colors; that the story was told of the ages in successive tableaux, so as to refrain from superlatives where superlatives are due. To drag the affair down to the language of the press, it had Barnum & Bailey's, Hippodrom and the "movies" backed right off the boards, conclusively, finally and irrevocably.

From the days of the Senecan revival of the tragic and comic arts that followed, in Europe, upon the decline of the morality plays, the theater has consistently sought the effect illusion. This pageant was the illusions rolled into one, in spite of its setting in a timbered amphitheater, and its 10,000 or more spectators, trained as all good Americans are.

TWO-MILE PAGEANT.

Aside from the illusion of Dionysian revels of things done under the hideous rule of the latter Caesars and the days of imperial Rome, of course of the days of the padres in the land where sets the sun, the thought was that high, intermediate and grammar school children could be trained under the guidance of their teachers, the spirit of ages past. So they did. Another wonder was how even 6500 children could gather "footure" enough for a procession of all races that, by linear measure, was full two miles long.

But, as the gentleman who usually sits up in the grand stand at the ball park, remarked, after he had seen the parade Wednesday, "It is marvelous. You will have to hand it to the kids. I wouldn't have missed it—no siree, not even with 'Slim' Love in the box."

"Hand it to the kids" is what you have to do. They took a sawdust arena, garbed themselves in about 4,000,000 yards of cheesecloth, cornered the market on parier mache curios, and made history real. It was better than a year's diet of Ridpath, because it was all real. In fact, one hesitates to conceive what a quart bottle of whisky would have done to a man about the time the Roman Hectors marched into the arena or the "high history of the Holy Grail" was told in pictures, with due attention to almoners, pardoners and the deep religious undercurrent of the age.

LIVING HISTORY.

As Lamp might have said: "You would as soon strike an abstract idea as criticise this processional." From the first gong announcing the entrance of the Chinese street parade that opened the pageant until the show closed with the undulatory uplift and rhythmic movement gateward of the 6500 children that had banked themselves about the grand stand in the middle of the arena, it was all perfect. A poignant touch was the singing of "I Love You, California," at the very end.

That but 10,000 persons saw the affair is a pity. This number should be increased today, when the pageant will be re-enacted at 2:30 o'clock, until the very timbers of the stadium sway under their human load. As for the performance tomorrow at 2 o'clock, everybody that has a half holiday owes it to himself to go.

Not only is "The March of Empire" the greatest pageant that was ever produced in this country, numbers participating alone considered, but it is the most ambitious attempt to present history in living tableaux. Not only have the great motion picture companies never attempted anything along this line, but they probably never will attempt it, for the reason that the expense would drain even the longest pocketbook.

The children, getting down to a bedrock of facts, have produced something that only the pupils and teachers of the schools of a great city, working as a unit, could enact. They are giving a million-dollar show by and for Los Angeles, and, whether you have a child or not, you should go.

Of course, if you have a child, and he or she is in this pageant, the light that never was on sea or land is

MILLION BUCKS ON THE TABLE.

Farmer Loses Roll to Horse-race Swindlers.

Then They Borrow Hundred Dollars from Him.

Biggest Bunco Game of Late Reluctantly Told.

Henry B. Baumann is his name, but the neighbors back home call him "Hank," he says, and when two confidence men took him to a room and showed him a table covered with $100 bills, which Hank Baumann said "sure must have been better'n a million dollars, I calculate," he promptly agreed to get hold of $1500 to join in the fortune-making in playing the races.

The result was that Mr. Baumann of Baxter Springs, Kan., "looking around for the first time outside Kansas," came to Central Police Station yesterday with the information of the biggest bunco game since Lee Rial and "Nigger" Byrne were arrested. The two men took $1500 at one time, and $100 more which they borrowed.

When Mr. Baumann realized what had happened he was so reluctant about "getting them homefolks to gossiping and talking" that he kept his own counsel and grief, and only when an old neighbor, W. W. Webb, chanced to meet him yesterday, did he reveal how he had been victimized in the old bunco game of playing the races on sure things.

Three weeks ago Mr. Baumann, who had lived his 59 years on a farm and been to Kansas City twice in his life, came to Los Angeles. He was hunting favorable homesteads for four children who wished to locate in the West, and he came to Los Angeles while on the Coast to attend the expositions.

He walked and walked and looked about until he was wearied to nodding, and he dropped into a seat in Central Park for a restful snooze beneath the trees, where a faithful old fountain croons many to sleep every afternoon. Soon came a stranger.

THE STRANGER.

"John Bradford's my name, pal, and I'm from Nevada, best State in the Union if you're a lizard or a shooting star," was the introduction of the talkative man from Nevada.

"I was getting right smart lonely out here all alone," Mr. Baumann explained yesterday, so when Bradford began talking so whimsically and entertainingly Mr. Baumann gave ear, and returned with some Kansas anecdotes and witticisms that seemed to please the gentleman from Nevada mightily.

So they became friends, met next day, and went to Westlake Park to see the fish and ducks. The best stories of Nevada and Kansas were circulating to the mutual enjoyment of Mr. Bradford and Mr. Baumann, when money entered in the person of one claiming friendship with Bradford, who gave the name of E. L. Powers.

"Making money fast today," said Powers. "Just cleaned up $2000 on a race and am going over and bet another thousand on a 5 to 1 shot."

Mr. Baumann had never heard such language in the Kansas barnyard, but the sight of the heavy roll was recommendation that the talk must be good.

Bradford got avaricious. "Why don't you put me and my friend here in on some of this easy money."

Then came further information about betting on the horse races with an absolute certainty of winning.

BETTING BEGINS.

Mr. Baumann of Kansas opined he hadn't much of a betting man, nohow, and didn't calculate he would monkey any in this betting business. Betting, he held, was a sin, just one degree less vicious than dancing.

But Mr. Bradford would make money, so Powers took $2 from the Nevada man, and returned in a short time with $10.

There was chance for another race, and Mr. Baumann decided he would participate in the melon. So he advanced $5, and his alchemist friend returned with $25.

The races were over for the day, but the three did have one real talk under the trees in the park, unfolding to Mr. Baumann of Kansas the possibilities of becoming a millionaire.

Mr. Baumann went home that night to his East Fifth-street hotel and decided betting under such conditions was no sin, for there was no risk. He could buy each of his children a good farm and get one of those lumpy gold chains for his watch that he had always wanted.

Next day the three met again. Lucky for Mr. Hank Baumann of Kansas, the biggest killing of the year was to come off that afternoon, by secret advices right from the race track sent to Mr. Powers by his influential friend.

KILLING PACE.

How much money could Mr. Baumann get. Well, sir, he had $1500 in the bank at Miami, Okla. Mr. Bradford wasn't going to be any piker, not much, with a chance like that. He was going to bet $5000. Mr. Baumann felt almost guilty to put up only $1500, but he eagerly drew a draft on the home bank and secured the money.

Then Powers took them to the place he called the "station," a splendid house, Mr. Baumann said, somewhere near Westlake Park, but he could not locate it yesterday.

They went into the room where fortunes were made, and there flashed the vision that made Mr. Baumann determined to mix with millionaires and foreign dukes forever, and leave Baxter Springs, Kan., gasping.

"There sure was $1,000,000 right there on the table. Man, I never see so much money plumb in my life all put together. By doggies, if it wasn't enough to make you blink. I allow there was easy $1,000,000, and Powers says that's part of his winnings."

Mr. Baumann was doubly convinced that any game that could procure such wealth was the game for old Hank Baumann to play, and he put his $1500 on Flying Katydid to win the derby and the Baumann fortune.

LOSES; LOANS.

They went into the park for a stroll, and then returned, and then Mr. Baumann was so shocked that he doesn't recall all details clearly—but then came the word that Flying Katydid didn't do as she was being done by. The horse was not loyal to Mr. Baumann of Kansas. She lost.

But, then, the other two were not disappointed. Of course, they had lost $10,000 or so, but that didn't amount to much. They would make that up in a few days; tomorrow, in fact.

Unfortunately, Powers got word that day he was transferred to Topeka, Kan., so the three decided to meet in Topeka within a few days. Mr. Baumann bought a ticket for Topeka to resume operations. Mr. Powers borrowed $50 for his ticket to Kansas, just a loan for a few hours, and Mr. Bradford also borrowed fare for his ticket.

Mr. Baumann got as far as Las Vegas, N. M., when he decided there probably was something crooked about this thing. He thought so long and so earnestly that he decided to return to Los Angeles and see if Bradford and Powers had left, for all were going separately. And then Mr. Webb met him, and the police are doing their best to help Mr. Baumann of Kansas in quest of his flown fortune.

STATE WILL BUILD VALLEY ROAD LINKS.

Connections with Yuma to be Constructed by Highway Commission this Winter — Controversy Over the Best Route from Riverside and San Diego in Ocean-to-ocean Boulevard Settled by Governor and Board.

THE long fight for the Imperial Valley link in the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway has been determined by the State Advisory Board, consisting of the Governor, the State Engineer and Highway Commission, with a decision on the part of the State to take over the entire system linking the boulevards of Southern California with the transcontinental line at Yuma.

A telegram from Charles F. Stern of the State Highway Commission to Assemblyman W. A. Avey of Riverside county yesterday brought the news which will gladden the heart of everyone interested in good roads.

The effect of taking over the road system by the State is of the greatest magnitude. It means that the two routes in Imperial Valley to Yuma will be completed at once and that the three-counties system now under construction will be built under the supervision of the State and maintained from the funds of the $18,000,000 bond issue.

The bills for the construction of the road from Holtville known as the Sandhill road, and that providing for the Salton Sea link, are not to be signed by the Governor, according to the telegram received by Assemblyman Avey. Instead, the State will do more than both bills provided.

The State will take over the entire road system provided for in the bills, and, with convict labor and maintenance funds from the motor vehicle department, will improve the sections covered by the bills this coming winter. In addition, the State will amply provide for traffic over impassable sections.

ENDS ALL DIFFERENCES.

The action means that all differences over the preferred route to Yuma are dissipated, and the road systems of Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial counties are to be handled as one by the State, affording direct connection with the good roads of Los Angeles and San Diego counties.

One bill provided for $100,000 for the building of the eight-mile road from Holtville; the Avey bill provided for building twenty-four miles of road from the Oasis ranch along the Salton Sea to Brawley. These bills were passed and sent to the Governor.

Instead of signing them, the Governor, a member of the Advisory Board which has the disposition of the bond issue, decided to go further by taking all the road making over.

Imperial county will spend $50,000 on culverts and bridges, and this will aid in constructing that link. The Los Angeles and San Diego trunks will meet at El Centro. Riverside county is spending $220,000 and San Bernardino county $280,000 on good roads, which will be linked up with the Ocean-to-Ocean highway over the desert system.

EFFECTIVE AND SURE.

Instead of building the two links under separate appropriations, it is thought more effective work can be done by having the work constructed with convict labor and with money from the motor vehicle fund, and that all interests will be better served by the State taking over the work and carrying it on and maintaining it in future.

The importance of the action of the State Advisory Board is not minimized in any of the counties affected, nor will it be when the people of Southern California understand the utility of this important link. The dream of a road to Yuma is about to be realized.

"This solution," said Assemblyman Avey yesterday, "pleases us immensely in Riverside and Imperial counties, and is far superior to what we could have received under the Imperial county bills. We have won our fight, and better than we ever expected to win."

Originally, there was a conflict of interest in the linking of the highway through Yuma with the coast road system by the desert route. The State Board of Control had approved the appropriation of $200,000 for a road from San Diego to El Centro and over the sand hills to Yuma. The northern end of the valley asked for a highway from the Riverside county line through Brawley, and from there by way of the Mammoth Wash to Yuma.

Later the Mammoth Wash route was abandoned, and all factions got together behind the two bills.

The abandonment of the two bills, said Assemblyman Avey, is more than a compromise, for it goes further in offering assistance in the construction of two important links in the highway.

Notorious Case Comes to an Acute Issue.

Mrs. Curtis C. Legerton,

Plaintiff in a divorce action against the former "boy-judge" of the Superior Court. It was filed yesterday.

To Sunder the Tie.

HUSBAND'S SUIT FAILS, NOW THE WIFE TRIES.

THE trials and tribulations of Curtis C. Legerton, former judge of the Superior Court for a brief period, were added to yesterday afternoon, when Joyce Edna Legerton, his estranged wife, filed suit for absolute divorce. A. A. Kidder, attorney for Mrs. Legerton, last night refused to comment on the action, and would not divulge the nature of the grounds on which it is based.

Mrs. Legerton, found at the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Burgess, No. 4047 West Seventh street, nervously referred all inquiry to her attorney.

Curtis C. Legerton, the defendant, appeared rather cheerful over the affair when seen last night. The news of the proceedings came as a surprise to him, he said. Later he admitted that he was expecting just such action, as he had heard rumors of it a week ago.

"I understand I am to be sued for divorce on the grounds of desertion," he said. "Of course I have not been served as yet and therefore do not know just what they are up to. A week ago I heard through certain channels I was to be served with divorce proceedings and that they were to be based on the desertion charge. As a matter of fact, my wife has absolutely no grounds on which to procure such a divorce."

The checkered history of the Legerton family dates back to a social dance held during February, 1913. It was at this entertainment that Curtis Legerton, the young attorney, met pretty Joyce Burgess. A short and romantic courtship culminated May 9, 1913, with an elopement to Orange county. Returning after the marriage, the young couple were severely reprimanded and forgiven.

Three months of wedded bliss and trouble began. Since that time suits and counter suits, interspersed with a terrific quarrel over the naming of the baby boy, have marked the lives of the two. The question of the child's name was settled only when Mrs. Legerton quietly took her baby to the First Congregational Church and had the boy christened Robert Burgess Legerton without the knowledge of the father, who wanted his offspring named Curtis C., Jr.

The action filed yesterday is not the first divorce suit to ruffle the leaves of the Legerton family tree. Within the past year Mr. Legerton has tried, through the divorce court, to separate himself from his wife. He failed, and so the wife is now endeavoring to accomplish the same result from a different angle.

Attorney Kidder, who is usually approachable, tightened visibly yesterday.

"I don't want to talk in this matter," he said. "There will be enough to write about between now and the trial. No, I won't explain that statement. But there are several good reasons why I should not talk at present."

Mrs. Legerton talked freely last night, but failed to say very much that is definite. She referred all questions to Mr. Kidder.

Contrasting strangely with his wife's attitude, Mr. Legerton went into details of the entire history of his trouble.

Mr. Legerton said he had not decided whether he would defend himself or call in another attorney. At all events, he will contest the action.

NEW SCHEDULE OF SALARIES.

Teachers Must Apply for the Position and Rating.

No More Specialists; Many to Face Decrease.

Electioneering Principal in Board Inquiry.

In announcing he new schedule of salaries for teachers of the Los Angeles schools next year, the Board of Education yesterday made it very plain that every teacher must apply for the position desired and the salary that such a position prescribes. Special teachers are automatically discontinued, they in the future being scheduled among the regulars at regular salaries.

This means a decrease in the salaries of the teachers who have been on the list of specialists, someof them being forced to accept as much as $240 a year less than they have been getting if they desire to remain on the city pay roll. Judge Hewitt ruled that this action was fair in a decision just a few days ago, and County Superintendent Keppel made the first enforcement until the new law.

George E. Larkey, principal of the Polytechnic Seventh-street school, who just prior to the last election mailed and published circular letters indorsing and boosting the nonpartisan candidates for the Board of Education, was called to the carpet by President Cook and asked for an explanation of this procedure. Principal Larkey declared that he violated no rule, not having distributed or causing to be distributed, any of the matter on the school premises, and declaring that whatever electioneering he had done was in his right as a citizen of Los Angeles and not as a school official.

In this circular letter, he had attacked extravagance and unnecessary expenditures in various schools, for which statement he was not only censured, but was ordered to bring a written statement setting forth specific instances of such extravagance and improper disposition of funds before the board at its next meeting.

The board ordered that the contract for the construction of the Rose Hill school be awarded the Broadway Construction Company owing to the inability of Contractor Ed Arnaelsteen, the previous low bidder, to make good on his figures. The lots adjacent to the Rose Hill-street school were ordered purchased to make possible an addition to the structure.

Nine of the newly-elected board members were on hand to witness the proceedings or to become acquainted with the conditions and business affairs of the present body.

GIRL MISSING; SEARCH IS ON.

MOTHER THINKS SHE IS HELD AGAINST HER WILL.

Foul Play Also Suspected—Disappeared Tuesday Night—Possible Clew May Lead to Arrest Today in One of Beach Towns—Motion-picture Actress Under Suspicion.

"My daughter is being detained somewhere against her will. I believe that someone has got my girl into their clutches and that she is unable to get away." This statement made last night to the police by Mrs. L. Y. Byrne, No. 325 West Forty-second street, started a city-wide search for 19-year-old Genevieve Byrne, who failed to return to her home last Tuesday evening after working all day in a telephone office.

Sergt. Marden, in charge of the juvenile bureau of the police, immediately detailed every member of his bureau to search for the missing girl. Every patrolman was supplied with a description of Miss Byrne and all the police detectives were notified by Acting Chief Home to keep a lookout for her.

Leaving one of the large downtown telephone offices early Tuesday evening, Miss Byrne, after telling girl friends at the office that she was going home, dropped from sight. Detectives, working up to a late hour last night, declined to discuss the case but declared that they have unearthed a clew which today may result in an arrest at one of the beach towns and the recovery of the girl.

According to Sergt. Marden with whom Mrs. Byrne discussed the case, the girl must have met with some foul play. "After a careful investigation," declared the Sergeant last night.

"I am sure that Miss Byrne is held somewhere in this city or in one of the beach towns. From the other girls at the telephone company and from all other persons who know Miss Byrne, I have learned that the girl has a good reputation and has never gone out with any young men."

One of the detectives learned last night that Miss Byrne after leaving the telephone company was met near her home by a motion-picture actress and for some time was seen about a hotel in the 1300 block on South Hill street. Still in the company of the actress, the girl is declared to have gone to one of the beach towns. The police were unable to learn last night if there were any men in the party, but declared it their belief that the actress is keeping company with someone who lives at the beach.

Early today police detectives will leave for the beach. Every town there will be searched.

Miss Byrne is five feet five inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. She has blue-grey eyes and brown hair. Her cheeks are rosy. The girl was dressed in a blue serge suit and a blue hat trimmed with flowers. She is of Irish descent.

LYRICAL MOOD PREDOMINATES.

A BRIEF NOTE OF PROGRAMME OF ORPHEUS CLUB.

Many Pleasing Features Mark Selections Given by Organization Before Large Audience at its Third Concert for this Season. Soloist Proves Delightful.

BY EDWIN F. SCHALLERT.

Listeners held away over a very enjoyable programme presented by the Orpheus Club, under the direction of Joseph P. Dupuy, at its third concert of the season, last night at Trinity Auditorium. A large audience was in attendance.

Sometimes the lyrical note assumed even a dramatic character as in the "Break, Break, Break," of G. Mortimer White, a setting of Tennyson's words, or "The Assyrian Came Down," by Cyril Jenkins, and one or two other numbers. Again it took on a more formal aspect as in the case of "Eccolo," an arrangement of Mrs. H. H. Beach's song for mezzo, soprano solo and chorus, but throughout the singing it was dominant.

Mrs. Maude Reeves Barnard, the soloist of the evening, with the velvet sweetness of her well placed voice was also essentially lyrical. Her singing won her a large share of the evening's applause. While greater vocal in mood would be desirable for her work at times, and while some would more power in sustaining and carrying over phrases was usually felt, her renditions were artistic and very pleasing. She sang the arias in "Ecstasy" and also Brahms "Rhapsodie," as well as a group of songs, which she followed with an encore, Cadman's "At Dawning."

In the arrangement of Mrs. Beach's breathlessly beautiful "Eccolo" there affords considerable difficulties, but as satisfactory as might be. It is written in something of the form of a quartette style. The Brahms "Rhapsodie" proved a striking number and was very well executed.

Also in the lighter numbers like "Repeat," with its faint echo of the music close of the second act of "La Boheme," and "Three Little Maids," that the club triumphed. "Good Out for Charlie," won an encore. There were some uncertainties which marred "Forest Harps," as far as lacking the best effects in the matter of smoothness and shading were noted. As an extra closing song the club gave "Mia California."

Individual solos by club members marked the progress of the programme which was given by Raymond C. Elliott, Dr. E. Coley and R. T. Cheatham. Mr. Conway gave an excellent account of himself at the piano.

FOLLOW ASTER SUIT CLOSED.

Following the final arguments of counsel on both sides, Judge Rogers of the superior county closed a special session last Wednesday night in Department Ten by taking under advisement the suit of Mrs. Stella M. Aster, widow of John Singleton of the Follow Aster mine, against Ward Aster, executor under Mr. Singleton's will. The case had been tried, and the night was set apart by Judge Rogers to hear the arguments of the attorneys.

Mrs. Chapman, assisted by his father, L. M. Chapman, argued his case. Mrs. de Pauw was represented by Herbert J. Gudge and W. Mr. and Mrs. De Pauw were in court last night during the proceedings, and signified their changing views by vigorous movements of their heads.

PRETTYMAN IN WHIFFEN'S PAY?

Fake Vote Buyer Employed by Committeeman?

Unpaid Workers to Bring Suit Against Higher-ups.

Jackpot Raised; not Touched After Election.

That H. E. Prettyman, fake vote buyer, who disappeared without paying 1000 election-day workers for the late lamented Mr. Whiffen, was employed by the Whiffen Campaign Committee and that his activities in the conduct of the "Business Men's Committee" were with the knowledge and acquiesence of prominent members of the Whiffen committee, was established yesterday by the police.

Today the workers will hold a mass-meeting at which time all those who hold yellow tickets will assign their claims to one man who will bring suit against F. J. Whiffen and Campaign Manager Snowden through Attorney Rogers.

Mr. Rogers, who was appealed to by a committee of seven unpaid workers yesterday, has collected evidence, affidavits and statements purporting to show that Prettyman worked in conjunction with the Whiffen committee and that $3500 was appropriated by the committee to pay the first batch of workers the morning after election.

One of the thousand unpaid told Attorney Rogers that he was informed by a member of the Whiffen Executive Committee that the reason the $3500 was not taken to the room in the California Building was because none of the Whiffen committee dared appear as a party to the transaction and Prettyman was afraid to show up.

Several hundred of the unpaid workers were addressed by members of the committee at Eighth and Broadway last night. H. Becker, chairman of the committee of seven, notified the workers that a meeting will be held tonight at which time definite action will be taken. All men and women workers who hold yellow tickets are asked to appear at this meeting and assign claims so that action may be started at once.

Attorney Rogers assured the committee yesterday that he will bear the court costs and expense of bringing suit.

"My only interest in the matter," said Mr. Rogers last night, "is that such a thing cannot occur again. It is an outrage to allow such an affair. Here is an excellent chance for the District Attorney to reach the higher-ups responsible for the atrocious treatment of men and women. The purity of election laws covers this transaction and I am willing to turn over sufficient evidence to convict and offer my assistance in prosecuting those men who are responsible."

President Whiffen turned from canvassing his and other votes yesterday to say that he knew nothing of the Prettyman committee and was in no way responsible for its actions.

Campaign Manager Snowden said that so far as he knew the only money Prettyman received from the Whiffen committee was $15 for an advertisement in a mushroom paper.

The night before election Prettyman was endeavoring to have some literature printed which bore on the organization known as the "Business Men's Committee." In the presence of prominent Whiffen campaign committeemen he said he had tried to get the literature printed, but was unable to do so. Later, however, he had the work done. The literature in question was paid for by the Whiffen committee.

The police are still seeking Prettyman. He will be arrested on sight.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) With one accord, financiers and business men of large holdings united in a prediction that the industrial activity in the United States would be greater than ever before, because of the decision of the Federal Court in refusing to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation. Nothing in years has given business men more confidence than this decision. All stocks and bonds rose from one to ten points, copper and steel leading. The demand for copper is stronger than for many years. Wheat is gradually rising on a resumption of foreign demand.

(Abroad:) The French Minister of Finance has asked for $100,000,000 additional for war purposes. This makes a total of $4,800,000,000 used since the war began.

BRANDEIS THE MIZRACHIST.

Brandeis, the Boston butter-in, is a high-grade opportunist. He has found time from his duties as special attorney—appointed by himself for himself—in connection with the McAdoo suit to press upon the New York Mizrachi (the orthodox division of the Zionist movement) the suggestion that "the immediate unsettlement and the ultimate settlement which must come at the end of the European war gives us Zionists and the Jews throughout the world an opportunity which they have not had since the destruction of Jerusalem"—to acquire Palestine real estate at bargain prices.

It is to be hoped that Brandeis and Gifford Pinchot and Amos Pinchot will open real estate offices in Jerusalem and thrive there—and stay there, above all, stay there.

NO MORE TURKEY.

"Bring me some turkey," said the belated guest at the Thanksgiving dinner. "Sorry, suh," was the reply of the colored waiter, "but dar ain't no moah turkey. De turkey am done gone."

Ever since the Crimean war England and France have demanded that in times of peace the Dardanelles should be closed to all war vessels other than those of Turkey, and, as the Balkan powers have no navies, this inhibition applied to Russia alone in times of peace, and in war times the straits would be closed to ships of peace as well as ships of war.

Russia has always desired, not only the free opening of the Dardanelles at all times, but she has wanted Constantinople. She has hungered for the city which has been aptly described as "the greatest commercial site in Europe, occupying, as it does, the position of the gateway to the east and west."

Constantinople in the hands of Russia or as an independent state protected by the allied powers would become not only a great commercial city, but the greatest naval and military station in the world, with a secure exit into the Mediterranean and line of retreat from it.

German statesmen were keenly alive to the situation, and the bribe which the Kaiser is said to have given the Sultan to become an ally of Germany and Austria in their fight against Great Britain, France and Russia was to guarantee Turkey a renewal of her dominion in Egypt.

On the other hand the bribe which it is alleged France and Great Britain—with the grudgingly-accorded consent of Russia—offered Turkey was a guarantee of her possessions in Europe and Asia if she would remain neutral.

The ambition of Enver Pasha led him to reject the offer of the allies and accept that of Germany. The result may be that the Sultan will repeat the experience of the dog who lost his bone in an attempt to grasp the shadow of it in the water, for the entrance of Italy into the contest makes it possible that at the end of the European war there may be in Europe "no more Turkey."

Italy desires to hear a Latin mass chanted under the dome of the great basilica in Constantinople. Russia wants an unobstructed passage from Odessa to the Mediterranean. Great Britain wants to retain her dominion over Egypt. France wants to hoist the tricolor in Syria. Rumania and Bulgaria want freedom from Turkish aggression. If the allies win, then, under the agreement which, it is believed, exists between them, Russia will obtain not only a free passage through the Dardanelles for her ships, but she will be granted the reversion of Constantinople or at least the city of the Golden Horn will be made an independent sovereignty under the joint protectorate of Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy.

Then the Caliph will disappear from Europa. Hagia Sophia will be lost to the Mahometan faith, and Constantinople—which Mohamed II, by his military genius and power, wrested from the Emperor Constantine 463 years ago—will become either a part of Russia or an independent Christian power.

"How," it may be asked, "will that harm Germany?" It will harm her because, if Turkey vanishes from the map of Europe, a Slavonic barrier will be interposed between the home territory of Germany and her dreams of empire in Asia Minor, and there will be a complete economic severance of the Germanic races from a commercial exit to the sea at Salonica.

Russia was pleased at the addition of Turkey to the German-Austrian alliance. It enabled her to demand that Turkey should be driven out of Europe, a result she has desired for sixty years, but has been unable to achieve single-handed, but which she may now hope to see accomplished with the aid of Great Britain, France and Italy.

ANTI-VIVISECTION IN CALIFORNIA.

Man's inhumanity to his own kind, as evidenced in the present European conflict, does not seem to have yet extended to the brute kingdom. During the anti-vivisection hearing at Sacramento last week Gov. Johnson announced that he had received more telegrams and cablegrams concerning that measure than about any other act of the Legislature since the days of the Alien Land Bill. Among the messages favoring the bill were two cables, one from Paris and another from London. It seems that philanthropic societies over there have not permitted the smoke and the gases of the trans-Atlantic battlefields to blind them to the pain and suffering that civilization still inflicts on its slaves of the animal kingdom.

This hearing also illustrated well that the doctrine of the survival of the fittest has not yet lost its force and that necessity, however cruel, forms the base of all human laws. Experts of international reputation testified that vivisection is the tribute that the lower creations must pay for the scientific progress of the human race, that the necessities of mankind are imperative and that all lower forms of life, both animal and vegetable, must be considered in the last analysis only in their relation to our physical needs. One breed is trapped and slain because it is harmful to human kind, another because the human race fattens on its flesh, and still others that their fur or plumage may adorn the female of the human brute. It would seem that civilization, like the crab, can only move forward by going backwards.

There was pathos in the appeal of one little white-haired woman to the array of medical men present: "Is it possible that with all the accumulated wisdom of the ages progress and cruelty cannot yet be separated?" With equal sadness a noted surgeon responded: "Pain is the price we still must pay. Motherhood passes through a Gethsemane that new life may be produced, and every step forward is along a pathway of anguish and suffering. Serums are a boon for many forms of disease, but to produce them animals must suffer." This same little woman exposed the heedless sentiment that creeps into the ranks of some of the societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals. "I stood in the streets of Oakland last week," she said, "and saw a woman wearing a plumed hat and costly furs seeking to have a workman arrested for driving a lame horse."

One of the fallacies of our present "Progressive" administration was exposed by Senator Brown, himself a "Progressive," while supporting the bill. He called attention to the fact that the bill does not prohibit vivisection, but provides that the laboratories shall be at all times open to inspection and investigation by humane officers. "We have investigated everything else in the State," he asserted, "why must our progress cease when we reach the door of the laboratory? Does there still remain a trust outside the law?"

This brought a tart response from the Governor, who did not relish the turn the hearing was taking; but the anti-vivisectionists succeeded in calling attention to the fact that there are none but practicing physicians on the State Medical Board; and they asked why it should be so composed when there are no active railroad men on the Railroad Commission and no sheriffs on the State Prison Board. If a layman nosing about in a laboratory would be so offensive that the experiments could not be conducted properly, why does not the argument hold equally good in regard to State interference with other lines of private business? But the only effect of this inquiry was to bring down the wrath of the Chief Executive on the heads of the anti-vivisectionists. There are certain things in "Progressive" politics, as in medicine and religion, over which the average citizen sleeps soundest if he accepts them on faith as rules to be obeyed, not discussed.

THE FOLLY OF IT.

Man was made superior in intelligence to the beasts that perish, yet he has a lot to learn from the actions of the most insignificant insect. Two foolish flies would never start to fight over a lump of sugar while hogsheads of molasses were going begging. Human intelligence naturally revolts from following the example of the ridiculous house fly.

So Russia neglects the huge molasses barrel she has in Siberia and proceeds to fight with Austria over a small lump of sugar on the Adriatic Sea. In Argentina and Brazil, in Paraguay and Uruguay are vast unpopulated regions containing some of the richest land in the world. Here are sun places galore for the surplus population of Germany, here millions can bask in peace and plenty. But no human intelligence suggests a fight to the finish between the German hornet and the British bumble bee over the little cube of sugar occupied by the Belgian fly.

Perhaps the lower beasts lack ambition. They have not learned the higher conception of the duties of nationalism. The higher duties of nationalism are not to make your people happier or more comfortable, but to write their names on some portion of the map where someone else had previously written another name—even if you have to kill off half your available workers and exhaust all your available resources in doing it.

Herds of antelope do not line up in opposing armies over a small piece of grazing land when all around them are virgin forests on which they can browse to their hearts' content. They have been blessed with nothing more than mere animal instinct. And shall man, proud man, sink his lofty intelligence to the level of this undeveloped "animal instinct"? No; billions of acres of the finest land on the globe may be waiting for the plow and the harvester, to increase the general sum of happiness, reduce the percentage of poverty and enrich the nationals of any country willing to redeem them. But this helps only the individual.

Human intelligence cannot so stultify itself. Because self-preservation is the first law of nature it must be made the last law of nationalism. Every fly is a fly and every antelope an antelope and every elephant an elephant, but every man must not be a man. He must be first of all a Teuton or a Franc of an Anglo-Saxon or a Slav or a Latin. Only for Britain or Germany or Russia or Italy must he use his God-given advantages; he must prove his devotion to divinity by sacrificing his love for humanity.

If a man were a man first and a national afterwards there could be no more scientific warfare, and how could a Teuton glorify Germany by cultivating new land in Paraguay or how could a Britisher enlarge England's sphere of activity by building up a happy home for his children in sunny California? Then a man would be simply a man just as an elephant is simply an elephant—and that would be a dreary climax to centuries of blood-shedding over imaginary boundary lines whose shifting is never permanently accepted and the quarreling over which has filled every city in the world with wrecks and criminals and imbeciles and paupers.

What folly! Why not be citizens of the world first and nationals afterwards? Why not have one world government with power to adjust all disputes in every part of the globe? Why not preserve the goodness of the earth for the sons of men, not destroy the sons of men to limit the earth's productive powers? Why could not Europe and Asia and Africa and America be as loyal to an intercontinental government as Maine and Texas and California are to the government in Washington? A United States of the world—why not?

On this earth there is room and there is sustenance for all its inhabitants, its resources are infinite. A man should emigrate from Germany or France or England to Brazil or Chile or California and be still under the same general law and loyal to the same central government as a citizen is who moves from Massachusetts to Oregon.

Then we could cease quarreling over boundary lines and spheres of influence and all be truly men; then and only then poverty and discontent will disappear. Some day the human race will display the amazing intelligence of bees and ants and coral insects. They will combine to preserve the species instead of splitting up to destroy it. Nationalism will be replaced by internationalism. God speed the day!

DESTROYING THE SUEZ CANAL.

The investment made in 1875 by Great Britain of $20,000,000 for a controlling interest in the stock of the Suez Canal Company is in danger of coming to grief, and what is of greater consequence than the direct money loss is that the ships of Europe that are engaged in the Orient trade may be forced to go through the Panama Canal or steam around the Cape of Good Hope.

The Spes Canal, constructed through a desert and kept open by constant dredging, revolutionized the main lines of international traffic and restored to the Mediterranean countries and to Northern and Western Europe a lion's share in the commerce of the world.

Turkey claims now that Great Britain has violated its agreement made in 1888 to keep no warships in the Suez Canal and not to fortify it, and that France has landed troops in Egypt, over which country Turkey has never relinquished its suserainty, and that this imposes upon the government of the Sultan a necessity to extend hostilities to the Suez Canal.

Great Britain may save the situation by placing an army of occupation and a powerful and numerous fleet to guard the sea and land approaches to the Suez Canal and so prevent the government of Turkey from carrying out its threat to begin a submarine warfare against vessels leaving the Suez Canal and ultimately to destroy the canal itself.

From a military standpoint Turkey has a long way the best of the situation. It is but a few hours' sail from the Turkish port of Gaza to the Mediterranean entrance to the canal and only about a hundred miles by land across friendly, not to say subservient Arabia, to the Red Sea outlet of the canal. It will cost the allies ten or twenty times as much to preserve the canal and keep it open as it will cost Turkey to destroy it or keep it closed.

Our Latest Additions.

WAR SUPPLIES FOR EUROPE.

Up to last week Great Britain and Russia had placed in Canada war orders to the amount of $425,000,000. Of this amount $242,000,000 was for shells, $75,000,000 for provisions and clothing and $100,000,000 for miscellaneous war supplies.

Italy has ordered 200,000 tons of coal from the Consolidation Coal Company of Philadelphia, 26,200 tons of steel bars for the manufacture of shrapnel and high-explosive shells from the United States Steel Corporation, $5,000,000 worth of steel from the New York Air Brake Company, 5000 tons of steel from the Baldwin Locomotive Works and several million dollars' worth of munitions from the Poole Engineering Company of Baltimore—to be delivered in July.

Great Britain has ordered 1000 tons of horseshoes from the American Steel and Wire Company. One thousand skilled workmen are employed by the Builders Iron Foundry Company of Providence, R. I., making gun casting machinery for the allies. Russia has placed a large order for shrapnel shells with the F. R. Patch Manufacturing Company of Rutland, Vt. The Scoville Manufacturing Company of Waterbury, Ct., is operating at full capacity filling orders for sixteen-inch shrapnel shells for the British government.

The Great Western Distillery at Peoria, Ill., is making 60,000 gallons of spirits a day for the allies to be used for explosives.

Russia is depending on Archangel and Vladivostok as ports of entry for war supplies. There is only a single line of rail from each of these ports to the fighting front, and the movement is comparatively slow.

The purchasing nations are compelled to send their own ships here for the war supplies. Neutral vessels will not carry them, and the American manufacturers require cash on delivery at the factory doors.

If Congress had enacted a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of war supplies by private persons or corporations it might have limited the duration of the war, but would not have prevented it altogether, since Canada was able to make $425,000,000 worth.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

TALKING SICKNESS.

Your liver may be out of joint, your spare ribs raw and sore, you may be driven to anoint your spavins more and more, but talk of more uplifting things than aches and fell disease; discuss the mocking bird that sings its ragtime in the trees; discuss the virtues of your cook, or quote Ed Markham's rhyme, or talk about the latest book by E. P. Oppenheim. The dreariest of human bores is that one who explains the facts about his aches and sores, his bunions and his sprains. He tires us with his tales of bile that runs in turgid brooks, and everyone will spring a smile when he goes off the hooks. I've always found that those who spieled of pains that never ceased, until the hearer's blood congealed, were those who suffered least. The martyrs with rheumatic limbs, whose life should be a curse, are often busy singing hymns because things are no worse. But talking of the ills that make your nervous system jump, won't drive away a throbbing ache, or cure a single mump. 'Twill only bore the friends you have, their peace your whining spoils; so talk of songs instead of salve, of books instead of boils.

A DIVIDED CHRISTIANITY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

A far-reaching decision has just been concluded in the stronghold of the Episcopal church—the Church of England. It blossoms with hope for the future and helps to restore the ebbing faith in Christianity.

Reading the decision today one realizes that it could not have been otherwise, yet even a decade ago such large-minded toleration would have been unthinkable. For Christianity had elected to divide itself up into so many sects, disagreeing with each other so sternly and intolerantly on what seemed to the average layman such petty points of procedure for the worship of the Lord that they were more bitterly opposed to each other than to the non-Christian religions.

The question just decided was raised by the Bishop of Zanzibar, who has figured in numerous disputes on orthodoxy, obviously a hard, stern Anglican, a survival of the cold, unrelenting exponents of gentle Christianity who flourished in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

It is known as the Kikuyu incident. That is the name of a village in tropical East Africa, where the earnest Presbyterian missionary called a conference of all the church missionaries engaged in converting the East African heathens, no matter what their special sect, in 1913. Numerous Episcopalian clergy, including the bishops of Mombassa and Uganda, attended and the sacrament was administered by the bishop of Mombassa to all delegates as a finale to a conference that was an honest endeavor to co-operate in the good work to pull together on the thesis that unity is strength for greater efficiency, for larger results.

The Zanzibar prelate took upon himself to protest to headquarters and that summer the newspapers of England devoted many columns to a heated controversy in which all the bitterness of which the church has shown itself capable was aired throughout the land. But it was interesting then to observe that the majority of voices were raised on behalf of tolerance, numerous bishops lending themselves to this side of the controversy.

At each succeeding convention in England the matter has continued in dispute, but the recent church convention has seen the matter finally closed, on the side of tolerance. The Archbishop of Canterbury, with a majority of the bishops and pastors on his side, has decided that the bishops of Mombassa and Uganda were justified in administering communion to all devout Christians under the unusual circumstances. The fact that the spiritual lords have been careful to add a rider that this should not be regarded as a precedent is a sop to the minority feeling, but the fact remains that Christian tolerance has gained a foothold, that a gracious precedent has been set for the co-operation of all Christian sects, which will go far to make of missionary labor less of a pettifogging recruiting agency for claiming partisan followers, more of a real endeavor to claim adherents to Jesus Christ and his humane doctrines.

I have seen so much of missionary work in my ten years traveling in South Africa and it is safe to say that one of the most serious difficulties under which the missionary labors is the competitive enthusiasm of his brother workers of other sects. The untutored native mind could not understand how this doctrine of Christianity could be so divided, apparently at such cross purposes, while professing loyalty to one Lord. The net result has so often been the mere opening up of trade routes for the ensuing merchants, for the introduction of a specious civilization that taught the childlike savage new sins of which he had never dreamed. The missionary succeeded in undermining the rude faith, the crude code of morals upon which the native had been reared without giving him a sufficiently firm hold on the new faith, the better and more worthy ideals of civilization.

In America, which boasts more religious sects than any other country, the spirit of toleration has long been recognized and exercised. And in nearly all rescue work among the saddest of humanity the city missionaries have found it necessary to be non-sectarian, thus the work of the Bible Society, the Salvation Army and the Christian associations have been satisfied if their disciples attended any church, served the Lord from any standpoint, just so long as they endeavored to serve the Lord at all.

This movement has had to work from the bottom up, instead of from the polished intellects down, but the ideal is none the less making for success, reaping obvious rewards.

When Mayor Rolph and the Turkish emissary were recently exchanging jovial courtesies in San Francisco it was a matter of rebuke which we cannot ignore that the Turk was able to come back with a poignant brand of repartee upon the amusing faculty of the Christians for internal controversy. When Mayor Rolph remarked that the tomb of Christ was still in Turkish hands the Turk responded that it was necessary for it to be guarded by Turkish soldiers to avoid the opposing Christian factions from coming to blows over its possession; only a neutral heathen could guard it from greedy molestation! Which of all the numerous Christian sects could be regarded as the rightful custodians of the sacred antiquity?

Which indeed? As each of numerous nations has been busy dividing church from state, disestablishing state-supported religions as the Church of Rome in France, Portugal, Spain and Italy, as last year's Parliamentary bill to disestablish the Church of England in Great Britain, as the United States insistence upon non-sectarian public schools—there has been an outcry that Christianity was being shelved. But these are first steps towards a co-operation of all Christian religions, a sinking of petty controversies, a great Christian trust for the economic and efficient wielding together of all the methods and channels for reaching everlasting life. If civilization ever lives to see a great Christian confederation it will be a simple matter to convert the world and to make the Sermon on the Mount a living faith, a sound working basis or moral life.

Schism has made Christianity so complicated, whereas the teachings of Christ are so simple, so clear, so absolutely straightforward, that schism is the greatest insult that could be offered to it.

In the days of Adam moving day was not the terror that it now is. Our first parents didn't have a half-dozen tons of trash accumulated in previous places of residence that Mrs. Adam insisted on carting along, claiming that she might need it some day.

We should like to see the member of the new City Council dare to rise in his place and move an adjournment when the only woman Councilwoman has the floor.

Another potent reason for the wish that the war should end is the number of "boy stories" that are making their appearance. They are being prepared while you wait.

The fact that Geraldine Farrar, the singer, is going into the movies brings up the question as to whether Americans are listening to music or looking at the pictures.

Any man who attains high office in a public must admit that he has been at least on speaking terms with public bosses. Of course they might refer to them as "managers," but they are bosses just the same.

The State Department will grant passports abroad to avowed pleasure-seekers. Here is a thinly-disguised blessing to thousands of Americans. It will enable them to see California and other favored spots. And cause them to talk about Los Angeles instead of Carlsbad, the Riviera, Monte Carlo, Ostend, Luneville and Biarritz.

WHY.

It was Caesar brought the world on its knees,
And his legions builded roads we use yet;
It was Nelson swept his flag across the seas,
And his seamen worked an empire with their sweat;
Alexander hurled the Great King from his throne,
And his soldiers made a world pay tribute to a state;
These and others held the whole world in their own—
But it's not because of this we call them great.

Michelangelo and Phidias have gone,
Their greatness down the starry aisles of art;
Columbus dared to doubt the world was flat,
And realized the hope that sang in Homer's heart;
The Pyramids are monuments of kings
Whose power we may not hope to emulate;
These and other men were great in many things—
But it's not because of this we call them great.

But because each gave the world a new thought,
An ideal to inspire his fellow men;
Kings and artists were alike in all they wrought;
Where other hands left off, their own began!
They dug the channels where our rivers should flow,
Taught us where and how to put a helping hand of fate;
They showed Life's nobler heights above and below—
And it's just because of this we call them great.

Judge Neil Seeks Relief of Mexican Mothers.

"ther of Mothers' Pension" Here with Good News.

Villa's Brother Makes Promises of Reform.

n international interest in destitute mothers and their children took ether Judge Henry Neil of Chicago, own as the "father of the mothers' ension laws," to Mexico, to plead for ndless Mexican mothers. He ar- ed in Los Angeles yesterday direct m Juarez where he had an encour- ing conference with Gen. Villa's ther and obtained a promise of im- ate reforms.

Also ex-Judge Neil assisted in in- ing the Illinois Legislature to pass mothers' pension law in 1911, he conducted successful campaigns ilar legislation in twenty-four er States. Last year these States id $18,000,000 to needy mothers, or average of $7.50 per month per ild to each woman.

"Last Monday I met Gen. Villa's sister in Juarez and made a plea in behalf of Mexican mothers and children," ex-Judge Neil said terday at the Lankershim. "After conference lasting two days, I ob- ined a promise that the commissary ould be extended to the destitute others and children of the large dis- ct over which the Villistas are mast- . I was promised that the order ould be promulgated today.

"I was informed that Gen. Villa is making $10,000 cash a day for ican-made cartridges. The money is going through El Paso banks. The Carranzistas are spending an ad- ional $20,000 a day for cartridges made in our country.

"If $10,000 a day, which does not equal the amount spent for other engines of war, would go a long ay toward relieving the hunger of Mexican mothers. The situation is dis- ressing.

"Several years ago ex-Judge Neil as- ted in conducting a campaign for mothers' pension law in California. law was passed which is now in ration.

"The California mothers' pension is a most satisfactory," continued the ge. "It provides that pensions can paid only to widows. Since more than half of the destitute moth- have husbands living, the law dis- inates against a large class of women. Last year about $88,000 was paid in pensions to needy mothers in Los Angeles. Two-thirds of this money came from the State Treas- ry and one-third from the County reasury.

"I am strongly opposed to the 'in- stitutional child.' When you send a child to an institution some one has to pay for it. It is not generally known that it takes about $15 a month to support each child kept in an insti- tution. There the child has to do without its mother. She can do a better job at rearing her child on half the amount than the institution.

"The money paid in mothers' pen- sions must not be classed as charity. It is far from it. The mother is paid by the State for services rendered. She renders a public service just as much as the school teacher. The mother is just as much entitled to receive pay for her services as any of the other women who labor for the common good."

Cycles of History.

doubtless shining in your eyes right now. And no one blames you, for a sturdier bunch of youths and a prettier bunch of girls the sun never looked upon. Why, Aphrodite new arisen from the sea, doubtless looked like a "frump" compared to some of the girls from our high schools. As for the famous torso Belvedere, well, some of the boys in tiger skins yesterday had chests and arms that would have delighted the heart of Michael Angelo.

COLORFUL.

"Westward the Star of Empire" took its way in the procession through a series of groupings that, somehow or other, left an impression of having been devised on a color scale. China moved in a procession of yellow; old Japan was conceived in the pink of the cherry blossom. Greece was in sheer white; the period of Rome was that of barbaric splendor, and so on and on, through a sort of chromatic scale.

The first group, that of China, was presented by the Lincoln High School. A gong announced the parade, and the Stadium gateway disgorged a procession of pretty girls carrying ribbon-entwined arches, through which a dragon parade marched, and after it farmers, boys with kites, fishermen, farmers, potters, passenger wheelbarrows, sedan chairs and plain pedestrians.

A flourish, and the sacred gateway of Japan was carried in by athletes, and a Geisha girl festival was in full sway, with parasol, fan, cherry blossom and butterfly dances. Then came a Japanese street scene, with pedestrians, girls in jinrickishas and sedan chairs. This group was also by the Lincoln High School.

Then, high on a great float, came Pallas Athena and a festival procession symbolizing the deeds of the gods. Heralds and palm bearers preceded the float. Dancers followed—"The Pipes of Pan," "Garlands," "Cymbals," "Greek Maidens Playing Ball" and "Dancing Flower Girls." Then came Greek athletes, just as in the days when they strove in the great national festival of the greatest nation that the world has ever seen. Polytechnic High School presented this beautiful group.

OLD ROME.

Then followed a Roman triumphal procession, staged by Los Angeles High School, including trumpeters, Roman Senators, magistrates, accompanied by lictors, noble patricians in festival garb, a captive Egyptian queen in royal state, gladiators and slaves of the imperial circus, spoils and prisoners of conquered provinces, beautiful Greek maidens, a solemn sacrificial procession headed by Pontifex Maximus, vestal virgins and attendant maidens, and the victorious Caesar in his triumphal car at the head of his legions. And it was nearly a legion, too, 200 boys, some of them mounted, and all barbaric in the splendor of their accoutrements, and with the triumphant eagles of Rome emblazoned on many banners.

The Celtic division followed, staged by Manual Arts High School, with the Druid priests propritiating their gods by the offer of a human sacrifice; then the Norsemen, presented by Thirtieth-treet intermediate school, with their great Viking ship, returning from a successful raid laden with booty.

Manual Arts High School also presented the Europe of the days of chivalry, when the knights' vow, "For King, for church, for lady, fair, see that thou fight," was the in hoc signo of the age. First came the King and his escort of knights, then the Queen and her dancing maidens, symbolizing the beauty of women. Then followed crusaders, churchmen, saracens, monks and nuns, all portraying the triumph of the church in the days, now long past, when hopes were high and endeavor commensurate.

Hollywood High School presented the colorful period of Spanish domination in world affairs. Leading were Moors, led by a rider on a cream-colored horse, representing the Moorish invasion of Spain; then came cavaliers on black horses bearing flags with Spanish blazonry. Following were two trumpeters in gray, heralding the approach of the Emir on his black horse, leading a wake of Moorish guards, chiefs, harem girls, slaves, princesses in sedan chairs, and so on. Following came a street scene, with Moorish water girls, fruit venders, snake charmers, with real snakes, too, and a rabble of others that seemed to have walked right out of old Granada into modern days.

The Spanish royal float followed, showing Columbus as a suppliant at the court of Ferdinand and Isabella. Then came the good ships Santa Maria and Nina, with sailors.

AMERICAN.

This lead up to American and the Pilgrims as presented by the Berendo-street intermediate school. First was a group of Pilgrims on their way to church; then, presented by the Boyle Heights intermediate school, were Colonial dames and beaus, dancing the stately measures of the minuet; then Indians from the Custer-avenue intermediate school in staunch opposition to the coming of the pioneers, as presented by the McKinley-avenue intermediate school.

A prairie schooner and party crossing the plains was contributed by the Gardena Agricultural High School. The Spanish in California were cared for by the Hollywood High School in a pretty parade, in which there were riders, Indian braves and girls, a group of dancers in a quadrille, and so on. Polytechnic High School presented the mission fathers, and the Virgil-avenue intermediate school the days of '49.

As a grand finale came six of the prettiest tableaux of the whole show—"Wheat," Sentous intermediate school, showing the wheat development of the State, with poppies flecking the fields, and harvesters waiting with the sickle and rake; "Fruit," Fourteenth-street intermediate school, depicting the breaking up of the large wheat acreage into fruit land; "Mountain Snows," Polytechnic High School, showing the glistening peaks of our snow-capped mountains and the snow banners of the High Sierras; "Poppy Fields," McKinley-avenue intermediate school, showing the State flower waving in the summer breezes; "Wild Flowers," Boyle Heights intermediate school, depicting the delicately-colored petals of California's native blossoms, and last, "The Sea," Boyle Heights intermediate school, just as it laves the golden shores where sets the sun.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

MORE than 200 ladies were guests of Mrs. David A. Vail, No. 1830 Spruce street, South Pasadena, yesterday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, when she entertained at a reception in honor of Mrs. William Maurice Duncan, who has recently come with her family to reside in Los Angeles and taken a house at No. 700 Harvard boulevard.

The decorative motif was carried out in yellow tones, with a wealth of Scotch bloom, coreopsis and Matilija poppies intermingled with gypsophilia. Tea was served in the garden, the tea table being laid with a service piece of fillet and centered with coreopsis, poppies and gypsophila, accentuated by tulle streamers of yellow.

Mrs. Vail and her honoree, together with the latter's mother, Mrs. Whitcomb of Chicago, Mrs. Clarendon Foster of Pacific Grove (a sister of the hostess) and Mrs. Mary A. Nelson, received. Assistant hostesses included Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Alonzo Cass, Mrs. Edward Fisher Hebart, Mrs. Walter Sebree, Mrs. Maurice Crow, Mrs. Ernest Sutton, Mrs. Fanny Westlake, Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. Carl McStay and Mrs. William Council. Misses Mary Foster, Louise Lohman and Ava Davenport, in slimy summer frocks, dashed at tea. Little Ruth Gilbert of Pasadena and Marjorie and Frances Vail, in dainty white and rosetted attire, were pretty door maids.

Dinner for Visitors.

Mrs. Edward Mahon of No. 225 South Ardmore avenue was hostess at a dinner Wednesday evening which had for its motif a number of visitors from eastern points who are enjoying Southern California at present—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Charles Mahon of Ohio, Dr. and Mrs. Appleman and Miss Warren of Chicago. Covers were laid for ten at a table holding a low centerpiece of Cecile Brunner rosebuds and gypsophila, veiled with tulle.

For the Morrow.

After the ceremony breakfast was served at the Piedmont home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jenifer, immediate members of the family attending. After a tour of the northern part of the State Mr. and Mrs. Emme will take up their residence in this city on Elsinore street, where they will be at home after July 1. Mr. Emme is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Emme of No. 516 South Hancock street.

Glasscoe-Zader.

Sunday at mid-day, at the Sunland country home of the Alan Nevlins, Mrs. Nevlin's sister, Mrs. Pearl Zader, and Charles F. Glasscoe, were married near a spreading live oak tree, with Rev. Louis Goddard, officiant. Relatives and immediate friends were present. The bride, a musician, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerns of Glendale and a graduate of the U.S.C. She chose an old rose broadcloth, with real lace trimmings and chiffon for her bridal gown, and wore a pretty chapeau of the same tone.

Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. Glasscoe and his bride will be at home in Los Angeles, at No. 513 South Johnston street.

Fifty-Year Old Event.

The golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. George Merrick Munger of No. 1922 Hobart boulevard, postponed Friday last on account of the illness of Mr. Munger, is to be carried out tonight as originally planned. A large number of friends are to join in the festivities.

One More June Bride.

St. Agnes's Church was the scene of a pretty June wedding on Wednesday, when Miss E. A. Miller and T. J. Foye were united in marriage by Rev. Father Eagan. The bride was gowned in ivory satin and Persian lace, while her only attendant, Miss Ines Mitchell, wore yellow. W. Foye, brother of the groom, was best man. W. Miller gave his sister away. The wedding breakfast was served in the Miller home, which was deftly adorned in pink and white Lawsons and asparagus vine.

Upon their return from San Francisco, where they are honeymooning, Mr. and Mrs. Foye will reside here.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY DOROTHY JOHNSTON.

"More than one good term deserves another" is one fair principle upon which loyalty is manifested in the Friday Morning Club election today.

The third term cry is the one sole objection voiced against the candidacy of Mrs. Russell J. Waters up to the time of her election to the Board of Education—even her opponents admitting that this president's incumbency has been highly successful and progressive. So much for that!

"This club is facing a grave situation—a crisis," say many prominent leaders, and the third term, inasmuch as it is not prohibitive in the by-laws, is far preferable in the present emergency than allowing politics to enter untrammeled and injure the present efficiency and activities now undeniably existing—for Mrs. Waters has kept every vestige of political influence from permeating the club. Mrs. Waters herself is not keen for the third term, but by her accepting the honor this year a sane, unhampered administration is assured, and the club will have been readjusted by the next election time.

The tenure of such an important political office as school trustee carries with it no greater responsibilities than the office at present held by Mrs. Seward A. Simons, the second presidential candidate. Mrs. Simons as the appointee of Gov. Johnson on the board for the Girls' Industrial Home is required to accomplish much of her work out of town, requiring frequent absences from the city—never a requirement on the Board of Education.

As for holding third terms, Mmes. Caroline M. Severance served the years of 1891-2-3-4; Mrs. J. A. Osgood, from 1894 to 1896; Mrs. James F. Sartori from 1897 to 1900, and Mrs. Shelley Tolhurst, 1900 to 1903, and again in 1907 until 1909.

On Wednesday a coterie of friends who are backing Mrs. Simons's candidacy met and discussed plans, and a rumor vibrated through the city that Mrs. Waters would withdraw, a most ridiculous assertion. They also divided the club directory and started phone campaign with a vengeance, working for reinforcements.

As it looks now, the result of the election, which will be held from 9 o'clock to 3 p.m. today (and you must register) will result as follows: President, Mrs. Russell J. Waters; first vice-president, Mrs. Edward R. Brainerd; second vice-president, Mrs. Margaret A. Frick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Andrew W. Francisco; recording secretary, Mrs. Luther Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Beatrix Duane; directors, Mrs. Benjamin Goldman, Mrs. J. J. Abramson, Mrs. G. H. Wadleigh, Miss Jane Spaulding and the fifth resting between the choice of either Mrs. D. W. Steel, Mrs. C. H. Langmuir or Mrs. A. Maurice Low.

Mrs. Randall Hutchinson has charge of today's programme, when Ruth St. Denis, the famous dansease, will give an illustrative lecture on the esthetic subject, "Harmonious Movement in Private Life." Clark Hobart, an artist of distinction, is to be luncheon speaker. Originally from New York, but now of San Francisco, Mr. Hobart has had nine pictures hung in the Palace of Fine Arts. Los Angeles art lovers are to have the opportunity of seeing some of his canvases at Exposition Park.

Last Friday's programme was also ably presented, the art of making box furniture being the subject.

Travel Club Today.

The Los Angeles Travel Club will conclude a successful year by giving a luncheon today at the Mt. Washington Hotel.

U. S. Daughters.

The California Chapter, U. S. Daughters of 1812, at their annual meeting at luncheon held at Hamburger's cafe, elected the following official board to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. H. T. Wright of Hollywood; first vice-president, Mrs. R. G. Rhoades; second vice-president, Mrs. Libbey of San Francisco; secretary, Miss Mazie Vandergrift; registrar, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of Glendale; treasurer, Miss Vandergrift; historian, Mrs. J. W. McLellan of Hollywood.

Mrs. E. M. G. Schlosser will entertain the local and visiting Daughters of 1812 with a garden party on the afternoon of June 11, at her palatial "Sans Souci" home in Hollywood.

State Audubon Society.

Los Angeles is to entertain the ninth annual meeting of the California Audubon Society this year, to convene at 2 p.m. on Saturday, the 19th inst., in the auditorium of the Los Angeles Public Library, Metropolitan Building. Dr. David Starr Jordan will preside. Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers of Los Angeles is secretary.

To Hear Convention Report.

The Business Woman's Civic Club's next session will be held Monday, June 7, on the tenth floor of the Metropolitan Building in Library Hall, at 7:30 o'clock. A report of the fourteenth annual State convention of federated clubs is to be given by Mrs. Emma Reed; Robert T. Hubbard, president of the Single Tax League, will also speak. A cordial invitation is extended to all women.

PASSENGERS AND CREW OF P. E. TRAIN ROBBED.

Two Armed and Masked Bandits Take Two Hundred Dollars and Much Jewelry as Loot in Holdup at Lone Hill—Force Victims to Line up With Hands Against Car as They are Frisked—Escape in Darkness.

TWO bandits, masked and armed with revolvers, held up a two-car Pacific Electric train at Lone Hill late last night, robbing the crew and six passengers of approximately $200 and a quantity of jewelry. The holdup took place at the registration station where the Pacific Electric trains bound to Los Angeles from San Bernardino leave the Southern Pacific tracks about a mile and a half this side of San Dimas. The necessary stop to allow the conductor and motorman to throw the switch and register in the small booth at the intersection, permitted the bandits to get the drop on the train crew and passengers without trouble.

As the train stopped at Lone Hill, Motorman H. D. Palmer got off the front end to register. Conductor O. D. Lewis, in charge of the train, riding the front car, started ahead to turn the switch. There was no lights in the registration booth. Palmer called Lewis's attention to this and both went to investigate. As they entered the booth, a masked man suddenly appeared behind them and ordered them to throw up their hands.

BOARDS CAR.

Conductor Jack Fiske of the last car was standing inside his car when the second bandit boarded the train. He and the one passenger, Miss Beatrice O'Malley of Los Angeles, were ordered out on the ties. They were forced to join Palmer and Lewis under the gun of the first bandit.

The second bandit then went into the first car and ordered the five passengers there to get out at once. When the crew and passengers arrived outside together they were lined up alongside of the first car, their hands placed flat against the car's side. The bandits then "frisked" them.

THE VICTIMS.

When they reached Conductor Lewis, they uncovered a revolver of large dimensions from the conductor's pocket.

"If you don't quit carrying things about like that, some day someone will take it from you and shoot you with it," they chided, as they took $40 in silver from him.

Conductor Lewis was robbed of $15. Motorman Palmer was fortunate, as he had only 25 cents. The bandits showed a spark of human kindness and allowed him to keep it for his lunch today.

The passengers robbed were Miss Beatrice O'Malley, Ninth street and Maple avenue, loss about $5 and some jewelry; J. M. Batturman, No. 1514 Mateo street, some change and jewelry; Albert Plauman of Detroit, Mich., loss about $40; J. G. Stanley of the Roselyn Hotel, $1; E. N. King of San Bernardino, loss unknown, and a physician who refused to give his name, but who lost about $8.

THE ROBBERS.

One robber spoke in a coarse voice and issued orders with which he evidently intended to frighten the passengers into submission. He is described as 5 feet 9 inches in height, weight 160 pounds, large feet, was dressed in a black suit, wore a white mask and appeared to be about 30 years old.

The other bandit was 5 feet 10½ inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, wore a light suit and gray cap, with a light shirt without a collar, and a black mask.

When the victims were plucked thoroughly, the bandits ordered them aboard. As the train started they disappeared.

A deputy sheriff and four motorcycle officers put out from San Bernardino in search of the bandits. Local officers are also on the case.

ROBS FOUR MEN IN JITNEY BUS.

YOUTHFUL BANDIT THEN ESCAPES ON STREET CAR.

Driver, Believing He is About to Grab Another Nickel as He is Hailed, Runs into Robber's Hands. He and Three Passengers Hand Valuables Over to Masked Man.

Marching three passengers and the driver from a jitney bus at Fifty-second street and Central avenue early this morning a youthful bandit masked and armed with a revolver robbed the driver, J. C. Mitchell, No. 1154 East Twelfth street, of his purse containing $12, searched and robbed the passengers and then escaped by swinging aboard a street car.

According to the driver the bandit waved for the bus to stop as it passed Fifty-second street and Central avenue. As Mitchell brought his machine to a standstill the man drew a revolver from his pocket and pulled a handkerchief over his face. He then ordered the three passengers and the driver to step out of the machine.

After robbing the driver the bandit searched the passengers one by one and then ordered them all to enter the machine again and the driver to proceed. As the automobile started the robber swung aboard a passing street car and escaped.

Mr. Mitchell told the police who investigated the case that the three passengers left the bus shortly following the hold-up and he failed to get their names or the amounts they lost.

The bus driver declared that the bandit is about 19 years of age, wore a gray cap and coat and blue pants. He is about five feet five inches in height and 150 pounds in weight. He carried a large blue steel revolver.

U.S. ARMY AND MARINE SERVICE RECRUITED.

THE United States Army as well as the marine service in its various branches are, so fully recruited to maximum strength as now allowed that enlistment is made more difficult and many of the recruiting stations of the country have been discontinued, according to officers in charge of this work in Los Angeles. Within the past few months, seven California recruiting offices have been cut out from the list, and only three remain, these in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego.

According to statistics of Lieut.-Col. W. E. Purviance, head of the army recruiting headquarters here, the average enlistment is down to thirty-six men a month for this community while the average in San Francisco is 250 men, this large figure being occasioned by the many re-enlistments of soldiers who have been given their discharge at the end of service.

At the recruiting offices of the United States Marine Corps, Capt. Harding vouchsafed the information that standards have been raised possibly with the idea of restricting the number of enlistments. Only a man of excellent character, health and education can meet the present requirements and for the time being the office is averaging only sixteen men a month for the service. These are selected from among several hundred applicants.

The local National Guard is mustered up to its fullest quota of men, according to Col. Schreiber, who is authority for the statement that all branches of the Guard are ready for immediate service upon advice from Brig.-Gen. E. A. Forbes, commander of the California Militia.

MAYOR'S SECRETARY TO BE POLICE CHIEF.

CLARENCE E. Snively, secretary to the Chief of Police, will be appointed Chief of Police July 6.

This was announced yesterday as authentic by intimate friends of Mayor-elect Sebastian, and not denied by him.

His last act before leaving the city for a vacation on the desert and in the mountains was to make Inspector George Home acting Chief of Police. This action was confirmed by the Police Commission.

Acting Chief Home will serve until July 6, when the Mayor-elect takes office.

Before leaving for the desert yesterday, the Mayor-elect asserted that he will appoint Parley M. Johnson to the Police Commission in place of Robert M. Allen, who will resign by the end of the month. He will reappoint Frank D. Owen, who has made a good record on the commission.

It is the custom for members of the Police and Fire commissions to tender their resignations to the new Mayor. Mr. Allen had announced his readiness to send in his resignation after the last meeting of the commission this month. It so happens that Mr. Allen was more or less a contestant for the Mayoralty prior to the primary.

Mr. Johnson, who will take office July 6, served on the Police Commission under ex-Mayor Alexander. His brother, O. T. Johnson, was a Police Commissioner under ex-Mayor Owen McAleer.

Mr. Snively, who is to be the new Chief of Police, is a young man who has made a thorough study of the department and police affairs for several years. He is a native of Illinois, a veteran of the Spanish War and a former newspaper man.

Mayor-elect Sebastian, Secretary Snively, Dr. Glenn MacWilliams, Dr. E. E. Sherrard and others left yesterday for a trip into the desert and the mountains in Riverside and San Bernardino counties. Still later the party will go to San Francisco and the exposition.

The Mayor-elect may never again be the official head of the police department. He asked for a leave of absence until July 6 yesterday, and it was granted by the commission. When he returns to the city he will prepare for the inaugural into office. The charter provides that the new Mayor and other officials shall take office the first Monday in July, but, as the first Monday in the coming July is a holiday, the induction into office will occur the following day.

EXHIBITION-RECEPTION.

The Los Angeles School of Art and Design will hold its twenty-eighth annual exhibition and reception Friday and Saturday of next week in the school building at Sixth and Alvarado streets. The exhibition will commence Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The following day the rooms will be open from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

FIRE STOLEN AUTO.

Discovered by passing automobile parties a burning automobile was found early last night on Wilshire boulevard near the beach. No one was seen about the machine. The auto is listed to Fred J. Theriot of No. 116 East Ninth street, this city, up to a late hour last night Mr. Theriot could not be found. According to the police, the machine was stolen here. The damage to the machine is estimated at $1000.

GREAT DE BAKER ESTATE ORDERED DISTRIBUTED.

IN AN interesting proceeding in the Probate Court yesterday, one of the features being a genealogical chart of the main branches involved in the De Baker litigation, the $7,000,000 estate of Arcadia B. de Baker was ordered distributed to the thirty-two heirs by Judge Rives.

Some of the principal heirs were seated among the spectators in the courtroom. At the long table the attorneys who have been engaged for the heirs and the claimants sat and nodded assent as H. W. O'Melveny laid before the court the exact status of the great estate and briefly indicated the documents bearing on the various compromises with claimants. The estate had entered on a smooth sea. All adverse litigation had been smoothed out. The final account was therefore approved.

The last report gives the value of the estate as $7,158,225. The cash on hand is $250,919. Attorneys' fees are $42,709. The inheritance tax is $4238.985.

The distribution includes land and money, the largest item in land being the 5000-acre Rancho Laguna. The principal heir is Dolores B. Johnson, who receives 10 per cent. of the rancho, which has a large acre value.

It was announced in court yesterday that the claims of eleven claimants had been adjusted. These claimants, nephews and nieces of Col. R. S. Baker, second husband of Arcadia B. de Baker, will receive $18,000, prorated according to their standing. All have accepted except Mrs. Emma Randall, who has not been reached. She resides in the East. A $6000 bond has been filed, double the amount Mrs. Randall will receive, to cover any litigation which may follow her refusal. These claimants are Virginia Baker, Samuel Young, Charles M. Young, Eme Young, Margaret Young Davis, Mary B. O'Connell, Emma W. Watrous, Robert B. Hathaway, Margaretta T. T. Baker, May T. Riddick, Emma L. Randall.

The heirs to the estate are: Juan J. Carrillo, Juan B. Bandini, Robert L. Couts, Cave J. Couts, John B. Winston, James W. Winston, nephews; Estelle C. Dowling, Dolores C. [illegible], Arcadia C. Smurr, Concepcion Carrillo, Armanda Leiva, Arcadia B. de Chaffey, Dolores B. de Ward, Jessie B. Thomas, Sara B. Freeman, Maria Antonio Scott, Helen I. Dear, Tadea C. Fuller, Carolina M. Winston, Virginia W. Castle, Julia W. Flores, Mamie W. Ogden, Caroline Winston, nieces; Alfred B. Carrillo, Pedro Carrillo, Alfredo Carrillo and Robert L. Bandini, grand nephews; Isabel Fisher, Laura F. Carrillo and Ida Carrillo, grand nieces; Dolores L. Johnson, sister, and Arturo Bandini, brother.

The attorney representing the heirs and claimants were Hunsaker & Britt, Gage & Foley, O'Melveny, Stevens & Millikin, W. J. McKinley, J. Wiseman Macdonald, J. D. Fredericks, Rodgers & Donnell, Kirby Henderson, J. P. Shelton and C. White Mortimer.

When Mrs. De Baker died about three years ago, the estate became involved in litigation. The main point was by the heirs of Abel Stearns, to H. de Baker's first husband. The question was raised whether the wife Abel Stearns's widow or the widow of Col. R. S. Baker. Judge Rives decided that she was the widow of Col. Baker. This gave the estate to the Stearns heirs. A compromise was effected with the Stearns heirs, who received $754,000, being $50,000 in cash and a promissory note for $704,000, secured by mortgage on property in the county.

GERMANY ON THE JOB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 3.—Germany has gone into the mail order business since the war started, judging from a booklet received by Miss M. Rose, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, here today. The booklet, which is all printed in German, is from the "Federation of Hat Makers" of Berlin, and shows the advance styles of all women's hats for the spring and summer. Whether Germany is trying to outdo Paris as the creator of all fashions is matter of doubt. The booklet was printed in Berlin in April and is taken as an indication that some attention is still being paid to clothes there.

BIG CITY POWER-BOND ISSUE IS HELD VALID

IN A DECISION handed down yesterday by the State Supreme Court, the judgment of the lower court is affirmed in the case of the suit brought to enjoin the city from issuing the $6,500,000 power bonds which were voted upon May 8, 1914, and the legal obstacle to the sale of the bonds is removed.

Suit was filed in the Superior Court August 1, 1914, by Frank E. Hartigan to enjoin the city officials from signing or issuing the bonds. The specific allegations upon which the suit was based were that the ballot contained a dual proposition and that the proposition to complete the construction of a power plant would be a diversion of the funds.

Judge Hewitt in the lower court sustained the demurrer of the city and the plaintiff appealed. Upon both propositions the Supreme Court upholds the judgment of Judge Hewitt and rules, in an opinion written by Justice Lucien Shaw of Los Angeles and concurred in by all the other Justices, that the ballot was legal in both particulars.

Attorney E. R. Young appeared for Mr. Hartigan and Attorneys W. J. Mathews and William B. Himrod for the city.

Mr. Himrod stated yesterday that $1,482,000 of the bonds had already been printed and are ready for sale. He said that this sum will be sufficient for completing the San Francisquito canyon power plant and in providing for the transmission of the power to the central point in the city and its distribution. The remainder of the proceeds of the bond issue are to be used in acquiring the property of the Edison company, now in process of condemnation. Mr. Himrod stated that no difficulty is anticipated in acquiring the bonds and the work will be prosecuted in a very short time.

...ET SECRET ...OW IS KNOWN.

...g High School Girl to be Married.

...l Board Election is an Absorbing Topic.

...ADENA, June 4.—If you want ... your engagement a secret un... are ready to have it announced, then don't tell it to your friends. No girl was ever known to keep a secret, much less one in which old Dan Cupid plays a part. For this reason a bridesmaid is excused for letting slip the news of Miss Genevieve Ocheltree's engagement to Torrance Welch, both of Pasadena.

Miss Ocheltree is still in High School and will be one of the graduates when school closes on June 18. Soon after graduation she will join the ranks of the many June brides which the Crown City will see this year.

Instead of making her debut next fall as had been intended, the charming bride-to-be will become prominent as a matron in Pasadena and Los Angeles social circles, where she, as well as Mr. Welch, are well known.

Mr. Welch is the son of Mrs. Theodore Welch and a nephew of Col. Welch. He is a member of numerous social clubs, and is connected with the Thomas Campbell Company of Los Angeles.

Miss Ocheltree, who is exceedingly pretty and attractive, is the daughter of G. B. Ocheltree, manager of the Dominguez Land Company.

As Mr. Welch-to-be had not intended to make any formal announcement of the engagement at all, although the wedding which will be solemnized in the First Presbyterian Church, South Pasadena, will be one of the most important social functions of the summer months. A large number of guests are to be invited to the ceremony.

There will be three bridesmaids and two maids of honor. They are Misses Dorothy Welch, Elwin and Marjorie Perry of South Pasadena, and Miss L. Avery of West Point, N. Y., sister of the future Mrs. Welch. Donald Lockwood will probably serve the groom as best man.

...ES OR NOT RHODES.

Mayor Jeremiah M. Rhodes, re-elected Superintendent of Schools, is to retain his position in peace and quietness, or whether he will have a big fight on his hands will be decided in great measure by the vote of the School Board elected Tuesday. There is virtually only one issue for the voters to decide at the polls—Rhodes or not Rhodes. Each of the nine candidates have openly expressed themselves as unalterably opposed to the retention of the present Superintendent—Dr. L. H. Fiske, Mrs. R. Bickley and Mrs. Ruth A. Weatherston. The other six claim to be neutral.

Mrs. J. R. Giddings, elected last year to the presidency of the Parent-Teacher Federation, and one of the strongest opponents of Dr. Rhodes, said last night that although no plans for ousting the superintendent had been formulated, yet if they elected any two candidates they would give the present superintendent something to think about.

"In fact, we have got him thinking pretty hard already," she continued. "A great many people are opposed to the superintendent because they do not like former administration was a failure, but a great many more are opposed to him because of the manner in which he was re-elected.

The nine candidates in the race are John C. Austin, George R. Bickley, Mrs. C. Brainard, L. H. Fiske, F. J. Hamm, J. W. Morin, W. C. Muller, H. Patterson and Mrs. Ruth A. Weatherston.

BUREAU EXPERT.

Dr. S. W. Stratton, director of the Bureau of Standards in the Department of Commerce of Washington and head of the Government Exhibit there, is in the city a guest of his brother, Samuel Stratton, and his sister, Mrs. A. T. Newcomb, for several days. He will go to San Francisco where he has been sent to inspect the government exhibit at the Panama Exposition.

Dr. Stratton has been at the head of the Bureau of Standards ever since its organization twelve years ago. This department has to do with the standards of quality of all building materials such as electricity, heat, steel and paper. All standards of weights and measures are referred to the bureau.

Dr. Stratton was formerly connected with the University of Chicago and it was under his direction that the physics laboratory was built for the study of physics.

STUDYING NURSING.

Pasadena society has become tired of dancing and is devoting its leisure hours now to a study of the art of nursing, it being whispered that some are planning to go to the battle-fields of Europe. The first lesson was given yesterday morning at Brookside park, where elementary instruction in resuscitation was given. Those taking the instruction were Miss Kate Fowler, Mrs. David Thorn, Misses Rebecca and Ruth Hibbard, Miss Genevieve Stehman, Miss Dorothy White, Mrs. L. Fischer, Miss Emma Peterson, Miss Ethel Allen and Miss Grace Watson.

CITY BRIEFS.

Rather than see Frank Poore, 74 years old, go to jail while awaiting trial on the charge of cruelly beating his little 4-year-old grandson, Constable Harley F. Newell put up $25 bail to insure the man's appearance in court on June 11. Poore pleaded not guilty in court yesterday.

Dr. Robert Simpson Woodward, president of the Cargenie Institution of Washington, of which the Mt. Wilson Carnegie Observatory is a department, will arrive in Pasadena today. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Woodward and will be domiciled at the Hotel Maryland.

Manager D. M. Linnard of the Hotel Maryland, returned yesterday from a two weeks trip to San Francisco, full of enthusiasm. He said that the thing which impressed him most was not the exposition but the magnificent line of hotels stretching from San Diego to San Diego.

LEAKS STARTED BY EARTHQUAKE.

BAKERSFIELD, June 3.—The Standard Oil Company's big well in the new Kern River field has turned from a producer of 250 barrels of oil daily to one with a yield three-fourths water. Today the crew was pulling the casing and endeavoring to locate the source of the water.

The field men are inclined to ascribe the water trouble to an earthquake the latter part of last week, for the first trace of water appeared immediately thereafter and has been steadily increasing since.

The well had been yielding continuously for several years, producing without sanding up until last week; but the company does not consider it yet an established producer.

VISALIA COURT TRIES ANGELENO.

SELLING MORTGAGED PROPERTY IS CHARGE—BITTER FIGHT TRANSFERRED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, June 3.—F. De Witt Moon, a retired railroad man of Los Angeles, appeared in the Superior Court today to answer to a charge of selling mortgaged property. His trial was set for June 27 and he was released in bonds of $2000.

It is alleged in the complaint that while Moon was the owner of a foothill summer resort near Porterville he mortgaged to Cornell Brothers of Porterville a number of cattle. Later, it is set forth, the cattle were sold to a White River butcher. Moon declares that he has no responsibility in the sale ofthe stock, maintaining that the transaction was made by a business associate who has since disappeared.

BITTER FIGHT.

Transferred from Kings county a bitter legal fight is in progress in the Superior Court to establish title to 19,712 acres of the Empire Ranch near Hanford.

According to the complaint filed it is alleged that the Empire Investment Company, a corporation, owners of the largest single tract of land in the San Joaquin Valley, entered into a contract to sell the property to C. E. Mort, and when Mort failed to complete payment the company entered ouster proceedings, at the same time demanding clear title and $3600 rental.

Mort in his answer contends that the company made misleading statements as to the value of the land and that through failure of the plaintiff company's irrigation ditches damage was done to his property to the extent of $19,882.80.

Judge J. A. Allen has handed down a decision which cancels a deed executed by Harold Hengst of Three-Rivers, transferring 1080 acres of his foothill property, together with eighty-seven head of blooded cattle, to R. L. De Masters of Lemon Cove, the consideration being thirty-nine acres of orange lands in the Lemon Cove district.

In canceling the transfer the court declares that Hengst was of unsound mind when the deal was made and that the "consideration given by De Masters was grossly inadequate."

De Masters is also declared in the decision to have made to Hengst statements regarding the value of the orange land which "he knew to be unfounded."

PLAN FIESTA.

San Gabriel to Make Merry Several Days When Mission Drive is Lighted.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN GABRIEL, June 3.—At an enthusiastic meeting last night Mayor Daken was chosen chairman of the general committee for the fiesta that is to celebrate the lighting of Mission drive.

The street lights will be the first in the history of the city and the celebration will be the most elaborate ever held in the city. Today, Mayor Daken announced his committees as follows: Executive, R. F. Del Valle, John S. McGroarty and G. Daken; Plaza arrangements, Judge Albert May, Harry Haskins, C. E. Slack; Promotion among the Spanish residents, E. A. Lugo, P. S. Verdugo, F. L. Salcido; Publicity, John Calvin Stockberger; Music, George D. Drake.

The exact date of the fiesta, which will last for several days, and will include street carnivals and dancing on the plaza, bull fights, and sports that are typically Spanish, has not been definitely set. It is planned that the fiesta will take place about the end of the month, and the dates announced as soon as the completion of the lighting system is assured.

MARRIED ON THE SLY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—T. E. Sherlock of the Potter golf links, and Miss Frances Alverado, daughter of a Pomona Valley ranchman, were principals in a surprise wedding here. Today a telegram sent by the couple to the bride's parents brought back the expected blessing. The couple explain there was no objection to the engagement but that the Pomona parents had advised waiting. Tuesday the bride went to Los Angeles, as her parents supposed, for a visit. Instead she remained over night only and then took the morning train here. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. O. A. Villa of the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows.

SIERRA MADRE FLOAT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SIERRA MADRE, June 3.—Considerable interest is being displayed in the school children's float to be entered in the paarde of county schools on Saturday in Los Angeles. The float will represent a Roman historical event entitled "Cornelia and Her Jewels." It will depict a scene in the court of a Roman house. Miss Minnie Gardner and Miss Matilda Thompson, teachers at the grammar school, will represent the Roman women, while Hazel McKinley and Katherine Magill will represent Cornelia's children. Eight boys from the school will act as the bodyguard, robed as Roman soldiers of that period. Red roses and green wreaths will adorn the pergola in the Roman court.

SOUTHERN CROP REPORTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PUENTE, June 3.—The San Gabriel Valley Potato Growers' Association will market the product from 2000 acres of spuds this year. The acreage is about evenly divided on each side of the San Gabriel River and includes the territories of Puente, El Monte and Baldwin Park. The digging of this summer crop will commence about June 10.

All potatoes are being contracted for through the California Vegetable Union, the M. M. Cobb Company and Weihl-Zuckerman Company, Los Angeles concerns. The crop is sold in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana.

Every sack of potatoes this year will be stencilled with the name of the grower, and pro-rates will be made on the condition of the product when in the hands of the brokers. The crop throughout the valley is normal.

Advices from La Puente Walnut Association are to the effect that the district will ship the heaviest crop in history this year. It is an unusually good year for walnuts everywhere in the State, and this is especially true in the budded walnut district of the Puente Valley.

There will be 2200 acres to ship from this year, with an additional 800 acres coming into bearing in the next two years. The vacant land is being steadily planted to walnuts. Last year the association shipped 740,775 pounds of nuts, which brought $120,000.

The estimates this year point to an increase of 40 per cent., due to an especially heavy setting, the growth of the young trees and additional acreage.

In the Puente Valley this year there are 3500 acres of blackeye beans, planted between the rows of walnut and orange trees, and on land hitherto devoted to the raising of hay and grain. This acreage is almost exactly twice what it was last year.

The impetus given to the planting of blackeyes comes from the good prices received in the last two years, and from the fact that blackeye bean planting does not rob the soil, but enriches it, because of its being a leguminous plant, supplying nitrogen to the soil, as is the case with alfalfa, vetch and similar nitrogen-making crops.

Blackeyes are being contracted for at 3½ cents the pound, but there is a possibility that the price will go to 4 cents, as there are negotiations pending for large shipments to the European war commissaries.

BRIGHTER PROSPECT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—"Ventura county walnut and bean growers never had a brighter prospect," said C. A. Storke, who owns a big ranch between Fillmore and Santa Paula today. Mr. Storke has just returned from a visit to his ranch.

"The bean grower who put in his crop early in March has a flourishing field. Instead of plowing up his field when the late rains brought up the weeds he put in men with hoes, and the wisdom of his course shows today in acres and acres of flourishing bean vines." Mr. Storke says Ventura growers are carrying over 150,000 sacks of the 1914 bean crop.

Walnuts are setting unusually heavy. The prospects are for a record breaking crop. Very little blight has appeared. In his own grove the only blight is a very light appearance on a few grafted trees.

He predicts that the apricot crop will be 50 per cent. below normal. The market price will probably not rule over 5 cents. This is due to the closing of the German markets, as Germany has been the California fruit growers' heaviest buyer, especially of apricots.

The same predictions apply to Santa Barbara county, where beans and walnuts are flourishing, and an immense crop of both is in prospect.

ST. JOHN'S BREAD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—The Bureau of Plant Industry at Washington has sent to Horticultural Commissioner, C. W. Beers 120 scions of the best varieties of St. John's bread, or carob, grown in Spain. The carob industry in this country is growing. It bids fair to become of notable size. As a fodder the pods are used in Spain and Egypt. It is the sole feed of the English cavalry horses at Malta, and the tramway horses at Naples.

Experiments made here prove all this section to be capable of growing superior carobs. The Sherman Stow ranch at Goleta has 20,000 seedlings just coming up; the Bishop ranch at Corona del Mar has 200; the Elwood ranch has 200, and Mr. Beers has just started planting 20,000 seeds on the Limoneria ranch, near Santa Paula.

LEMON CLUSTER.

POMONA, June 3.—Carrying a stem of lemons which would have filled a gallon pail, P. G. Tangeman arrived at the Chamber of Commerce exhibit-room today with the greatest of all local citrus fruit curiosities. On a single stem twelve perfect, full-sized lemons were set so close together that they were immovable. They were grown on a 3-year-old tree and show not the slightest trace of scale in the cluster.

PLANNING A TRIP TO NEWPORT BAY.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY AWAITED BY SANTA ANA TO VISIT NEWPORT BAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, June 3.—The party of two United States Senators and fourteen Congressmen now at San Diego are expected to arrive here either tomorrow or Saturday for a trip over Newport Bay. The legislators and others accompanying them will be under the guidance of Congressman William Kettner of San Diego and W. W. Wilson of East Newport, Orange county's representative of the Southern Counties Expositions Commission.

From Santa Ana to the bay the trip will be by automobile. Boats will be provided for a trip over the bay. A picnic dinner is to be served at some beauty spot on the shore. The visitors welcome the picnic as a change from the numerous banquets that have been given them in their trip to Honolulu and the expositions.

One purpose of the trip is to get the legislators acquainted with Newport Bay and its prospects as a harbor.

DISTRICT FAIR.

Santa Ana is considering the advisability of endeavoring to secure the District Fair for Santa Ana. The Chamber of Commerce has discussed the project, and has referred it to its Public Improvement Committee. Riverside county has already started its campaign.

Today a telephone message gave word that tomorrow a committee from Riverside will be here for the purpose of discussing the claims of Riverside for the fair, the two counties being in the same district outlined in the measure passed by the Legislature.

TEACHERS NAMED.

Appointment of teachers for the Santa Ana schools were announced today. Three teachers, Miss Jessie Childs, Miss Pearl Edgerly and A. P. Meub, resigned from the High School faculty. All other teachers were re-elected, and in addition Charles L. Deaver and Miss Hazel Fifield.

AMICABLE AGREEMENT.

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—An amicable agreement has been reached between Mrs. Isobel Field, executrix of the estate of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, and Katharine D. Osborne, divorced wife of Lloyd Osborne, Mrs. Stevenson's son.

A stipulation was filed which states that the written objections filed by Mrs. Osborne May 3 to Mrs. Field's petition for distribution are withdrawn and that the executrix has delivered to Mrs. Osborne an individual contract of guaranty in lieu of a similar contract guaranty with the decedent.

The contract referred to is one by which Mrs. Stevenson promised to pay Mrs. Osborne a certain sum every month as alimony. Claims presented on the estate by Mrs. Osborne were not allowed by the executrix. The filing of objections followed.

The stipulation adds that Mrs. Osborne has accepted the individual contract as full satisfaction of her claims against the Stevenson estate, and particularly as to the claim formerly presented, the refusal of which precipitated the trouble.

ELECTRICALLY SHOCKED.

GRAHAM, June 3.—Frank Richardson of Los Angeles, and employed by the Pacific Electric Company in the Watts powerhouse, received an electric shock of 1500 volts about 2 o'clock this afternoon while attending the machinery, and fell, striking his head and lacerating the scalp. He was taken to the Crocker Street Hospital on a Pacific Electric car, still in an unconscious condition, but there are hopes of his recovery.

SOCIETY MINSTRELS.

St. Athanasius Church Gives Blackface Entertainment for Benefit of Missionary Cause.

Fifty members of St. Athanasius Church participated in society minstrels given last evening in Choral Hall, Temple Auditorium Building, for the benefit of the emergency fund of general missions. The amateurs assumed the names of famous theatrical stars.

"Olga Nethersole" gave the prologue. Following was the programme: "Climb up, Chillun," by the company; "Tulip and Rose," "Lillian Russell;" "Meet Me at Twilight," "De Wolf Hopper;" "Kentucky Philosophy," "Olga Nethersole;" "Somewhere," "Francis Willard;" "Night-time in Dixie," "Mme. Melba," and "Dublin Boy," "Chauncey Olcott."

A sextette composed of popular young people of the church gave a song and dance which received several encores. Vocal selections by "Master Gabriel" met with hearty applause, and "Ysaye" in violin selections was a popular feature. The entertainment concluded with the Alabama cake walk. The programme was given under the direction of O. R. Hight.

DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, June 3.—The man who last evening, shot himself in the head and died, falling into the water of one of the canals, was this morning identified as James Cate of Los Angeles or San Francisco. The card which bore his name told of the address, No. 647 Grand avenue, Los Angeles, but local police believe him to be a San Francisco labor union man. He had no cash or trinkets which might otherwise have identified him. The body is still at the Kirkelle morgue, where it awaits positive identification and funeral arrangements. Mr. Kirkelle has found that the man is supposed to have a daughter in Stockton, and she is being searched for.

The Harbor.

HARBOR CONTRACTORS HUSTLE DIRT OFF HILD.

Steam Shovel from Aqueduct to Eat Away Earth for Harbor Boulevard—Bids to be Opened for First-street Cut—Another Port Pilot is Requested.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, June 3.—A steam locomotive and dump cars have been substituted for the men and mules by the W. F. Hewitt Company, the contractors who are making the cut through Barton Hill and Nob Hill for the Harbor boulevard between the west basin and Fourth street. Good progress is now being made and the long-delayed road will soon be opened.

A steam shovel purchased from the city, formerly operated on the aqueduct, now is being used to load the dump cars. When the cut through Barton Hill at the north end of the boulevard is finished the big shovel will be shifted across Happy Valley to Nob Hill. A donkey engine pulling drag line and scrapers is now preparing a place for the shovel.

An important by-product has been discovered by the contractor in a bed of fine sand used in asphalt paving that is being shipped to Los Angeles at a good profit. Already 150,000 yards have been sold at a profit said to be over $20,000. The surplus dirt, after making a ten-foot fill across the valley, will be pumped across the channel to the beach on Terminal Island, permit for the pipe line having been granted by the U. S. Engineer's office. For this work a pump will be installed at the foot of First street.

BIDS FOR STREET.

Bids are soon to be opened by the Harbor Commission for cutting First street through to the boulevard which will give the first opening to the municipal wharf at the foot of the street. The city is rebuilding the wharf of the San Pedro Dock Company there, which was condemned a few months ago.

A modern freight shed is being erected and a suitable slip for the team ferry has been constructed. It is expected that it will become one of the busiest wharfs in the harbor on account of the transfer of freight from steamers that dock on the east side of the channel.

The wharf of the city is 300 feet long. In order to increase the facilities the San Pedro Lumber Company has proposed to exchange 200 feet of its wharf north of First street for a strip of tideland further north, which would give a continuous municipal wharf over 700 feet long.

ANOTHER PILOT.

H. Logan, traffic manager for the Outer Harbor, Dock and Wharf Company, has requested the Harbor Commission to employ an additional port pilot on account of the increase in business here. He has filed a complaint that the big Blue Funnel line steamer Calchas was recently delayed because Pilot C. N. Krog could not take the steamer to sea when she was ready to sail, having been engaged previously to take another steamer out.

LEAVES ESTATE TO AUSTRIANS.

FRESNO WINE MAN COMMITS SUICIDE AFTER DIVIDING HIS PROPERTY.

FRESNO, June 3.—Coupled with the filing of the will of the late W. A. Veith, wealthy wine man of Fresno county who committed suicide last week, the inquest was held today and the Coroner's jury brought in a formal verdict of suicide. Friends of Veith are in communication with the Austrian Consul-General in San Francisco in regard to sending the body to Austria.

Under the terms of the will Veith leaves his home in Vienna, Austria, to his sister, Mary; $5000 to Jean Brown Bell, his stenographer; $5000 to St. Johns Catholic Church, Fresno; $5000 to Fresno County Orphanage; $1000 each to the following cousins, Mrs. Clara Schultz, Walnut street, San Francisco; Laura Michelbach, No. 825 North Fifth street, Philadelphia; Charles Heininger, San Francisco, and the mother of Heininger who now resides in Philadelphia.

The estate is valued at $200,000. The remainder goes to his sister and brother at Vahrn, Tyrol, Austria.

STOCK ISSUE ALLOWED; RATES ARE INCREASED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, June 3.—A permit for increased fares and capital stock of the Glendale and Montrose Railway has just been granted by the Railroad Commission of California. A round trip rate of 20 cents to Montrose and 25 cents to La Crescenta, with commutation rates of 18 cents and 20 cents respectively, on ten and thirty-ride tickets, has been allowed. On fifty-two ride monthly commutation books the rate will be still lower. These new rates will go into effect June 12.

At present, with eight and one-quarter miles of road—one branch running from Glendale to Eagle Rock and another from Montrose to La Crescenta—there has been a stock issue of only $25,000. The round trip rate to La Crescenta has been 15 cents, giving the purchaser a ride of twelve and one-half miles for a trifle more than a cent a mile, a lower excursion rate than exists anywhere in the country to such a sparsely settled community.

The La Crescenta Valley has probably increased in population as much as any other suburb of Los Angeles during the last twelve months. Seventy-five new families have moved in since April and an average of two houses a week are being built.

About a year ago the main line from Montrose to La Crescenta was changed from narrow-gauge to standard-gauge, and since that time considerable freight business has been transacted over the Salt Lake and Pacific Electric.

A movement is on foot among the residents of La Crescenta and Montrose Valleys, which contain the thriving suburbs of Sunland and the Little Landers Colony, to induce the Glendale and Montrose Railway to furnish through service to Los Angeles by way of the Glendale and Montrose Railway to Glendale, and thence by Pacific Electric to Los Angeles.

Should this service be perfected the residents feel sure it will result in their section being built up even more rapidly than it has in the past.

Relief From Ants

How To Cope Effectively With This Intolerable Nuisance.

If you are one of the thousands of women whose homes are over-run with ants, you will be interested to know that an absolute riddance for this plague has been discovered. After long experimenting, a Los Angeles baker, whose shop was infested with ants, prepared a paste which not only drove every ant out of his place in one day, but prevented their ever getting a foothold again.

So great a sensation was caused by this discovery that he was obliged to put up the paste for general use—and a large factory is now required to manufacture the remedy in the tremendous quantities necessary to keep pace with the demand.

This little remedy is known as Kellogg's Ant Paste and can be obtained at all modern druggists. Try it today and you will always keep it in the

INVESTIGATING BISHOP'S FUND.

SAN DIEGO, June 3.—A suit was filed in the Superior Court here today against Charles B. Pfahler, formerly secretary of the late Bishop Scadding of Oregon, for an accounting of a fund of the Protestant Episcopal church of Oregon, known as the bishop's fund. The fund is estimated to be of about the value of $100,000, and the income of about $6000 a year for the period of nine years.

The suit is brought by Walter T. Sumner, bishop of the diocese of Oregon. It is stated in the complaint that the bishop, the plaintiff, has control of this fund, which consists of belongings of the church, including stocks, bonds, mortgages and real estate.

It is alleged by Bishop Sumner that a part of the money was turned over to him, but that he has been unable to secure any statement to ascertain the exact condition of the fund from Pfahler, accounting for Bishop Scadding, the predecessor of Bishop Sumner.

Pfahler, who has been living here, sailed Sunday on the Yale for San Francisco to meet this daughter. Although he stated, when accused of not giving an account of the fund, that he had burned the books, his friends do not believe that the books have been burned.

Pfahler was always highly respected by friends in Portland and in this city, where he held positions of great trust. He was auditor at the World's Fair at St. Louis, and held many positions of trust at Portland as an expert accountant.

It is thought by his friends that he became mentally unbalanced by grief over the death of his wife last year and the death of Bishop Scadding, which occurred at about the same time, and who was very near to Pfahler.

Pfahler stated some time ago regarding the accusations made by Bishop Sumner that he had accounted for the funds.

MOTHER RESCUES BABE FROM FIRE.

SLEEPING CHILD SNATCHED FROM FLAMES OF LONG BEACH HOME.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, June 3.—Although she was burned about the hands in the heroic act, Mrs. Nelson Gillis rushed through a wall of flame when her house at No. 1027 East Eleventh street caught afire at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon and saved her eight-months-old baby. The house was completely destroyed, with all of the furniture and effects of the Gillis family.

Mrs. Gillis stuffed a small sheet-iron stove full of papers, and, lighting them, stepped into another room. The stovepipe became overheated, and set the wallpaper on fire. Then the ceiling began burning fiercely before Mrs. Gillis was aware of the fact. When she heard the crackling of the wood she rushed into the next room and tried to tear the burning paper from the wall, burning her hands severely.

She rushed out of the house in a panic as one wall began to crumble, forgetting her babe, asleep in a room already reached by the flames. In another ten seconds she had again dashed into the house, fighting her way through smoke and flames until she reached, grasped, and carried out her babe. Neighbors attended both mother and babe, as each was suffering from the effects of inhaling smoke.

METHODIST PICNIC.

The first of the big summer picnics was secured today by the Chamber of Commerce. The Pasadena Methodist Sunday-schools will hold their annual summer outing here on Tuesday, June 15. More than 2000 persons will attend the picnic, according to Secretary Livingstone, of the chamber. Concessions needed by the Crown City people have been met, and a royal reception will be given the picnickers when they arrive.

REPAIRING TUNNEL.

BAKERSFIELD, June 3.—The Southern Pacific company announced today that regular traffic between here and Tehachapi, which has been almost paralyzed since May 14, when tunnel No. 15 at Cable was destroyed by fire, will be resumed about June 8 or 10. A trestle, 426 feet long and eighty-five feet high, was built across a ravine around the destroyed tunnel to complete the "shoo-fly" track decided up as the quickets means of restoring service.

WHOLE LIST IS IMPROVING.

CONSISTENT STRENGTH IS SEEN IN THE MARKET.

Volume of Trade is the Best for Weeks and the Gains Run from One to Ten Points, Steel and Copper Leading the Advance—Time Loans are Lower.

NEW YORK, June 3.—In its consistent strength and increasing breadth today's stock market served as a striking reminder of the daily sessions which accompanied the memorable advance of last March and April. Trading did not attain the large proportions of that period, but was of sufficient extent to make the movement noteworthy. United States Steel led the advance, dealings in that stock aggregating about 190,000 shares, or 25 per cent. of the whole. Coppers were next in favor, with average gains of 2 to 3 points on very large joint turnover. War specialties were comparatively conspicuous, although advances in that group were of a substantial character, the same being true of the automobile shares and other issues having no special classification. General Motors made the greatest gain of any specialty, advancing 10⅝ points. Half a score of the railway investment stocks, mainly those in the international list, rose 1 to 3 points, but the demand for these issues was relatively light. Not until the close of the market was it learned that the Steel Corporation had won the suit brought against it by the Federal government. The future rise in the copper group was traceable to a number of specific causes, including the greater demand for the metal at high prices. Moreover, it is argued that the new turn in the Mexican situation is calculated to work to the advantage of the many large producing and smelting companies which have large property in the southern republic. Many of the day's highest quotations were made in the final hour. Sales amounted to 747,600 shares. Another feature of the day was the decline in time loans to lowest rates since April, 1911. Sixty and ninety day loans were reduced to 2½ per cent.; six months to 3 per cent. and over-year loans to 3½ per cent. Bonds were strong, with a more general demand. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,122,000. United States coupon 4s declined ½ per cent. on call.

OWN A MOTOR BOAT?

Then Here is Warning Not to Forget Certain Government Rules and Regulations.

With the beginning of the sailing season the Collector of Customs announces that boats propelled by detachable motors are amenable to the motor boat law, also that the provisions of the Federal law for the regulation of motor boats will be vigorously enforced this summer.

There are upwards of 2000 motor boats in the waters within the local collection district, and in many instances they are not equipped according to law. They must have the required number of life preservers, fire extinguishing apparatus, suitable whistle, fog horn and bell, running and anchor lights, copies of pilot rules and comply completely with all the provisions of the law.

Copies of the law for the regulation of motor boats may be secured at the customhouses in Los Angeles, San Diego and at the harbor, and excuses for noncompliance will not be taken under any circumstances.

MOVING TO DENVER.

It was announced yesterday that Chief Hydraulic and Electrical Engineer Ensign, of the local office of the National Reclamation Service, will move the men and paraphernalia of the office, located in the Federal Building for some years, to Denver between July 1 and 15. This is a part of the recent decision reached at Washington, making Denver national headquarters for the reclamation service. About a dozen men will be affected by the order.

Ann was stricken with a sudden dread, and worried incessantly all that day, her active nervous imagination causing her to conjure up troubles more significant than the mere run-down physical condition her sister's telegram implied.

Bess arrived late that night, and her appearance, poor as it was, immediately banished her sister's apprehension.

"So, you thought I was half dead," she said laughingly. "My, what a nervous dear old motherly sister you are! It's only weakness, Ann. Too much books. Too much grind. A week in the mountains will fix me up tip-top. Worked like a beaver—like a school of beavers, or don't they come that way —for those mid-term tests. When can we start?"

"Any time you say, dear. In the morning, if you feel up to it."

"Oh, I feel up to it all right. Lots better than I was two days ago. We'll start in the morning, then. I've slews to tell you, but I'm frightfully tired and it can wait. By the way, what's the telegram that old codger Rogers sent me. As though I was tottering on the brink of matrimony! I guess that old clause won't rob either of us of any sleep for many a night to come, worse luck! Eh?"

"No, I guess not. But come, no more gossip. We'll have a long trip before us in the morning. Supposing we get to bed?"

"All right, granny. Good night, dear."

"Good night."

The next morning, early, Ann 'phoned to Scott, telling of her sister's arrival, and their intended trip. "Won't you come?" she asked.

"Rather risky, don't you think? Likely to cause talk."

"You won't have to come with us. Listen. You come over this morning as soon as you can. I'll tell Bess I've invited you to a little informal breakfast in honor of her home-coming, and you can meet her. You may speak of your proposed trip, for tomorrow, say, up to the mountains, and then we'll be surprised and tell you we're going today. Won't that be jolly? It's scheming, I know, but it's the only way out if we're to keep silent—you know. And I must be with you."

"All right, dear. I understand perfectly. Be right over. Good-bye."

When she had hung up, she felt a delicious thrill permeating her. For the first time in her life she was compromising her truth for the sake of her love, and the ready abandon of the one for the other made her step prouder, tinged her pale cheeks with crimson, and made her happy with the joy of sacrifice.

Scott came, languid, lackadaisical, correct to the last detail—his expressionless face making a great impression on Bess, who accepted his air of quiet authority as indicative of the proverbial "still waters." This look of superior information was, in fact—besides his family tree—his greatest asset, for it was an effective mask that hid from the gaze of the world the barren blankness of his mind.

Bess made quite an impression on him. Her slender figure, more reed-like than her sister's, the quick shyness of her ingenuous smile, and the wonderful promise of her youth, struck immediately an admiration from him that his glances ill concealed. She felt the message of these approving looks, and blushed happily under them, grateful for the approval of so distinguished a gentleman. Ann saw them, too, but attributed them to his desire to be agreeable to anyone connected with her, and thought no more of it.

The breakfast was a complete success in both food and talk, and Ann felt with pleasure that her surprise at his announcement that he was going up to the mountains was as genuine as could be desired by the most exacting critic—which Bess wasn't. "To the same hotel, too!" she ejaculated. "What a coincidence!"

"Coincidence, indeed," he repeated. "It couldn't have been planned better," with a laugh, and a swift look at Bess.

"When do you leave?" Ann queried. "We shall start directly. We've decided on horseback—the jog will be good for Bess."

"Oh, I shall start late this evening —or early in the morning. I shall motor up."

In another hour Bess and Ann, mounted on two rangy western ponies, had started their long ascent up the mountainside, their point of destination being half a mile from where Paul Reed, in his observatory, nightly watched the heavens and saw in each glowing star the image of his loved one.

Scott arrived late the night of the same day. The next morning he proposed a walk over the mountainside, and was eagerly seconded by Ann, Bess, however, wearied and sore with the previous day's ride, announced that she was all "in," and would await their return at the hotel. Ann noted with keen displeasure Scott's disappointment at Bess's announcement, and was further vexed when he proposed that they stay and keep Bess behind, so they started for their stroll together, Alfred disappointed at Bess's absence, and Ann anxious and trying mentally to laugh away the fears that played shadow-like but persistent in her mind. They took a narrow footpath that wound its way around the mountainside, hugging tightly the wall to their left, for in some places on their right the path stopped abruptly and the cliffside fell sheer away into sickening space.

He took the lead, keeping about two feet in advance of her, and walking quickly, his feet unconsciously keeping pace with his thoughts. He thought of Bess, as she had looked that morning at breakfast, her liquid eyes, chestnut curly hair, and slim curved shoulders, making her look, he thought, more like a wood nymph than a human. He thought how fine it would be could she be there, just in the path and ahead of him. How well she would fit into the picture of rugged mountains, framed by a sweep of glorious blue sky.

Anita had come up close behind him, panting, but supple and eager, her fine young frame moving in quick graceful strides along the trail. Suddenly he was aware of the sound of loosening pebbles rolling down the cliff behind him—heard her startled cry as she lost her footing—felt her tense, desperate grip on his arm.

Turning half way around, he saw that she was hanging half over the cliffside, her face pale and horror-stricken, her only hope for life, outside of a miracle—centering itself in her grip on his arm. He saw at a glance the almost sheer declivity of the mountainside, and a sickening dread overcame him as he thought of what it would mean should his strength be not great enough to hold out. He would be carried over the side of the cliff with the one clinging to him. His foot slipped slightly, dislodging a pebble that bounced its echoing way down the mountainside. A horrible, cold dread was on him. His feet were slipping. With a quick, fearful, desperate stroke he struck her hand from his arm, and, shrinking back against the wall, watched her start on her downward slide, dragging a host of rattling pebbles in her wake.

She had slid about fifty fet when her outstretched, fantically-grasping hand closed around a tough twig deep rooted in the earth. She stopped abruptly, luckily having caught a grip there, for a few feet below her the slope stopped abruptly on a chasm yawning wide.

TWO JUDGMENTS REVERSED.

Appellate Court Lays Down Ruling as to Admissibility of Evidence in Claims Against Estates.

In a divided judgment, so far as the extension of a doctrine relating to the admissibility of evidence is concerned, the District Court of Appeal yesterday reversed the judgment of Superior Judge Wellborn, in favor of the defendant in the action brought by John R. Colburn, Jr., administrator of the estate of the late Dr. John R. Colburn, against F. B. Parrett, administrator of the estate of the late Rosa Page, to recover a bill of $310 for medical services.

The majority of the court, Judges James and Conrey, hold that parties to an action or their assigns or persons in whose behalf an action is prosecuted against an executor or administrator upon a demand against the estate of a deceased person cannot testify.

Judge Shaw goes further and holds that the books of account of a plaintiff claiming to having been made by him in the lifetime of the deceased, against whose estate he prosecutes a demand, are not admissible as evidence.

Th same court reversed the judgement of Superior Judge Lewis of San Diego in favor of the plaintiff in the action brought by H. E. and H. W. Higbe, to recover from E. S. Shields $6000 claimed to be due as the purchase price of a planing mill. It was shown that before the deal was concluded the mill took fire and was destroyed. The plaintiff claimed the mill had been delivered to Shields before the fire and that the loss was his and not theirs, a view held by the lower court.

CITY TO BUY POWER BONDS.

SURPLUS IN SINKING FUND IS MADE AVAILABLE.

Supreme Court Decision Paves Way for Early Completion of Municipal Plant and Officials Hope to Buy Distributing System of Edison Company in Near Future.

Members of the City Council were elated yesterday over the announcement that the State Supreme Court had sustained the city in the contest over the validity of the $6,500,000 issue of municipal power bonds.

Councilman Betkouski, chairman of the Public Works Committee, said that if the bonds cannot be sold to good advantage right now the city will purchase between $300,000 and $400,000 worth of bonds with the available funds in the sinking fund. This action is proposed to be taken before the present administration goes out. Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the power bureau said that the city has been procuring necessary rights of way for the transmission line from the power plant in San Francisquito Canyon.

"In a short time the State Railroad Commission will complete its appraisal of the distributing system of the Edison company," said Mr. Scattergood. "In August the State Railroad Commission proposes to hold a hearing on the question and by that time the appraisal will be completed. It would be much better for the city to buy this system than to try to build new lines."

FOUNTAIN TO BE FIRED.

NEW DEPUTY AUDITOR NAMED.

J. H. Fountain, chief deputy city auditor for the last five years, will be removed by Auditor Myers July 1. The position, with a salary of $200 a month, will go to J. S. MacQuiston. George W. Jones, assistant deputy, who is under civil service, will be made chief accountant, and will have general charge of the accounts of the office.

City Auditor Myers, although speaking highly of the able and efficient service given by Deputy Fountain, said that the change is necessary because of friction in the office. Mr. MacQuiston, who has been a resident of Los Angeles for three or four years, was at one time City Auditor of Des Moines, Iowa, and also served one term as Deputy State Treasurer in Iowa. For several years before coming to Los Angeles he was engaged in banking in Idaho.

The Auditor's departmental budget now in the hands of the Budget Committee of the Council provides for an increase in the salary of the deputy from $200 to $225 a month.

CHANCE FOR FRAUD.

ELECTION METHODS SCORED.

Election board methods in counting votes are scored in a letter sent to the County Clerk yesterday by the Efficiency Commission which says that errors are almost inevitable and the door is left wide open to dishonesty.

In calling attention to the "extremely lax and dangerous practices which have been permitted to creep into the methods of counting and recording the vote," Efficiency Director Burks says that the general practice of election boards is to tally the votes with pencil on "sample ballots" and then to transfer the tally in ink to the official tally sheets. This method, Director Burks says, destroys entirely the value of the tally sheets as an original record and renders worthless the canvass of the voters made by the City Council.

"It is needless to say that this criticism is not aimed at the City Clerk's office," the letter states. "The specific instructions sent out by the Clerk absolutely forbid the practice referred to. We submit the criticism in the hope that it may enlist the interest and support of citizens and city officials in a plan for safeguarding the ballot after, as well as before, it has been deposited in the ballot box."

ANNEXATION PROBLEM.

WINERY ASKS TO CONTINUE.

Legislation that will permit wineries in districts annexed to the city to continue in business without repeating the legal work incidental to establishing a new business is favored by the City Council and the City Attorney was asked to draft an ordinance on the subject. The question was presented to the Council by Frank Partenico, proprietor of a winery located in the Palms, now a part of the city. The Public Welfare Committee of the Council reported that Mr. Partenico and others already established in like business should not be required to get consent of near-by property owners to continue. This report, which was adopted by the Council yesterday, calls for an ordinance which shall except only those places of business that have been established prior to annexation.

Another Viaduct Wanted.

Citizens of Boyle Heights appeared before the Public Works Committee of the City Council yesterday, asking favorable consideration of a plan to build a viaduct in Ninth street across the Los Angeles River and the railroad tracks on either side. Members of the committee expressed themselves in favor of a viaduct at that point and further consideration will be given when the Council considers the report of the Public Utilities Board on grade separation prepared by Traffic Engineer Howell.

GILMER REAPPOINTED.

ONE VACANCY REMAINS.

John P. Gilmer, member of the Harbor Commission, was reapointed yesterday and the appointment was confirmed by unanimous vote of the City Council. Commissioner Gilmer's term expired nearly one year ago and he has been serving under the charter provision that keeps a man in office until his successor is named and qualified. Prior to the expiration of Mr. Gilmer's former term, the term of F. T. Woodman expired. No action on this appointment was taken by Mayor Rose, who has assumed the position that inasmuch as there was one vacancy on the Harbor Commission when he assumed office it would be courteous to the incoming Mayor to leave a vacancy that may be filled by Mayor Sebastian next month.

Police Commission.

West Seventh street between Main and Spring streets, is closed to saloons and when representatives of applicants for retail liquor licenses told the Police Commission that they expected to procure withdrawals from the protest they were told that the matter was closed.

Protests against the opening of a poolroom at No. 2111 West Jefferson street were heard by the Police Commission yesterday and the application of F. H. Monroe was denied.

Police Sergeant C. H. Jarvis asked the Police Commission yesterday to refund the $250 fine assessed against him for entering the wrong house when seeking to arrest the proprietor of a house of ill-repute. His request was backed by Police Judges White and Chesbro, but it was denied by the comission.

Council Business.

Protests against the improvement of Sunset boulevard in Hollywood Boulevard Improvement District and against improving New Depot street from Figueroa street to Ramona avenue were received by the Council yesterday. Hearings were set for June 10.

Protests against the paving of Gramercy place from Third street to Wilshire boulevard came in too late yesterday and they were filed by the Council.

By unanimous vote yesterday the Council decided to abandon proceedings for the improvement of Twenty-second street from Hoover street to Vermont avenue.

A petition for the improvement of Bonnie Brae avenue between Isabel street and Cypress avenue was granted.

Following the defeat of the jitney bus proposition, members of the City Council said yesterday that a new ordinance, providing for an indemnity bond of $10,000, will be prepared and submitted to the Public Utilities Committee.

GIVEN MORE TIME.

Orders extending the time within which the Pacific Electric may issue $3,420,000 of its refunding mortgage fifty-year gold bonds were issued yesterday by the State Railroad Commission. The extensions are from June 1, 1915, to January 1, 1916 and cover two related issues of bonds, totaling $9,781,000, which were authorized by the commission, November 23, 1914, to provide funds for extensions and betterments.

RECALLS DEATH OF OPERA STAR.

NORDICA'S WIDOWER PETITIONS ON LOCAL PROPERTY.

Neither of Wills Left by Her Entered to Probate—One Gives Property to Spouse and Other to Children—Latter Made as She was Dying.

On the petition of her widower, George W. Young, a banker, and the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Judge Rives yesterday appointed the latter bank special administrator of the California estate of Lillian Nordica, the late grand opera prima donna. She owned property in this county valued at $15,000.

After her death, which took place in a hospital on Thursday Island, in the South Seas, due to exposure from shipwreck, two wills were filed in the East for probate. One gave all of her large estate to her husband, Mr. Young; the other and latest bequeathed the estate to her sisters, Mrs. Imogene Castillo of Los Angeles, Mrs. Annie Baldwin and Mrs. Allen Walker of Dorchester, Mass.

One will was filed in Monmouth, N. J., and the other in New York, but it is understood that neither has been admitted to probate. It is also stated that the New Jersey court decided that the prima donna was a resident of New Jersey.

The last will was executed as she was dying on Thursday Island, January 10, 1914. She stated that she was not forgetful of her husband, to whom she had advanced approximately $400,000, "more than the full share he might be entitled to in my estate." She desired that he might receive his legal portion of the stock in the Securities company.

The petition for the appointment of a special administrator was represented by Benjamin E. Page and Arthur C. Hurt.

UNABLE TO WALK.

SHE SEEKS BIG DAMAGES.

Miss Grace Brinck, a law student, who was injured when the elevator in the Tajo Building fell November 24, 1914, occupied a large chair in Judge Myers's court yesterday as plaintiff in a $25,354.80 suit against Mrs. Simon A. Bradbury, of the Bradbury estate, upon which the Tajo Building is erected.

Miss Brinck sustained a compound fracture of the ankle. When the elevator fell twenty-one persons were in it. A witness stated yesterday that all but Miss Brinck and Kemper B. Campbell are now walking around. Mr. Campbell was awarded judgment for $35,000 damages in his suit against Mr. Bradbury. He claimed his feet were permanently disabled by the accident.

A brief version of the accident was given by witnesses yesterday. They stated that the cage, after descending two or three floors, dropped several floors when the first cable snapped, and then plunged into the basement when the second cable let go. Miss Brinck raises the question of negligence and the overcrowded condition of the elevator.

OVER RESTRICTIONS.

DEFENSE AT IT NOW.

The Westmoreland building restriction suit which has occupied the attention of several millionaires in Judge Taft's court, has been attended daily since May 11, when the trial began by the wives of four of the parties to the action. In that time Mrs. R. E. Wells, Mrs. J. E. Carr, Mrs. G. P. Thresher and Mrs. J. W. Miles have acquired a good working knowledge of law as it was applied in this hard-fought case.

The testimony, which covered a wide range, and was given by men prominent in the business affairs of the city, is all in, and yesterday Attorney Moss for the intervenors and Hunsaker & Meserve for the defendants, began their argument before the court.

J. W. Miles, the plaintiff, contended that the building restrictions attached to the entire tract in favor of the purchasers and that the owners cannot sell or dispose of the unsold lots without imposing the same restrictions.

The defendants deny this, setting up that Pico street is now a business front and that lots cannot be sold for high-class residences called for by the restrictions, but are available for business purposes.

ACCUSES BROTHER.

DIAMOND SWINDLE.

Presto pass, and rings which should have contained diamonds, were found to be set with glass, alleges George Schenck, a jeweler, in proceedings to have the gems brought into court. Mr Schenck, in a citation transferred from the Probate Court to Judge Houser's department, alleges that Harry A. Schenck, his brother, offered the rings which had been worn by his mother, to him in satisfaction of his claim against the estate.

He asserts that upon examining the rings he ascertained that the gems had been removed and crystals substituted. Harry A. Schenck denies he was in any way responsible for the alleged substitution. The issue will be fought out in court next Wednesday. Mrs. Eva V. Schenck, the mother, left an estate valued at $15,000.

WAS HER HUSBAND.

NAMES ARE DIFFERENT.

Joseph Strain, a jeweler at No. 2309 South Union avenue, died a month ago. Yesterday A. T. Stewart, an attorney for Mrs. Catherine Strain of No. 110 Morningside drive, New York City, filed a claim for the entire estate.

In an affidavit sworn to by Mrs. Strain, she says she married Peter Strain at Waterbury, Ct., in 1871, and it is her belief that Joseph Strain and Peter Strain are one and the same man.

The estate is in the hands of the Public Administrator and is valued at $2000. It is set for a hearing in the Probate Court July 17.

SANS SERKIN.

IT WILL BE FOR A YEAR.

Miss Edith Serkin, chief witness against Chief Sebastian in the sensational case which resulted in his acquittal by a jury, will officially disappear for a year. Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court yesterday summoned Mrs. Lillian Pratt, Miss Serkin's guardian, and Mrs. Martha Olivera and Mrs. Anna Carrol, her sisters, and asked them to join in consenting to this arrangement for the good of the girl. Mrs. Pratt agreed to the plan. She declared that it was what she would have undertaken if the girl had come back to her home.

The plan is said to include placing Miss Serkin in a private school. During this time none of the sisters will be allowed to see her, but they may write to her, the letters passing through the court or the probation office. The private school will be selected by the judge.

WIFE SPURNS HOME.

HUSBAND SEEKS DIVORCE.

Charles Maris laid his fortune at his wife's feet. She spurned it, and yesterday he appeared in the divorce court, charging Mrs. Maris with desertion. His story was that in 1913, his wife, Ether Vena Maris, went to Ocean Park, accompanied by a woman friend. When she did not return at the expiration of the time allotted, Mr. Maris made a search. Two months went by with no word from the missing wife. Then a letter came from her. She was in Ohio.

Subsequently Mrs. Maris returned to Los Angeles and Mr. Maris showed her a house he was finishing at Sixty-seventh and San Pedro streets.

"If you return to me this house will be yours," he told her.

Judge Monroe continued the case. He wants to hear Mrs. Maris's version.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

CITY'S OR HIS. The city claims a three-foot strip 120 feet long on Grand avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets has been built upon, and, in order to determine the matter, Frank Simpson, to whom a portion of the property was conveyed, brought a suit to quiet title. The case was called in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday afternoon. Mr. Simpson contends the line of the street is coincident with the line of the buildings as erected and coincident with the stone wall of the State Normal School. If the city wins Mr. Simpson's buildings and the stone wall must be moved back. The value of the strip is approximated at $5000.

ECHO OF TRAGEDY. The opposition to the probate of the will of Mrs. Helen McCombs, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Lookout Mountain April 24, 1914, resulting in the arrest of Frank J. Nuttall, her companion on the drive, charged with murder, and his subsequent acquittal, was withdrawn yesterday, and Mr. Nuttall was appointed executor of the $10,000 estate. He is the chief beneficiary. The opposition was voiced by Mrs. Mary Jahant, a sister of Mrs. McCombs, and Miss Helen McCombs, an adopted daughter. Their petition alleged that Mrs. McCombs had been unduly influenced in executing her will by Mr. Nuttall, who had made ardent love to her. This Mr. Nuttall denied. The contest was dismissed.

ACROSS SEAS. James H. Sherman of Middlesex and Albert H. Sherman of Hampshire, Eng., are contesting the probate of the will of their brother, Edward W. Sherman. It is alleged that Mr. Sherman was of unsound mind and that the will was not properly executed. Undue influence is also charged against George W. Shires, who had the care of Mr. Sherman, and upon whom, it is asserted, he was dependent. The Sherman brothers, who claim an interest in the estate, ask for the appointment of C. White Mortimer, British Vice-Consul, as administrator of the estate.

ESTATE TO SONS. Lyman Sinclair Thompson, who died at Hilo, Hawaii, May 17 last, wrote a brief will dividing his $50,000 estate between his sons, Lambert H. Thompson of Hakalau, Hawaii, and Lawrence K. Thompson of Preston, Idaho. Mr. Thompson requests in his will that he be buried beside the remains of his wife in Rosedale Cemetery, this city.

BLACK ESTATE. Bonds, stocks and securities and real property to the value of $200,000 in Los Angeles and San Francisco represent the estate of Joseph Black, a resident of Los Angeles, which will be administered in this city. A petition for letters of administration was filed yesterday by the Union Trust Company of San Francisco through O'Melveny, Stevens & Millikin. The surviving heir is the widow, Mrs. Cora L. Black.

WINS SECOND TIME. The first time a jury in Judge Myers court tried the $25,000 damage suit of George P. Renfro against the Southern Pacific for injury to twenty-five acres at El Monte by the flood waters of the winter of 1914 there was a disagreement. A new trial was granted, and yesterday another jury gave Mr. Renfro judgment for $5000. The Southern Pacific will appeal. Its defense was that the storm was unprecedented and no fault of the ditch, which Mr. Renfro alleged was insufficient to carry off the water.

MASCOT AND WESTERN.

Opening of New Road in Southeastern Arizona to be Occasion for Big Jollification Soon.

Plans for a monster celebration of the opening of the Mascot and Western Railroad Company's line from Wilcox, Ariz., on the Southern Pacific, to the rich mine workings of the Mascot Copper Company in the Dos Cabezas Mountains are being made in Southeastern Arizona, according to information received yesterday at the office of Assistant General Manager Platt of the Southern Pacific.

The new line will be forty miles long and will open up much rich agricultural acreage in the Dos Cabezas Valley. A new town, Mascot, has already sprung up along the line, while the Mascot Copper Company is engaged in the erection of smelters and other auxiliaries to its copper workings, which will be among the finest in the West.

WHERE DID THAT RUM GO, JAMES

ONE PUZZLE NOT SCHEDULED FOR THE APPRAISERS.

Contents of a Fine Large Chest of Old Jamaiky Disappear en Route to the Customs Court by Leakage or Evaporation Or—Brother to Brother in Tobacco Fight.

With an exhibit of Jamaica rum conspicuous by its absence, celluloid nail files, antiques, dress fasteners, pruning shears, Chinese washboards and telephone poles (pictures), Judge Charles P. McClellan of the board of general appraisers, New York, cleared up the big end of the business at the customs house in the Federal Building yesterday.

In the case of the Jamaica rum there was a question whether the four gallons missing from the cask had ever been there or whether it leaked away. Whether a celluoid nail file should be assessed for duty as celluloid or as a file; whether the antiques were really 100 years old or had been prepared as relics; whether the dress fasteners were silver plate or some metal; whether the pruning shears were shears or agricultural implements; whether the Chinese washcake was a cosmetic and dutiable at the rate of 60 per cent., or in the unenumerated list in the tariff schedule; whether the telephone poles were manufactured wood or raw wood unmanufactured—these were among the questions argued before Judge McClellan. He took the evidence and will transmit it to the board in New York for decision later on.

The question of assessing a duty on Juana Costa mahogany involved a mixed proposition. The board of appraisers had assessed a duty on the stuff, but a recent decision had placed among the free articles. Whether it was really intended to make it free or whether the wood was inadvertently listed, is a nut the New York board must crack.

With the odds and ends of the calendar cleared up, Judge McClellan began the hearing of the protest of Ben S. Jarrett against the action of the Collector of Customs in refusing forty-one bales of Cuban tobacco as wrapper, when as Jarrett claims it is filler, and that case is likely to take the attention of Judge McClellan for several days. The government is represented by Charles Lawrence, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General Gregory, while Mr. Jarrett's cause is being presented by Isidore Dockweiler and Frank L. Lawrence being a son of the city. Mr. Lawrence being a son of the government's attorney. A great deal of expert testimony will be introduced with a view to ascertaining the correctness of the collector's ruling. The duty on wrapper tobacco is $1.50 a pound; on filler, 35 cents, indicating that there is considerable money at stake in the decision. A bale contains about 100 pounds of tobacco.

CACK ALLOWS BUT ONE HIT.

Double by Tennant Mars a Great Exhibition.

Chief Laroy Almost as Good as Henley.

One Run Gives Great Battle to the Tigers.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Behold the overnight favorite—Cack Henley, bricklayer. As a bricklayer, Cack is a wonderful pitcher. He established this fact in the minds of all unprejudiced persons yesterday.

We never did think much of Cack's bricklaying, but as a pitcher he surely is some cnanba.

RAH FOR CACK.

Cack was forced to strain himself to the uttermost yesterday. There was powerful pitching on both sides. It was a right-handed duel between Henley and that other splendid pitching antique, Chief Louis Laroy, and Cack triumphed over the noble redman, 1 to 0.

And in this connection, what is your honest opinion of a red-headed guy who will spoil a no-hit game for a struggling pitcher? Tommy Tennant is the guilty party with red hair. We don't intend to criticise the color of his hair. It is merely mentioned to distinguish him from the others. He can have red, white and blue hair for all that we care, or even wear a wig. What got the collective goat of Mr. Henley and the rest of the public was Tommy's act in tearing off a double in the second inning. The ladies and gents should ride Tennant out of town on a rail.

THE ONLY ONE.

This was the only thing that looked like a hit made off Henley. But for that one blow Cack would now enjoy the distinction of being the only bricklayer to pitch a no-hit game in the history of baseball. Bricklayers throughout the country would have straightened up and pronounced him great. Also they probably would have offered him the chair of fine arts in the bricklayers' university.

However, there were extenuating circumstances in Tennant's case. It was only the second inning when he did it, and that was so early in the afternoon that the possibility of a no-hit game had not occurred to him or Cack, or anybody else. Tommy never lived to reach third, and, in fact, he was the only visiting guy to reach second. Cack issued two passes, one of them intentionally. The fourth party to reach first was Joe Gedeon, who arrived there on an error.

VERY GOOD.

CHRISTIAN MAY YET GO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The Tyler Christian situation, so far as the management of the Oakland baseball team is concerned, is in statu quo. Directors of the Oakland club declare more firmly than ever. They have never discussed the possibility of dispensing with the services of their present manager and have no such intention so far as the future is concerned. At the same time, and almost in the same breath, it is admitted that newspaper discussions, if continued, might be inimical to the interests of the club and might have something to do with a change.

"You can appreciate for yourself," declared President Frank J. Leavitt tonight, "that continued newspaper comment as to the chances of Christian remaining would hurt him in running the Oakland team and there is no telling what might be the ultimate result."

SOME COLOR SCHEME THIS.

RACING MOTORBOAT SUGGESTS DELIRIUM.

Painted in All Colors of the Rainbow it is Expected to Blind All Pilots of Other Speed Creations. Ruess Expects to Make Better than Forty Miles an Hour with It.

Ruess's Mitchell is by far the latest thing in motor boats. It is not only late, it is several months ahead of time; quite futuristic, in fact. It was built for racing and to do stunts with. And from the looks of the craft it will probably outshine the renowned Cactus Kate.

The color scheme carried out on the affair is a wonder. It looks like a couple of rainbows and an aurora borealis or two mixed up together. Red, blue, white, green, black, maroon and yellow seem to predominate, but all the other colors are represented in some shape or form. The final result is a thing of beauty and a scream forever. One of the fellows working on the boat says he wakes up nights crying with fright, just from thinking about the color scheme.

A ONE-STEP.

This amphibious rival of all Cactus Kates, Death Valley Dodges and such stunt autos, is constructed on new and original lines. It is what is known to the trade as a one-step hydroplane. There was some talk of making it a hesitation or tango, but the one-step seemed to be the most popular.

One particular feature of the tub, aside from the paint, is the concave curve of the stern. Instead of being flat like the usual type, it is curved upward in a sort of arch. There are several good features connected with this innovation. The most important one is that the boat will be able to stand the side swells and land rolls when it is heading into them on an angle. Stability will be improved and a greater degree of safety at high speeds will be assured.

READY SOON.

If the craft is not arrested or put in jail on suspicion it will be taken to the beach and launched inside of three weeks. The hull is entirely completed and the engine is ready to install.

The motive power will be provided by a six-cylinder Mitchell engine. The speed is to be forty miles per hour, and Bert Dingley will bet on it. Mr. Ruess is to pilot the fast-color creation and expects to make all the other boats ashamed of themselves and their dull, unattractive hues.

The first race that this Japanese kimono will indulge in will be the Fourth of July event at San Pedro. After this it is to be taken north and entered in the exposition tournaments.

RESTA'S CAR FOR BARNEY.

The Peugeot racer driven into second place in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis last Monday by Dario Resta, has been purchased by Barney Oldfield, according to a wire from New York received last night.

For several months Oldfield has been endeavoring to get a foreign racer which he could call his own, and sent his mechanic, George Hill, over to Europe in December to make the purchase. After failing in every attempt to get a car out of Europe, Hill returned to this country in time for the speedway classic.

The purchase of the Resta Peugeot was a surprise to Oldfield's closest friends here, and the veteran driver's plans are not known, although it has been reported at Tacoma that he will drive in the speedway events in that city early next month.

WALTER TRAVIS LEADS GOLFERS.

RYE (N. Y.) June 3.—Walter J. Travis of Garden City, former winner of international, national and metropolitan championships, played a splendid game today in the second round of match play for the Metropolitan Association's title on the Apawamis Club's links. His opponent was his ofttime rival, Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., also a frequent winner of national and metropolitan golf honors, but the veteran won by one up, after giving one of the best exhibitions of his golfing career.

Invariably the older player was outdriven from the tees, but his remarkable work on the greens gave him the victory. His putting was uncanny at times, and on several greens he needed only a single putt. A ten-foot curling putt on the fifth and another on the sixth green gave him the holes in 2 and 3, respectively, each being one stroke under par. He was then one up, and never relinquished the lead from start to finish.

The gallery frequently applauded both men for their brilliant and daring play. Each made the round in 76, Travis winning the match on the home green with a 12-foot putt for a half in fours.

Four former winners of the metropolitan championship—Douglas, Seeley, Herreshoff and Travers, were eliminated today. The present champion, Oswald Kirkby, and Travis meet in the semi-final round tomorrow, provided each wins his match in the third round tomorrow forenoon.

WESTERN LEAGUE SLIPPING FAST.

BALD PLAYERS MUST TAKE CUT IN SALARIES.

President Tip O'Neil Announces that Unless Players are Willing to Finish Season on a Percentage Basis They Must Take an Arbitrary Cut in Salary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, June 3.—The Western League is on the verge of disbandment because of poor attendance, according to all reports from baseball sources here tonight. Tip O'Neil, president of the league, has asked all players in the league to finish the season on a percentage basis, according to Manager Jack Coffey of the Denver team, and intimated that unless the players accept the proposition their salaries will be arbitrarily cut by the magnates. Coffey says the Bears declined the percentage offer.

"The Denver baseball club is in receipt of a letter from President O'Neil asking us to consider a percentage proposition instead of a salary basis in the future," said Manager Coffey tonight.

"I have talked the matter over to some extent with my players and from what I can tell of their feelings in the matter I do not believe that they will go through with the league under the conditions proposed. What the percentage named is I cannot say at this time.

"The news came like a lightning bolt out of a clear sky to me. I had known since the first week of the season that the Western League was in for tough sledding this year, but I had no idea the situation was as critical as it is until yesterday. Then I received a letter from James C. McGill, owner of our club, in which he gave me some idea of what was impending.

"As far as I know there has been no league meeting at which the owners have taken up the subject of closing for the remainder of the season, but I would not be surprised if there has been a wire or mail vote on the subject. It has certainly been discussed in one way or another.

"We have no order to disband; we have not been released, and as far as I know we will play Des Moines tomorrow at Broadway Park."

Manager Lee Tannehill of the Des Moines club was more reticent and at first refused to discuss the matter at all. When told that the news had been received from Chicago, he then admitted that word had been received from O'Neil, not by himself, but by one of the players on the club, yesterday.

"We have not been ordered to disband nor have we had any communication from the owners of the club telling us to close up our season," said Tannehill.

FIRST DERBY EVER MISSED.

Newmarket to Hold Only Big Horse Race.

Derby Favorite Pommern to Run There.

Two Other Big Meetings are Announced.

LONDON, June 3, 6 p.m.—Although they are to be denied an opportunity of witnessing the derby at Epsom Downs, British race lovers will have a chance to see Pommern, the favorite for the abandoned classic, run in the so-called New Derby stakes, a race to be held with the New Oak stakes at the first extra Newmarket meeting which commences June 15.

Today's racing calendar announces two other extra Newmarket meetings, one July 27, 28 and 29, and the other August 24, 25 and 26.

PASSED UP.

The first Wednesday in June has been devoted for generations to London's great racing carnival, the Derby at Epsom, and its omission this year brought home to the citizens of the British capital with peculiar emphasis the serious crisis through which the nation is passing. Derby Day always has been the most popular sport event of the year. The race was witnessed by the late King Edward every year from 1862 until 1909, except when he was kept away by mourning.

The decision of the government to abandon all race meetings during the war except that at Newmarket does not meet, by any means, with universal approval. Quite apart from persons interested in racing because it is their occupation or means of livelihood large numbers are of the opinion that such a drastic closing down of race meetings not only is needless but inimical to horse breeding.

ON IN GERMANY.

They point to the fact that racing is going on as usual in Germany and contend that its prohibition in England probably will be regarded by her enemies as a signal of weakness and nervousness, making her a subject of ridicule.

Great pressure has been brought to bear on the Jockey Club to obtain some amelioration of present conditions in the interest of the large number of persons dependent upon the turf for livelihood. The Jockey Club held a meeting yesterday at Derby House to consider the situation. Those present included Lords Derby, Lonsdale and Durham. The session was executive, but some announcement of what was decided upon is expected today. According to unofficial reports, however, the stewards of the club decided to maintain the present embargo.

PROPOSED.

There is strong sentiment in favor of at least transferring the Derby which has been run without intermission every year since 1780, together with the Oaks and Home Ascot races, to Newmarket. Should the Jockey Club's decision be adverse to such a step, the agitation, it is expected, will be continued. A meeting of protest called by the National Sporting League held in a Holborn restaurant last night was presided over by Horatio W. Bottomley, widely-known as an owner of race horses. Resolutions were adopted deprecating the government's prohibition and urging reconsideration. Speakers denounced the Jockey Club for yielding to governmental pressure and pointed out that both Germany and Russia are continuing racing, while France and Belgium have given permission for French and Belgian horses to come for the English races.

SAN ANTONIO GETS HARPER.

Harry Harper, until recently utility outfielder of the Angeles, has turned down offers from Atlanta and Phoenix and accepted terms with the San Antonio club in the Texas League. Harper is a natural hitter, and should punish the ball for .300 or better in that league. With more experience and some more polish in his fielding, he will be ripe for a return to the Coast circuit. Harper will leave for San Antonio this afternoon.

FITZGERALD TOO SPEEDY.

Outfielder Gets Homer and Three-bagger.

While Spider Baum is None Too Liberal.

Recruit Beatty Drives in One Angel Tally.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—It was a toss-up between the pitching of Spider Baum and the bat work of Justin Fitzgerald today as to the feature of the Seals' second straight win over the Angels by 4 to 2.

Baum, who had an unhappy time of it the week before in Portland, when he was given a good lacing, did a come-back stunt for which the warm weather was doubtless responsible. He held the Angels to three hits and given good support would have allowed them but a single run.

SOME PAIR.

But if the Spider was the defensive star, it was the aggressiveness of the San Mateo county outfielder that gave the San Franciscans a strong lead. Fitz put one of Jack Ryan's offerings to center field for a home run inside the grounds and later along in the last of the eighth when the score was tied, he started the winning streak with a three-bagger into right.

A dropped fly by Bodie out in center, just after he had made a pretty running catch, was responsible for one of the southern scores.

As against that, you can mark off Buemiller's muff of an easy pop up for Jerry Downs that registered Ping, who had opened the fourth inning with a two-sacker.

BAUM GOOD.

The errors being even, it is clear the twirling honors belong to Baum, who held the enemy safely most of the way. Ryan was in fine form for five innings, during which time he allowed the San Franciscans but two hits. Then the local gunners got the range and from the sixth, right on through to the last of the eighth, Jack took more or less of a beating, since Wolverton's men touched him for two each in the sixth and seventh, topping off the eighth with a triple, a double and finally a single.

Weather conditions were just right for Baum and the one run the visitors earned was more or less a scratchy affair. Their opening tally in the second was extremely fluky. McMullen popped to Downs but Ellis drove the ball to center. Bodie, after a nice running catch, dropped the sphere and Rube reached third, scoring as Jack Beatty, the new first baseman, lifted a hit over second into right field.

BEATTY STEALS.

Terry flied to right but Beatty stole second. Boles grounded to Jones, but Heilman didn't have his foot on the cushion and the catcher promptly stole. A stop was put to the scoring when Ryan landed the ball to Corhan for an out to Heilman.

The Angels came right back in the third for their other run of the day. Baum walked Maggert and he stole. Buemiller flied to right and Wolter to center without advancing the runner, but a short center field stab by McMullen brought Maggert in from second.

San Francisco awaited the fourth chapter before scoring tactics were in operation. With Schaller out, Bodie whipped a hard hit ball into left for two bases. Heilman's fly to deep center sent Ping on to third and with two down, he started for the plate as Downs popped to Buemiller. Something must have been the matter with the Angel third sacker. At all events he dropped the ball with Bodie crossing the rubber. Jerry was out trying to steal.

SOME HOMER.

It was tied up in the eighth when Fitz laced out his homer to center. Maggert got the tips of his fingers on the ball but did no more than throw it off on a tangent and the fleet-footed Justin speeded up for home and safety.

Thereafter results were held in abeyance till the last of the eighth came to hand. Fitz again led off with a mighty swat, a three-sacker to right. The situation looked gloomy when both Schaller and Bodie rolled easy ones to the pitcher for outs at first. Then Heilman came to the rescue. He drove a double just inside third and on to left field for Fitzgerald to score. A wild pitch helped Harry as far as third base and Downs rapped him home with a right field single.

ANGELS TRY.

Los Angeles had previously made a bid in the eighth. With two out, Maggert doubled and Buemiller walked. Baum stopped the promise of a rally drive and threw him out at first.

The score:

COMMITTEE IS GIVEN POWERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The committee of three chosen last week to have charge of sports on the Panama-Pacific Exposition programme has been given entire control of all events to be held, it was announced by exposition officials today. The committee had given its provisional acceptance to act.

RACE TO SAN FRANCISCO PLANNED FOR YACHTSMEN.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN PEDRO, June 3.—Following a meeting of the board of directors of the South Coast Yacht Club held last evening, Commodore Albert Soiland today addressed communications to Commodore Alexander J. Mitchell of the Sunset Yacht Club, Commodore P. A. Giraud of the San Diego Yacht Club and Commodore John J. Hernan of the Coronado Yacht Club, asking that they at once make known their wishes in the San Pedro-San Francisco race, which is scheduled for August 1.

As soon as replies can be obtained from these clubs, the details of the race will be worked out. The South Coast has five yachts to enter, and hopes that some representation can be had from the Sunset and San Diego clubs.

Until it is known definitely what yachts will enter from these clubs, the racing rules, time of start, etc., cannot be figured out. In all probability the race will be sailed under the same rules as those used in the San Pedro-Honolulu race. Both are ocean races, and while the trans-Pacific was a 2000-mile reach, the August race will be a 500-mile beat, and the allowance of thirty minutes per racing foot would not be very far amiss. The racing length was obtained by adding to the load water line one-half of the overhang. This simple rule would be effective. No consideration is taken in the sail area on the theory that the over-canvas in heavy weather would be offset by the under-canvas in light air.

Many of the crews of the racing yachts are already arranging for a month's vacation during August. The race up should consume from seven to ten days. The racing at San Francisco begins on August 14, and with time to see the fair and sail home again the month would quickly pass by.

Commodore Soiland expects to be in San Francisco this month and will take up the final details of the race with Lieut. C. H. Woodward, the executive officer of the yachting bureau.

The scheduled "land cruise" of the S.C.Y.C. to station "A" on Saturday-Sunday next has been postponed owing to the absence of Chairman W. W. Wilson at San Diego. The cruise will probably be made later in the season. The club will stage an informal hop at the clubhouse on Saturday evening and sailing parties and cruising will be made the order of the day on Sunday.

The U.S.S. Farragut, now stationed at the harbor under the control and for the use of the Naval Militia of California, stationed at Los Angeles, will be open for inspection at First street dock next Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock, many invitations having been received by yacht clubs and yacht owners. The efforts of A. H. Woodbine, lieutenant-commander, N.M.C., and Leieut. J. Park Dougall, assistant surgeon N.M.C., in securing with other help, the Farragut at Los Angeles, Harbor, is geratly appreciated and undoubtedly many interested persons will avail themselves of their invitations to inspect the torpedo boat.

A little gasoline in an engine that ran was a helpful adjunct to a sailing yacht on the Memorial Day cruise at Avalon. The winds were never so backward, nor the sea more calm than on this trip, and many previous records for slow passage both ways were broken.

Of course, the Los Angeles Motor Boat Club, with its "put-putters" had no trouble. It was ideal gasoline weather. One yacht from the Sunset took twenty hours to cross and over twenty-four to return, and some of the S.C.Y.C. boats were nearly as slow. Some fortunate wind-jammers got a tow all the way across the channel, while others "dopped" all night in the middle of the briny. But all in all, it was a grand trip. Plenty of seasick ones, plenty of sunburned ones, plenty of tired ones, but a great big time all the time, just the same. The next party will be on July 4. Let us hope for wind, but in the meantime find out "why is an engine?"

"LICORICE" IS LATEST BALL.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Manager Donovan of the Yankees wrote a hot protest to President Johnson of the American League today that Joe Wood, while pitching for the Boston Red Sox on Tuesday, kept a piece of licorice in his mouth, so that by expectorating on the new spheres as the umpire tossed them to him, he managed to discolor one half of each cover. Wood, therefore was able to puzzle the Yankee hitters with balls that were black and white. Wild Bill also sent two of the discolored pellets by express to President Johnson so that the latter could have them properly examined.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, June 3.—The delivery of three Boston pitchers contained few mysteries for New York batsmen today and the Giants won, 10 to 3. The Braves batted Marquard hard but he tightened in the pinches. Maranville was removed from the game by Umpire Quigley in the third when he protested vehemently against a decision. The score:

ORR AND GEDEON FIGURE IN MOST DOUBLE PLAYS.

Analysis Shows One Reason Why Bee Combination is Valuable — Zeb and McMullen Ran Second in this Respect — Tennant has Participated in More Two-ply Killings than Any Other First Sacker.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE value of the double play cannot be over-estimated. Neither is there any more beautiful spot in the world than a couple of fellows being killed off on a grounder to the shortstop or the second baseman. The double play is nothing more nor less than the theory of killing two birds with one stone applied to baseball.

To make a double play requires fast and precise passing of the pill, and that is what pleases the fans. They like to see the capsule chucked around the diamond with lightning rapidity, and that's what it takes to nip a couple of base runners at the same time.

The Coast League has had its full share of two-ply killings this year. Nearly everybody in the league has figured in one or more double plays, and it is the consensus of opinion in baseball circles that there will be a great many more of these made before the race is finished.

START AT SHORT.

A majority of double plays are started by the shortstop. The second baseman generally runs about second in this respect. All of which goes to show the importance of a swift and accurate keystone combination. The first baseman naturally figures in the double plays than any other man, but that is because most of these plays terminate at first base. The most common variety of double play has the shortstop for the mainspring, with the second baseman as the pivot and the first sacker as the terminal.

The old "Tenney double," from first to second and back again, is still in vogue. Before Fred Tenney conceived this maneuver, rarely did a first baseman terminate a double play. Tenney conceived the idea of heaving to second on a grounder with a runner at first, forcing the latter, and getting back to first in time to take the return throw and double the gent who had hit the ball. The idea was so good that other first basemen adopted it, and it has been passed down to the present generation.

BEE COMBINATION.

When it comes down to the double-play business, Billy Orr and Joe Gedeon of the Bees have it on all other keystone combinations. That they had been playing good ball was generally admitted, but only after investigating the double-play situation is it possible to arrive at a full appreciation of their worth. They have teamed and figured in more doubles than any other pair in the league. Gedeon has started a dozen double plays and figured in fifteen others. His nearest rival among the second sackers is McMullen of the Angels, who has participated in twenty-four. Orr has started fourteen doubles and figured in twenty-three others. Corhan is just four behind him, while Terry ranks third with twenty-five. As a combination, Zeb and McMullen run a respectable second to Orr and Gedeon in two-ply killings. Corhan has been more active in that department than Zeb, but Leard and Downs operated on the other side of the bag considerably, and this makes it difficult to get a definite line on the San Francisco combination.

Venice has suffered in the same manner, the club being compelled to get no less than three men at second base. Now that they are playing together regularly and getting better acquainted, Berger and Purtell figure to make a good account of themselves from now on.

JONES LEADS.

Jones of the Seals has figured in more doubles than any other third baseman—thirteen all told. Tommy Tennant has been more active than any of the other first-sackers. Tommy has started three doubles and participated in thirty-seven others, for a total of forty. Bill Abstein, the first-sacker of the Angels, and Nunn of the Oaklets are tied for second. Each of them has had a hand in thirty-eight double plays.

Harry Wolter of the Angels has figured the fuse under more doubles than any other outfielder. On four occasions has Wolter started plays that resulted in the retirement of two men. Zacher of Salt Lake and Middleton of Oakland rank second with three each. Opportunities for starting double plays in the outfield are by no means plentiful. A majority of them are the result of attempted sacrifices to score a man from third on difficult drives which the runner thinks will not be caught.

The following figures show the double plays started or participated in by Coast League athletes:

MENTION KUHN AS MANAGER.

Providing Tyler Christian is deposed, Red Kuhn may land the management of the Oakland team.

This is the opinion formed by several of the Venice players while in Oakland last week.

Denial that Christian has been discharged is reiterated by the Oakland officials, and they should know whereof they speak. However, his release would occasion no great surprise. In that event, it is rumored, Kuhn may land the job.

AUTO WAR IS NOW DECLARED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ORANGE, June 3.—Orange automobile salesmen are getting ready a club with which to bat back at Santa Ana automobile salesmen. Harry Des Granges, the local Dodge agent, went over to Santa Ana this week and was demonstrating his car to a Santa Anan when up stepped a policeman and told him that he would have to pay a license.

Des Granges was shown that any auto salesmen without a fixed place of business in Santa Ana must pay $5 a day or $50 a quarter in advance, else refrain from trying to sell a machine inside the Santa Ana city limits.

Mr. Des Granges returned here, and on his suggestion the City Trustees immediately started the procedure to pass a law here like the one at Santa Ana.

One Hit Off Henley.

the suspicion of a hit for five innings. Despairing of ever being able to spear the Chief by means of the open and above board base hit, Doc White changed his plan of campaign in the sixth and instructed his men to sneak up to the plate and ambush the aborigine by means of the insidious bunt. The bunt hit is to baseball what the Maxim silencer is to highwaymen and the asphyxiation bomb to warfare—quiet but deadly.

The scheme worked fine. Carlisle dumped the ball in front of the pan, beat it to first, gained third on a couple of outs and chased home when Bayless drove to Gedeon, who made a low throw to Tennant on a most difficult chance. This settled Salt Lake's hash. Purtell followed with another successful bunt in the same inning, and Mitze singled in the seventh for the only clean hit off Laroy, but these things did not change the course of human events in the least. No Indian need be ashamed of a game like that. Holding the other side to three hits, two of them runt blows, indicates a high-grade of elbow juice. In fact, it was very little inferior to Cack's elbow juice.

THE DOPE.

Henley fanned four and walked two; Laroy's record was five fanned and four passed. Laroy made a wild pitch. His friends refer to this with pride, claiming that it proves he was stronger than Cack at that stage of the proceedings. They point out that it takes a strong man to throw the ball clear by the catcher.

Yesterday's great exhibition tends to knock the bung hole out of Doc Osler's pet theory. Both Cack and the Chief are what is known in polite society as vets. When the Indian came to Salt Lake from Indianapolis last spring many figured that his only chance to stick was to get a job standing in front of Blankenship's cigar store, thereby depriving the wooden Indian who has been standing there so long of a livelihood. But the Chief foiled his critics, and is pitching such good ball that the wooden Indian seems sure of his cigar store job for a couple of years yet.

ANCIENT.

Henley himself cannot by any stretch of the imagination be regarded as a chicken. He came over in the Mayflower, and when he disembarked at Plymouth Rock Chief Laroy was the first to greet him.

"Hello, Cack," said the Chief, emerging from his wigwam. "Welcome to our young and growing country."

Cack then asked the way to San Francisco, explaining that Hank Harris, being in need of a pitcher, had sent for him. Cack has been very successful as a pitcher ever since. No moss has been allowed to grow on his good right arm, and he seems to be as free from cobwebs as the day that he started. Cack is a splendid example of right living and plenty of exercise. Nothing strengthens the muscles of the back and prolongs life like hiking up a forty-foot ladder with a load of brick. All our boys and girls who aspire to become bricklayers would do well to pattern after Cack.

GREAT STUFF.

There was some dinged fine fielding by Berger and Bayless, but the game itself, didn't amount to much outside of the pitching. Too much high-class pitching tends to dull the batting eye and remove the stuffing from the percentages. As a result of Cack's great work there is talk of taking up a collection among the fans to buy him a brand new hod with a suitable inscription engraved on the handle.

The "Sari" bunch, including Miss Mizzi Hajos, and chaperoned by Will Wyatt of the Mason were out to see the great battle. There were any number of swell dames in the party, and this tended to key up the athletes and make them extend themselves to the limit.

VERY CLOSE.

Cack really came within six inches of gaining no-hit fame. Six inches isn't much, but it was enough to rob him of that distinction. This is how it happened. Zacher, the first man up in the second, grounded to Purtell. Tennant, the second man up, smashed the pill on a line over third. The pill did not land more than six inches inside the foul line, but that was sufficient to make it a perfectly good double. Barbour flied to Bayless. Cack then sized up Dad Meek, who was catching his first game for the Bees. Cack, after thinking it over, adopted a "safety first" policy, and walked Dad. This proved to be good politics, as Laroy popped to Purtell, who caught the ball. Back in the first inning, Cack had unintentionally walked Gedeon with two out. Ryan flied to Carlisle, leaving Joe stuck on first.

Gedeon was two of the four Bees to reach first. After two had been retired in the sixth, Joe drove to Berger. The latter Joe's throw to first was a bit low. Risberg scooped it, held the ball momentarily and then dropped it. This spared the Salt Lake Joe, but he might as well have been out, for the dangerous Ryan grounded to Purtell.

WOBBLY.

Laroy wobbled slightly for the first time in the third. He passed Mitze with one out, and then made a wild pitch. Cack fanned. Laroy then walked Carlisle on purpose. Berger was out on a line fly to Shinn. The Chief spilled another pass to Kane, first man up in the fourth. Bayless, Purtell and Hetling were retired in rotation.

Things continued in this unproductive state until the sixth, when Doc after carefully diagnosing the case, held a clinic and instructed the Tigers to bunt. Carlisle opened the subtle attack by dumping the ball about ten feet in front of the plate. Meek didn't move. Chasing bunts isn't Dad's forte. Laroy, noting this, hurried up to the ball, but he did not throw it as Carlisle had already arrived at first. Berger sacrificed. This advanced Carlisle to second, and he took third while Kane was being retired on a brilliant assist by Orr. Bayless bounced a high one toward right. Gedeon glided over, jumped up and halted the pill and threw it to Tennant. The heave was low. Tommy got down on his knees, but could not pick the ball up in time to do any good. Carlisle was across the plate with the only run of the combat, and Bayless was safely ensconsed at first.

BAD ONE.

The error was a pardonable one, as Gedeon had to hustle like the deuce. Purtell bunted so perfectly that Barbour, charging in and scooping the pill with one hand, did not risk a throw. Hetling walked, filling the bases. With the stage set for a fat killing, Risberg smashed a hard fly into Zacher's hands.

Mitze opened the seventh with the only clean Tiger hit—a single to left. Henly sacrificed. Carlisle fanned and Berger registered the third out with a grounder to Gedeon.

Blankenship let Gregory bat for Laroy in the eighth, but he could do nothing. Johnny Williams then pitched the last inning, and the Tigers could do nothing with him.

PRINCE ALBERT

AT THE STAGE DOOR

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Myrtle Vail, the vivacious little lady who is making such a hit in George Damerel's act at the Orpheum this week, never took a dancing or singing lesson in her life.

However, she's a very close observer, and says she cannot remember when she didn't dance. Her present solo feature is a modified hula, diversified with steps taken from the Philippine Moro and head-hunters' dances.

"My voice is a joke," she says. "In fact, I can sing just enough to be funny."

In Royalty Class.

George Damerel and Miss Vail are to have a new vaudeville act next season in which Miss Vail will play the part of a princess in a fabled South American kingdom. The piece is to be a spectacular one in three scenes.

The Modest Bloomer.

"I'm glad nobody has made a fuss about the stockingless condition of my legs in my dances," said Miss Vail. "Canada is the only place where I have been criticised. In Winnipeg the censors came three times and got a good look, and then demanded that I wear bloomers. I got the funniest looking big yellow ones I could find and won some laughs, anyhow."

Swims, Too.

Yes, she wears a very pretty bathing suit of the vintage of 1915. It's one of the sort that begins late and ends early.

Marjie Likes Willie.

Marjorie Rambeau is enthusiastic over her role in "Master Willie Hewes."

"It gives me perhaps the best opportunity of my career," she said yesterday. "There are tragedy, comedy, dancing, singing, everything, in it."

Poor Dick.

Regarding "Mary Ann," Miss Rambeau relates that when she was playing that part in Alaska, the company contained no juvenile leading man sufficiently good to play "Lancelot."

"So I used to have dear old Dick Thorn, a Shakespearean actor, come into my dressing-room, and I'd dye his gray hair, and manicure him, and put putty in his wrinkles and paint him up so that he'd look young enough for Lancelot."

Walter's Corsets.

There were, of course, no actresses in Shakespeare's time, all female roles being played by men. Walter Catlett is to play the part of Will Kemp in "Master Willie Hewes." Will Kemp being the greatest actor of feminine roles of Shakespeare's time. In the play Catlett will appear as the Duchess of Gloucester in an act of "Richard II."

Mr. Catlett sighs mournfully as he recolects "Charlie's Aunt's" corsets.

"And the corsets of Shakespeare's time were ever so much worse," he moans.

Not Up-Stage.

Louis Bennison is to play the part of Richard Burbage, the great actor of Shakespearean days.

We inquired of Mr. Bennison as to whether it was a difficult role, and he innocently answered no.

Real Stuff.

Frank Kemble Cooper, the noted English actor, will supervise the staging of "Master Willie Hewes."

The first scene shows the actors' dressing-rooms in the Globe Theater; also a section of the stage where "Richard II" is being played, and a portion of the audience.

"It is rather a difficult and unwieldy scene unless properly handled," said Mr. Cooper, "since two sets of action, really three, including the stage and audience, are all working at once."

The second act represents Shakespeare's house after he grew rich. Manager Oliver Morosco is having special furniture made in exact replica of that with which Shakespeare's house was furnished, according to old cuts and plates in Mr. Cooper's possession.

"Potry."

Ida St. Leon, who will play Rebecca in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," says she also wrote poetry when small, but had an awful time making the metrical feet "track." Here's a sample:

"O build me a tomb under the hill,
Where I can lie beside the running rill,
And the birds will sing,
And the bells will ring,
And measles me can no more kill."

Does Awful Sums.

Donald Bowles, Burbank stage director, says he's good at mathematics, but it's an awful job to make twenty supers play fifty parts. That's his problem. And we bet on Mr. Bowles.

Off to the Sahara.

Pauline Frederick is to act in a film version of "Bella Donna" for the Famous Players. Some of the scenes will be taken in Egypt.

Studies in characterization.

PORTLAND WINS BASEBALL GAME.

BEAVERS DEFEAT OAKLAND FIRST TIME.

Home Run in the First Inning is Responsible for the Final Result. Portland has Lost Seven Games to Oakland—Wins First One Yesterday Afternoon.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 3.—Hillyard's home run in the first inning of today's game, with two on, settled the result as far as Portland was concerned, although the final score stood 5 to 1 in its favor. # LAST GOLF TOURNEY OF WINTER COMES SATURDAY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE supplementary event to the California championship, 18 holes medal play, will take place on the Virginia Country Club links tomorrow.

This will be the last association event of the season and winds up the long winter programme. After that each of the clubs will doubtless institute some summer tournaments of their own, for golf is an all-the-year-round game in California, and, tell it not in Gath, the majority of our players find themselves a shade more expert as the courses dry up, for then our topped balls are not penalized, but as a perfectly good drive. And good scores become comfortably usual.

The Tom Morris memorial competition for the teams is the next big item of interest, especially to the Los Angeles Country Club, which has held the coveted trophy twice already and stands to win it for keeps this year. If the conditions are at all favorable, not too much wind, and with Armstrong to lend his skill to the team, the chances are highly encouraging. Midwick will not have a team in the field this year, but all the other clubs will compete.

The challenge match between San Gabriel and the Griffith Park golf team will come off soon, probably next Saturday, the 12th—and those Griffith Park golfers can put a very creditable team in the field as last week's tournament proved.

PITCHING DUEL ON PROGRAMME.

SOUTH PASADENA AND NORWALK TO DO BATTLE FOR THE TITLE.

Tomorrow afternoon Norwalk and South Pasadena High School baseball teams will meet in a mighty struggle to find out who gets into the finals for the interscholastic championship of this end of the State.

To date both teams are undefeated and both have set up records which are really remarkable, largely due to the phenomenal success of their pitchers. Both Cravens for South Pasadena and Moffatt of Norwalk have been mowing down their opponents with little trouble all season, and the battle on the Alhambra diamond promises to be a great one.
